Tantur Hospital and the 2 Heller ‘Jerusalempilgermarke’

by Comm. Edgar Karl Haberer, AIJP¹

Copyright © 2015

For many years a postcard, dated 9th July 1916 with the imprinted description “Malterserhospiz Tantur (Barmherzige Brüder)” meaning Maltese Hospital Tantur (Brothers of Mercy), rested almost forgotten in my rich collection of SMOM items.

SMOM stands for Sovereign Military Order of Malta (in Italian: Sovrane Militare Ordine di Malta) or more fully Sovereign Military Hospitaller Order of Saint John of Jerusalem of Rhodes and of Malta, which was founded in 1048 as an order of chivalry by Gerard Thom in Jerusalem.

Last year I discovered a small number of “Jerusalempilgermarken” (Jerusalem pilgrims’ stamps) on eBay Serbia, depicting the Tantur hospital, inscribed “Spital Tantur, Bethlehem.” The stamp shows a value of “2h” (2 heller), indicating its origin from the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

The Order of Malta’s Tantur Hospital (see fig. 1) existed from 1876 until 1939. In 1967 most of the Order’s properties in the Holy Land were sold to the Vatican. Only a small portion was ceded to the Fondation Pro Tantour formed by the Swiss association of the Order. In 1982 a retirement home, the Memorial Residence Home, was built there, as first part of a long-term project to provide for the local population.

The 2 Heller “JerusalemPilgermarke”

Such donation vignettes were probably issued by one of the Holy Land pilgrims’ societies, of which there are quite a number, smaller and larger ones, in Austria. Even in Germany there were such associations and in both countries there are still successor organisations today.²

The origin of the “JerusalemPilgermarke” depicting “Spital Tantur, Bethlehem” (the Tantur hospital in Bethlehem) is confirmed by its currency designation: the “h” stands for Heller, the currency of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.³

Despite many efforts of mine, no details about the origin of the vignette could be unearthed, so far. A request on my part to the Austrian Hospital in Jerusalem has remained unanswered. Even Dr. Gerhard Feucht from the Order’s Austrian Grand Priory in Vienna could so far not find any evidence of the vignettes in the archives of the Grand Priory. Dr. Feuchts’s enquiries with the Order of the Holy Sepulchre, the Austrian Society for the Holy Land, the General Commissariat of the Holy Land in Vienna (Franciscans) and the Archdiocese of Vienna brought no light into the darkness. Furthermore, Dr. Feucht wrote in his letter to me of 16th September 2014 that “The stamp aroused amazement everywhere. That there has been such a thing!”

3 Between 1892 and 1923: 1 Krone or Korona = 100 Heller or Fillér

I could only acquire five stamps from the Serbian seller; all with the same design, but different colour: one even exhibits metallic gold gloss and is 1 mm longer in size.

Fig. 5: The set of five differently coloured stamps depicting Tantar Hospital.

These donation vignettes have probably nothing directly to do with the Order of Malta's Tantar Hospital, but are part of a series with various designs, appealing to pilgrims to Jerusalem. So far I have found the following additional motifs:

- Pilgrims' ship in Trieste
- Royal Tombs
- St. Johann Heimsuchungskapelle (Church of the Visitation)
- Church of the Pater Noster (Mount of Olives)
- Hirtenfeld, Bethlehem (Shepherds' Field)

- II. Station (Way of the Cross, 2nd Station)
- X. und XI. Station (Way of the Cross, 10th & 11th Station)
- Girl at the Carmel
- Beduine (Bedouin)
- Geisselungs Kapelle Jerusalem (Church of the Flagellation)
- Omar-Moschee, Detail (Omar Mosque)
- Damascus-Tor, Jerusalem (Damascus Gate)

and one stamp with no explanation, probably a bell tower.

I have seen a stamp depicting Way of the Cross, 10th & 11th Station on the back of a newspaper wrapper (as used by the German Post in Turkey 1908–1914) imprinted with a Germania stamp, overprinted 5 Centimes; postmark: Deutsche Post Jerusalem, 18.2.10[?]. This vignette was cancelled by a blue line. Sender is Syrisches Waisenhaus (Syrian Orphanage) in Jerusalem.

Tracing the remnants of the dissolved Maltese hospital on Tantar Hill in Bethlehem A brief overview of the history of Tantar¹⁰

Tantar (or Tantar) Hill is located about 5 km south of Jerusalem and 2 km north of Bethlehem, around 800 meters above sea level. It's directly on the Hebron Road, the main road between the two cities. Today, Tantar lies in the State of Palestine's Bethlehem Governorate, but the territory is claimed by Israel as part of the Municipality of Jerusalem.

In 1857, the Order of Malta, then under Governor Fra' Philipp Colloredo,¹¹ sent an exploratory mission to the Holy Land, led by Knight von Schroeter. Support for the mission was secured by Austria-Hungary and the Holy See, but no practical steps followed, until the Order's Knight Bernhard Count Caboga-Cerva¹² was appointed Austrian consul in Jerusalem.

Fig. 14: The founder of Tantar, Bernhard Count Caboga-Cerva, as Knight of the Justice of the Order.

With Austrian and German funds, Caboga bought a large plot on Tantar Hill for 32,216 Piastres in 1869. Lands there had been in the possession of the Order in 1110 for the first time. Caboga built a small cell for his own use in the middle of the hill. After Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria had visited Jerusalem, he granted a large personal donation and promoted Caboga's project, having been impressed by the work and the personality of the consul general. In 1872 Caboga was appointed preceptor of Tantar.

The sponsorship and protection of the Austrian Emperor solved the project's financial problems, but the question of legal protection remained. As the Order was not recognised by the Ottoman state, Tantur remained the personal property of Caboga. In 1876 the Austrian foreign minister, Count Andr ssy,¹³ personally intervened with the Sultan, and a tenure in the name of the Order was granted. In the same year, Tantur opened as a working hospital. Caboga died on 2nd January 1882 in Jerusalem and was laid to rest in the crypt of Tantur's church.

In 1909 a wing was added and Tantur became very busy during World War I. After that, with the loss of financial support mainly from the Bohemian section of the Order, its fortunes started to decline. In the following years the buildings were seized by several sides and used as a military hospital or barracks. The land was restored to the Order in 1957. Eventually taken over by the neighbouring Order of Salesians, the buildings became derelict. Several attempts to use the buildings as a hospital or hospice for pilgrims failed. The foundation "Pro Tantour" was set up in 1964 to revive the estate.

On 5th January 1964, Paul VI, the 262nd Pope (1963–1978) met Athenagoras I, the 268th Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople (1948–1972) at the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem.¹⁴ The leaders of the Eastern and the Western Church had last met in 1439. It was the first pilgrimage ever by a Pope to the Holy Land. In September 1964 the Pope received a delegation of the International Federation of Catholic Universities when the idea of establishing an ecumenical institute in Jerusalem was discussed. Due to lack of funds, the project was transferred to the Ecumenical Institute at the University of Notre Dame, Indiana, USA.

The search for a suitable site in or near Jerusalem led to the estate of Tantur. Upon pressure from the Holy See, the Order of Malta sold the largest part of its possessions on Tantur Hill. Proceeds from the sale were invested by the Order to complete its hospital in Teheran. The Vatican has remained owner of the land since, but leased the grounds to the Ecumenical Institute for the nominal amount of one Dollar per year. Works could only proceed after the 1967 war and the Tantur Institute for Ecumenical Studies was inaugurated on 24th September 1972. Bethlehem was now occupied by Israel. All original buildings were demolished, only the gatehouse with its mighty tower remained. Today Caboga's tomb rests here in a small chapel.

¹⁴ The numbering of Popes and Patriarchs is controversial and differing systems exist. (editor)

Only a small plot on the grounds remains with the Order of Malta: a 90-strong grove of olive trees provides oil for the Order's lamp at the Holy Sepulchre.

In 1982 the Memorial Residence Home, a retirement home, was built there, as a first part of a long-term project to provide for the local population. Plans exist for a nursing home for the Christian population with 90 places for the elderly and disabled.

The Mystery of the ‘Habbaniya Provisionals’

by Rainer Fuchs (FRPSL, AIJP)¹

Copyright © 2016

From time to time you are surprised by things of which you have never heard of before, despite collecting an area for a long time. For me that was the case with the so-called ‘Habbaniya Provisionals,’ which I present here.

To understand the history and background of these stamps I have to explain the quite complex circumstances surrounding Habbaniya. I’ll make it as concise as possible, but as elaborate as necessary. Nevertheless, the story is very interesting in any case, even for collectors who are not interested in the stamps and postal history of the Middle East.

The History of the Habbaniya Base

In Habbaniya, a small city in Iraq, situated around 90 km west of Baghdad on the banks of the eponymous lake, a Royal Air Force base was inaugurated on 19th October 1936 by the British Armed forces. The base had initially been named R.A.F. Dhibban, but was renamed on 1st May 1938 R.A.F. Habbaniya. There are covers in either name, but in fact both designations refer to the same military establishment.

Fig. 1: Map of Habbaniya and surroundings.²

R.A.F. Habbaniya was very extensive in size and equipped with a hospital, several staff quarters, dining-halls, swimming pools, cinemas, a theatre, tennis courts and riding stables, even a sailing club was available to staff. Because the base had its own power-plant as well as a water and sewage treatment plant, it was in these aspects totally independent from any outside supply.

Situated inside the base were the quarters for the civil staff and their families, referred to as “civil cantonment.” Water taken from the river Euphrates enabled the irrigation of lawns, flowerbeds and even a botanical garden. After the end of World War II the families of the British personnel lived at the base and a school was opened.⁴ The base itself, without considering the airport, was surrounded by a fence with a length of 11 km,⁵ which gives an impression on the dimensions of the establishment. It was basically a self-contained small city, clearly demonstrated by the plans shown further below (see figs. 22–23 on page 17).

The airport itself was located outside the fenced base. It was very well equipped and in later years an important transit point for flights carried out by (amongst others) British Overseas Airways Corporation (BOAC). The base remained in operation until 31st May 1959 and was given up by the British following the July 1958 revolution in Iraq. The base was taken over by the Iraqi Air Force and, until recently, was operated as an important air base under the name al-Taqaddum.⁶

The Historical Background⁷

After the end of World War I, the Iraqi Kingdom was granted to Great Britain as a Mandated Area by the League of Nations. The Mandate terminated in 1932 and relations between both countries were settled by the 1930 Anglo-Iraqi Treaty.⁸ The British occupation between 1917 and 1932 maintained British paramountcy and installed an Arab king: Faisal I. This had the effect that Iraqi nationalists opposed the king and the Anglophile policies of the government. This led to several attempted coups between 1936 and 1941. Within the Iraqi military, resistance coalesced in the groupings “Circle of Seven” and “Golden Square.”

In the political arena, Anti-British forces were led by the former Prime Minister of Iraq, Rashid Ali al-Gaylani.⁹ Because of his political views, he had to step down several times from his political functions. In order to bolster support for their Anti-British ideas these forces cooperated with the German embassy. Iraq broke off diplomatic relations with Germany in 1939 after the outbreak of World War II, but had not severed its ties with Italy, which had entered the war against Great Britain in 1940. The British exercised a lot of pressure towards the Iraqi Government in order to ensure that diplomatic relations between Iraq and Italy were broken.

On 1st April 1941 a military coup by Arab-nationalist officers of the “Golden Square” group and politicians close to al-Gaylani took place with the goal to topple the Iraqi government and to end British influence. Prince ‘Abd al-Ilah,¹⁰ who reigned for the still minor King Faisal II,¹¹ the so-called boy-king, was charged with violation of the constitution and harming national unity.

The rebels established a Government of National Defence and al-Gaylani called for the removal of the escaped prince and his replacement by Sharif Sharaf.¹² After Sharaf had been elected as new Regent, he named al-Gaylani as new Prime Minister and ordered him to create a new government.

The British side was very concerned about the changed situation in Iraq from the beginning due to the country’s strategic importance. To test the new government’s position and commitment towards the Anglo-Iraqi alliance, the British government asked for permission to land troops at Basra under the pretext that these would be transferred to Palestine. On the basis of bilateral treaties, al-Gaylani would not be in a position to simply reject this request. Under pressure from the officers of the “Golden Square,” he issued pre-requisites for the landing of the troops, like their immediate transfer to Palestine. The actual goal of the British, however, was a permanent military presence in Basra for which further troops had already been designated. The first troops landed on 18th April 1941 without any problems, but the British also alarmed their airbase in Habbaniya, against which the Iraqi government immediately raised protest. In reaction, Iraq moved substantial troops and from on 30th April occupied the hills around Habbaniya.

Fig. 3: Censored cover from Habbaniya to South Africa, 29.04.1941, the day before the siege of Habbaniya started. On reverse transit postmarks Baghdad and Basra, each dated 18.07.1941. It appears that the cover was stuck due to the siege for about 50 days at the Iraqi Post Office at Habbaniya. Only after the siege and the re-start of the Iraqi postal service it was transported to Baghdad for onward transport.

Iraq demanded that the British stop their flights and troop movements, and in response the British demanded the withdrawal of the Iraqi troops. As this was not adhered to, the British Ambassador in Iraq, Kinahan Cornwallis, ordered attacks against the Iraqi troops and airports, starting on 2nd May. The Iraqi troops were taken by surprise and suffered severe losses of troops and material. In parallel, British troops based in Trans-Jordan had been alarmed and prepared for an invasion of Iraq.

To support anti-British forces in Iraq, the German government upon instigation by diplomat Fritz Grobba¹³ decided to supply weapons and military support. Due to the long distance, the latter could only be accomplished by fighter airplanes for which the Luftwaffe created the special unit “Sonderstab F.” In coordination with France,¹⁴ 20 German and 12 Italian fighter planes were moved via Syria to Iraq on 6th May 1941. Large number of weapons and material from Syrian holdings were transported overland into Iraq. But due to the preparation for Unternehmen Barbarossa,¹⁵ Germany was not very keen to be engaged unprepared in a larger open conflict with the British.

15 “Operation Barbarossa” in English, the German Army code name for the attack on Russia on 22.06.1941.

Despite Iraqi troops outnumbering the British, they were quickly overrun with the help of troop enforcements from Trans-Jordan. Within a few days, the British took Fallujah and reached Baghdad. The limited means of weapons and aid provided by the Axis powers could not challenge the air superiority of the British. The attack on Baghdad started on 27th May 1941 and within four days, the Iraqi government capitulated. Although 'Abd al-Ilah (nominally as the regent) and a pro-British government were restored, the British effectively occupied Iraq until 1947.

The Habbaniya Provisionals

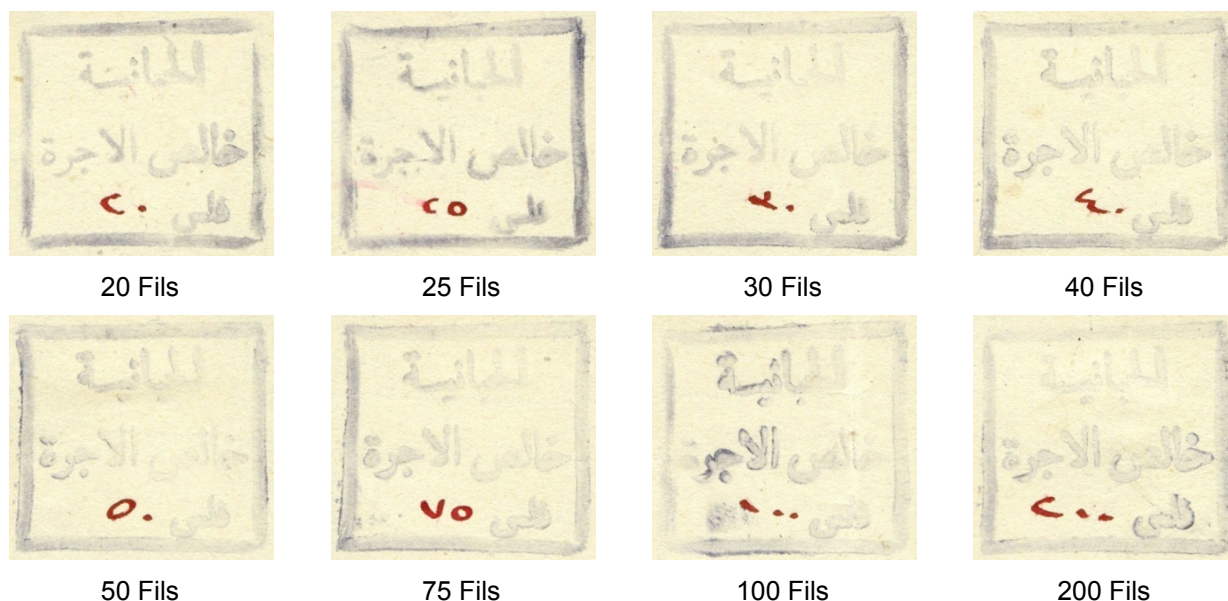

Communication and transport of mail to and from Habbaniya was carried out by aircraft. It is assumed that the stock of Iraqi stamps required for correspondence at the besieged air base was soon exhausted and the Postmaster prepared the 'Habbaniya Provisionals,' as they are now known. Production appears to have been by means of a single hand-stamp which was struck on covers on which the value of postage (denomination) was entered by the postal clerk in red ink.

Figs. 4–5: The inscriptions of the hand-stamp.

The author knows of 16 different denominations which are here shown in an English language publication for the first time. The denominations follow the values of the Iraqi definitive stamp series issued in April 1941 (MiNr. 97–118, SG 208–227). Only the high values of ½ Dinar and 1 Dinar (MiNr. 117–118, SG 228–229), for which there was hardly any postal use, are missing.

Figs. 6–21: The 16 known values as cut-outs.¹⁶

It appears that only one hand-stamp had been prepared; at least no obvious or striking differences are recognisable from examples seen. The varying breadths of the border-line and letters are certainly caused by differences in the way the hand-stamp, evidently made of rubber, has been struck.

The Two Post Offices at RAF Habbaniya

Importantly the base had two post offices which served different purposes and also used different stamps. Unfortunately, the few available maps of the base (see figs. 22–23) are not of best quality, nevertheless the details of these maps are going beyond the scope of this article. Several persons who had lived at the base at that time confirmed the existence and locations of both post offices:

- British RAF Post Office under the responsibility of the Royal Air Force, using British stamps.
- Postal address: M.E.A.F. 19, which later became B.F.P.O. 61.¹⁷
- Iraqi Post Office, using ordinary Iraqi stamps for correspondence of non-military personnel.

Questions and Doubts

Why do the hand-stamp imprints only show Arabic text? In case they had been created and issued by the RAF Post Office, one could assume that they would have been at least bilingual English/Arabic, if not even English only. Especially since for military mail British stamps had been used. It is hard to imagine that a British Military Post Office would replace British stamps by such Arabic Provisionals.

Were these issues prepared by the Iraqi Post Office located at the base, of which the Postmaster sympathised with the rebels?

Are these only fantasy issues, i.e. cinderellas? Against the cinderella theory goes the fact that almost nothing is known about them. The creator of such fabrications usually produces large quantities and markets these extensively, as his only reason is profit-making.

I am not aware of any covers or fragments of covers, neither commercial nor philatelic, with these essentially 'postage paid' hand-stamps. If any reader here has any images of covers or other postal material with these hand-stamps, or images of additional denominations or just any additional information on their use, the author would be most thankful to receive this.

Acknowledgements

The author is grateful to Dr. Christopher D. E. Morris, honorary secretary, webmaster, archivist, and editor of RAF Habbaniya Association, for much information received about the Habbaniya base. Dr. Morris lived on the base as a child with his parents: his father was the head of the civil cantonment.

The Registration Envelopes of Jordan

by Avo Kaplanian¹

Copyright © 2015

In contrast to the large number of registration envelopes which have been issued under the British Mandate for Palestine, (Trans-) Jordan only knows a handful.² The first weren't issued until during the Thirties. These envelopes are not listed or mentioned in any catalogue or handbook. What I describe here is therefore the envelopes as far as they are known to me. All of these registration envelopes are without imprinted stamps, thus without denomination or value.

Three small, two medium and two large envelopes were printed for use by the public; a further two large envelopes intended for official use only by the various ministries and government agencies also exist.

The Small Envelopes

The small-sized envelopes are 15.6 cm long and 9.5 cm high, with a tolerance of ± 2 to 3 mm in both directions. All envelopes are overprinted with both Arabic and English text and have a blue cross on the front and back side. The three small-sized envelopes can be distinguished as follows:

- Small 1: Larger Arabic text; longest Arabic text line is 7.5 cm; longest English text line is 6.0 cm; the backside flap is triangular (see figs. 1 and 11³ for used copies of this type).
- Small 2: Smaller Arabic text; longest Arabic text line is 4.6 cm; longest English text line is 5.7 cm; the backside flap has rounded corners (see fig. 2).
- Small 3: Smaller Arabic text; longest Arabic text line is 5.0 cm; longest English text line is 5.9 cm; the backside flap has rounded corners (see fig. 3).

The Medium Envelopes

The medium-sized envelopes are 20.5 cm long and 12.5 cm high, also with a tolerance of ± 2 to 3 mm in both directions. Here I distinguish two types:

- Medium 1: In terms of text and font this envelope is similar to 'Small 1; longest Arabic text line is 10.5 cm; longest English text line is 6.0 cm; backside flap is triangular; there's a comma after the word "it" in the fourth English line (see fig. 5).
- Medium 2: In terms of text and font this can be compared with the envelope 'Small 2; longest Arabic text line is 7.7 cm; longest English text line is 5.8 cm; backside flap has rounded corners; dot instead of a comma after the word "it" in the fourth English line (see fig. 6).

2 Arthur M. Hochheiser describes in his book Postal Stationery of the Palestine Mandate of 1984 a total of 34 different types, all issued between 1921 and 1947.

The Large Envelopes

Until 2006 I had never seen these two large envelopes before, even though I've been collecting postage stamps and postal documents of this area for many years. I had found a new, larger envelope on eBay and won the auction. A friend of mine in London sent me a copy of yet another larger envelope, bearing a different font.

These larger envelopes are 29 cm long and 15.2 cm wide with a tolerance of ± 2 to 3 mm in both directions.

- Large 1: In terms of text and font is this is equal to the first small and medium sized envelopes listed as “Small 1” and “Medium 1” (see fig. 7).
- Large 2: This has the same font and text as envelopes “Small 2” and “Medium 2.” Like the smaller sizes, these big registration envelopes are also without any imprinted stamps (see fig. 8).

The Official Use Large Envelopes

In addition to these five envelopes which were intended to be used by the public, we know of two large envelopes which were intended only for official use by the various ministries and government agencies.

The text of both is almost the same but the blue crosses on the front and back are much broader (1.3 cm). The flaps of the two envelopes are rectangular and are located at the left of the front side. They are provided with three small holes for the possible use of a fastener.

In Fig. 9 we see the front of the smaller of these two large-sized envelopes (shown here in reduced size). This is 28 cm long and 20.3 cm high. The second envelope is 38 cm long and 23 cm high and has on both horizontal sides a 4 cm wide fan-folder (fig. 10).

Further Research

As mentioned, I describe here the envelopes that are known to me. They are not listed in any catalogue or manual. This is a first systematic attempt to classify them. Should any of our readers have other types in his or her possession, please report it directly to me or to the editor.

The 1999 Christmas Block of the Palestinian National Authority

by Tobias Zywietz

Copyright © 2015

Palestine issues Christmas stamps fairly regular since 1995, as was the case in 1999. Particularly emphasised were the official celebrations “Bethlehem 2000” with a whole number of stamp series during 1998 to 2000. The actual Christmas stamps for 1999 (Zobbel 126–136 = MICHEL MiNr. 126–136) present a number of peculiarities. In this article I am going to concentrate solely on the block (miniature sheet) of that issue, which contains one stamp: Zobbel 136 (MiNr. 136).

While the other stamps of this series were printed in the usual sheets-of-ten (5×2), the highest value of 2,000 Fils (about 2.40 €) was issued exclusively as a block-of-four within a sheetlet sized 113¼ × 142 mm. The stamps themselves measure 36¼ × 51mm and are perforated Ks 13¼. All stamps have gold foil embossed nimbuses and other ornaments and were printed at Cartor Security Printing in La Loupe, France.

In the booklet that was issued in parallel (Zobbel MH 001 and 001b, MiNr. MH 1) the designer is named as M.J. Gelamur. He chose the nativity scene as motif: a detail from the fresco “Natività di Gesù” (1303–1305) by Italian Renaissance artist Giotto di Bondone (1266–1337).¹ The fresco, sized 185 × 200 cm, is located in the Cappella degli Scrovegni (Scrovegni Chapel)² in Padua.

Giotto at the Scrovegni Chapel³

Around 1305 Giotto executed his most influential work, the painted decoration of the interior of the Scrovegni Chapel in Padua. Enrico degli Scrovegni commissioned the chapel to serve as a family worship and burial space, even though his parish church was nearby; its construction caused some consternation among the clerics at the Eremitani church next door. This chapel is externally a very plain building of pink brick which was constructed next to an older palace that Scrovegni was restoring for himself. The palace, now gone, and the chapel were on the site of a Roman arena, for which reason it is commonly known as the Arena Chapel.

It has also been speculated that Enrico commissioned the chapel as a penitence for his sin of usury (i.e. charging interest for lending money), which at the time was considered unjust. In fact, Dante himself accused Enrico's father of it and condemned him in his Divine Comedy. The presence of Enrico near the center of The Final Judgement, handing the Arena Chapel to the Three Marys, on the virtuous side of the judgement and not with the other usurers (shown hanging by the strings of their money bags on the opposite side) may also be seen as proof of his repentance.

The theme is Salvation, and there is an emphasis on the Virgin Mary, as the chapel is dedicated to the Annunciation and to the Virgin of Charity. As is common in the decoration of the medieval period in Italy, the west wall is dominated by the Last Judgement. On either side of the chancel are complementary paintings of the Angel Gabriel and the Virgin Mary, depicting the Annunciation. This scene is incorporated into the cycles of The Life of the Blessed Virgin Mary and The Life of Christ.

The source for The Life of the Virgin is the Golden Legend of Jacopo da Voragine while The Life of Christ draws upon the Meditations on the Life of Christ by the Pseudo-Bonaventura. The frescoes are more than mere illustrations of familiar texts, however, and scholars have found numerous sources for Giotto's interpretations of sacred stories.

The cycle is divided into 37 scenes, arranged around the lateral walls in three tiers, starting in the upper register with the story of Joachim and Anna, the parents of the Virgin and continuing with the story of Mary. The life of Jesus occupies two registers. The Last Judgment fills the entire pictorial space of the counter-façade. The top right hand tier deals with the lives of Mary's parents, the left with her early life, and the middle tier with the early life and miracles of Christ. The bottom tier on both sides is concerned with the Passions of Christ. Below the narrative scenes in colour, Giotto also painted the allegories of seven Virtues and their counterparts in monochrome grey. The monochrome frescoes appear as marble statues.

Much of the blue in the fresco has been worn away by time. This is because Enrico degli Scrovegni ordered that, because of the expense of the pigment ultramarine blue used, it should be painted on top of the already dry fresco (secco fresco) to preserve its brilliance.

The special feature of this sheetlet is the numerator (margin counter or sheet counter) sprayed by inkjet printer onto the right-hand side of field position 2. Such use of inkjet printing has been known e.g. in Germany since 1996 from numerators on the back of coil and ATM stamps, but is used elsewhere as well.

Fig. 2: Zobbel 136 Sheetlet.

Fig. 3: Zobbel 136 Sheetlet I.

The five digit counter, made out of small dots runs vertically from top to bottom. As such, all of this is not really anything extraordinary, were it not that on some sheetlets this numerator is missing:

Fig. 4: Detail from the sheetlet with numerator.

Fig. 5: Detail from the sheetlet without numerator.

This variety is relatively rare: in ten years of market observation, I could only find three offers: in January 2013 on Delcampe (5 €), in February 2014 on eBay (5 €) and in July 2014 again at eBay (39.95 €). The latter offer came from the USA, the other two from France: in both those cases the seller probably hadn't recognised the rarity or the variety at all. The average price of the 'normal' sheetlet is about 9,10 €, but bargains are possible from time to time at 3 € or even below.

As no official figures about print-runs for any Palestinian stamps issued before 2008 have ever been published, it would be nice to figure out how many of these sheetlets were actually printed. Nothing easier than that, one might say: simply look for the highest known counter and round appropriately. For about five years I registered not just the price of public offers, but also the counters of each individual sheetlet I came across. The smallest number is 00441 (found on an FDC), the highest is 37555 (found /MNH), but in-between these two extremes, the numbers occurring are actually distributed in a rather irregular fashion:

00001–00999	2	on FDC only
04000–04999	8	only MNH
05000–05999	2	on FDC only
06000–09999	12	only MNH
10000–10999	2	only used
11000–14999	5	only MNH
15000–15500	3	on FDC only
15500–19999	7	only MNH
20000–29999	3	only MNH
30000–39999	10	only MNH

To make any statistically valid statement is difficult given the small number of instances recorded (54), but based on the distribution I suspect that there are not 40,000 but only 30,000 sheetlets:

- not a single copy in-between 19000 and 28000
- numerous copies in-between 29000 and 38000

It seems to me that the counter has simply been raised by 10,000 when it reached 19000. A graphical representation of the number of instances registered per cohort of a thousand demonstrates this visually:

Fig. 6: Number of instances registered per cohort of a thousand.

It's even more difficult to assess the numbers for the other two states of condition:

- sheetlets on FDC: 2,500
- cancelled sheetlets: 1,000

Germany's MICHEL catalogue has not noticed this variant, or if it has, ignores it: there are of course different standards for notability of varieties in a standard overseas catalogue as opposed to MICHEL's specialised catalogues covering Germany. MICHEL's policy on special features and variants of Palestinian stamps was one reason why I had to introduce a separate numbering system on my website.

Fig. 7: FDC with special first day cancel. Numerator on the sheetlet: 00500.

The same motif from Giotto's fresco has been used on other PNA stamps, but with differences to denomination, border and inscription colour, as well as the positioning of inscriptions:⁵

World Cultural Heritage Destroyed Part 2: Assur, Niniveh, Hatra, Bosra

by Dietrich Ecklebe (AIJP)¹

Copyright © 2015

Such or similar headlines appear in almost every newspaper every day for months now. In television reports masked members of “Islamic State” destroy millennia-old works of art with pickaxes and other tools.

The destruction of *UNESCO World Heritage Sites*² is nothing new. During the Yugoslav Wars following that state’s breakup Dubrovnik was bombed. The Taliban blew up the Buddhist sacred site of Bamiyan in Afghanistan. Islamists destroyed precious manuscripts in Timbuktu (Mali) and the Syrian city of Aleppo fell victim to bombardment by Assad’s troops. But the atrocities of “Islamic State” surpass anything seen before.

One can only hope that Palmyra and Bosra are spared.³ For Nineveh and Hatra any help comes too late now. Furthermore “Islamic State” sells antiques on a large scale in order to finance its war. As the artworks from the places described here are not for sale under regular circumstances, one has to conclude that there are very wealthy people who finance “Islamic State” and thus the death of thousands of innocent people just to be able to store ancient art in their own vaults. It’s laudable that UNESCO wants to ensure that such crimes are to be punished as war crimes.

The barbaric terrorist campaign of “Islamic State” is not only directed against the people of the Middle East but wants to wipe out the history and traditions of entire peoples through the destruction of cultural monuments that belong to the great works of mankind. The fanatics of “Islamic State” justify this by “holy war” (jihad) that is called for in the Qur’an.

They simply overlook that Mohammed already admitted other religions and guaranteed their members freedom of belief. Jews and Christians were regarded “people of the book,” like Muslims. All three religions worship the same persons, like Abraham, and Islam considers Jesus a prophet. The first Caliphs, the successors of Mohammed, created the “house of peace” concept with a protective status for non-Muslims, because it was recognised that a coexistence of Muslims with non-Muslims was a necessity.⁴

Today’s Islamists, however, have moved away from these findings and teachings of the Qur’an and of early Islam. They call for jihad so as to find an explanation for their terrorism and to win new followers. The last few decades have brought about several of these islamist movements, “Islamic State,” currently covers Iraq and Syria with a campaign of destruction. All dissenting people are mercilessly persecuted or killed. This surpasses in its brutality all other such movements by far. They stop at nothing, not even the destruction of the Middle East’s cultural heritage.

If you look at an archaeological map of Iraq, you see that there is hardly any area in this country that does not have rich archaeological finds (see fig. 1).

Among these are archaeological sites which date back to the early days of the history of statehood. The Garden of Eden was, according to the Bible, in Iraq. From here, Abraham set out on his journey through the Middle East. Here the world's first cities and states emerged and the first codes of law originate. Did you know that when you use the phrase “an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth” you quote directly from the laws of Babylonian king Hammurabi,⁵ dated to around 1750 B.C.E? And here the first great empires of the earth arose: Akkad, Babylonia, and Assyria.

Fig. 1: The map of Iraq is full of archaeological sites and historical landmarks.

Assur and Nineveh: Centres of the Assyrian Empire

From the 14th to the 11th century B.C.E., the so-called middle-Assyrian age, Assyria began to regain its supremacy over Mesopotamia. The name of the kingdom is derived from its capital Aššur on the upper Tigris. The town has been inhabited since the third millennium B.C.E. The rulers used mainly prisoners of war deported to Assyria as construction workers. Tiglath-Pileser⁶ left some inscriptions that equal today's propaganda of “Islamic State” in some respects:

“He slit open the wombs of pregnant women, pierced the infants; He cut off the heads of the mighty men; In the smoke of their country, the warriors died; [...] To rubble the country sinks that is fighting against Aššur.”

In that age, huge palaces emerged. The walls were covered with beautiful reliefs, often made of alabaster and then attached to the walls. The rulers immortalised primarily themselves in these reliefs and presented their deeds of war.

From the 9th century B.C.E. Assyria began to unify all of Mesopotamia under its rule. Soon the entire Middle East was in the hands of the Assyrians, including Egypt. The power of the Assyrian Empire reached its climax in the period 750–622 B.C.E.

⁵ King Hammurabi reigned 1792–1750 B.C.E.

⁶ King Tukulti-apil-Ešarra or Tiglath-Pileser I reigned 1114–1076 B.C.E.

Kalḫu was built by Ashurnasirpal II⁷ as a new capital. It was excavated in parts of Nimrud.⁸ The usurpator Sargon II⁹ built himself another capital after 1717 B.C.E.: Dur-Sharrukin.¹⁰ His son Sennacherib¹¹ made Nineveh¹² his capital: “a palace without rival.”

Typical for all the palaces in these residences are the alabaster reliefs on the walls. Large-sized depictions of the rulers dominate the scenes. The kings are shown as strong war heroes, as successful hunters, or slaying their enemies. They always wear mighty beards and opulent robes reaching down to the ground. Winged creatures, as depicted, supported the battle of the rulers.

Figs. 2–4: The reliefs are very similar throughout all Assyrian places.

All palaces are heavily fortified. At the entrance gates statues, so-called lamassus, rise: large hybrid creatures with the body of a bull and a human head, similar to the king's. Furthermore, these huge figures also possess wings.

The fighters of “Islamic State” showed the destruction of the treasures of Nineveh in their video messages. Aššur has been a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 2003.¹³

Hatra: The Round Town

Hatra is also situated in northern Iraq, not far from Aššur. However, the city dates back to much more recent times: it reached its peak between the second century B.C.E. and third century C.E. At that time, the Parthians, an Iranian nomadic people, firmly ruled the Near East. At the same time, the Romans attacked the countries on the Mediterranean coast and their hinterlands. This led quite logically to conflicts between the two powers.

During power struggles between two pretenders to the Parthian throne, Crassus¹⁴ seized his chances, but against the army of the Parthians and General Surena's cavalry he suffered a crushing defeat at Carrhae in 53 B.C.E.¹⁵ However, the advances of the Parthian cavalry against Syria were also unsuccessful. They failed due to the solid fortifications of the cities.

These armed conflicts led to the emergence of strong frontier fortresses on both sides. Here the local population met with mercenary troops from many countries. The teachings and religions of Iran were able to mix with those of Rome. So it's not surprising that excavators found Jewish and Christian works side-by-side with monuments of Mithraism and the cults of Marduk Shamash in these border towns.

Fig. 9: Hatra town plan.¹⁶

Of the Parthian cities, Hatra is particularly well preserved. Hatra was the cult city of the Parthians: the city of the sun god Shamash. Aerial views show that the city has a nearly circular outline. The city wall has a diameter of two kilometres and is surrounded by an earthen embankment with a diameter of three kilometres. The city wall had four gates and 160 towers and was able to repeatedly withstand Roman attacks. The towers bore ballistas that could repel all enemies.

One tenth of the total area inside the city wall forms a 473 metre long and 322 metre wide rectangular enclosure, this "court" gave the city its name: in Aramaic hatra means an enclosed space or courtyard, but hatra also stands for Shamash. Thus it was the courtyard of the sun, which was considered a supreme deity. The most important temples rose within this enclosure. A huge hall with an ashlar annex, a so-called iwan-complex, formed the centre. This was surrounded by oriental and ancient temples. Iwans are rectangular halls that are open on the front side. They occur as palaces and temples, as well as in residential construction.

One of the ancient temples is the so-called ‘Hellenistic temple,’ even though that name is actually wrong: this temple is characterised by Roman rather than Greek influences. But it exemplifies that the cultures in Hatra coalesced.

The Parthians themselves were philhellenes: they used Greek as their official language and felt themselves to be successors of Alexander the Great and the diadochi. The temple was consecrated to the god Maran, one god in the triad of Hatra. Maran is the Arabic-Aramaic term for Shamash. The sun was revered by many names, even as the Greek Helios. The cella of the temple stands on a pedestal, which is surrounded by two rows of Corinthian columns.

Figs. 10–11: The so-called “Hellenistic temple” was built around 200 C.E.¹⁷

Just as the architecture of Hatra used elements of both Asian and European styles, this was also the case in sculpture. Numerous well-preserved sculptures were found in the city, mostly originating from the second century C.E. They are very realistic in style and offer a good insight into the fashions of that time. The 2.1 m high statue of Abbu, the daughter of Duspari¹⁸ and wife to King Sanatruq II¹⁹ is particularly striking. Thanks to the precise detail of the person depicted one knows that the statue had to be created shortly after 228 C.E.²⁰ The clothing suggests that it represents a person of high nobility: a high headdress is shrouded in a veil; a clasp on the left shoulder holds the folds of the himation together, the right hand is raised in greeting.

Figs. 12–15: The sculptures show a clearly antique influence.

The statues of the kings do not follow Hellenistic ideal, they clearly show Asian stylistic elements: the kings are dressed in Asian style with caftan and breeches. The curly hair and the beards follow Assyrian and Achaemenid traditions.

The entire art of Hatra is determined by the coexistence of very different cultures. Sassanid king Shapur I²¹ conquered the city in 240 C.E. and destroyed it. Hatra has never been repopulated and consequently remained perfectly preserved. As early as 1985 the city was included in UNESCO's World Heritage List.²² Now, in 2015, it fell victim to the barbarism of "Islamic State."

Bosra: a Theatre as a Fortress

Bosra, today situated on the border of Syria and Jordan, looks back onto a long history. The Nabataeans, who ruled the area before the Romans and had their centre of power in the desert city of Petra, were able to expand their empire to Damascus in the 1st century C.E. They were the unrestricted kings of the caravans and secured their trade routes, especially on the so-called Incense Road. Only by 106 C.E. were the Romans able to triumph over the Nabataeans and integrated Bosra into their province of Arabia. Bosra became provincial capital and garrison of the Third Legion.

This resulted in a swift upsurge of the city's fortunes. Its development was also aided by the rapid expansion of Christianity: in the 3rd century Bosra had already become a bishop's see. Legend has it that it was here that the monk Bahīrā²³ instructed Mohammed in the teachings of Christianity. Mohammed received the order to spread Islam from him. At least that's what Mohammed's biographer Ibn Ishāq tells us.²⁴

After the Romans had conquered the city, they immediately began to renovate and reorganise. They needed housing, because mercenaries were quickly followed by colonists, artisans and officials, and after a few decades, the population had risen to about 80,000.

Fig. 16: The Roman Theatre of Bosra.²⁵

The theatre is amongst the most important facilities of a Roman city: "panem et circenses" meant that all Romans should have "bread and circuses." The theatre of Bosra offered space for 15,000 spectators. It has solid walls and numerous towers with crenels, which it owes to the Arabs, who used the theatre as a fortress. A low-lying orchestra was intended for the choir and even the first tiers are below ground level: this was to improve the structure's statics. Many issues concerning the construction of the theatre have not been solved yet. After the Arabs conquered Bosra in 634 C.E. the theatre was converted into a fortress: only one entrance was retained (all others were blocked) and battlement parapets line the inside. Thus, the city was successfully defended against attacks by the Crusaders.

21 Shapur I (or Šābuhr) reigned 240–270 C.E.

23 Sergius Bahīrā, or Sergius the Monk.

24 Differing versions exist in the biographies by Ibn Hisham, Ibn Sa'd al-Baghdadi, and Muhammad al-Tabari. Cf. also Peter the Venerable's account of 1141: Summa totius haeresis Saracenorum.

Figs. 17–19: The Roman Theatre is the main attraction of Bosra.

From Nabataean times an archway is still preserved. It marks the end of the city's main road: behind the arch it bends and leads to the seat of the Roman governor. Another such arch is at the other end of the road, a typical Roman street lined with colonnades runs between them.

Figs. 20–21: The Nabataean archway (bab al-hawa).

An underground warehouse, 106 metres long, shows that Bosra once must have been a prosperous trading town. Today, there's nothing left of that: few old buildings have been preserved and especially buildings from the Christian period have not been maintained. Bosra was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1980.²⁶

Bernardo Longo: Gli annulli postali libanesi 1918–1945 = The Lebanese Postmarks 1918–1945 = Les cachets postaux libanais 1918–1945.

240 pages, glossy paper, mostly coloured illustrations, A4.

It is a pleasure to observe how a collecting area that has been neglected ever so long is brought to life thanks to some diligent publications. We are talking about Lebanon. Semaan Bassil treated the local French post offices, namely Beirut (2009) and Tripoli (2013/14). His colleague Bernardo Longo [General Manager of auction house Cedarstamps] already published a book on the cancels of all foreign post offices in Lebanon (2010) and now continues the line by publishing a work presenting the datestamps which were used in the territory of today's Lebanon, from 1918 until the end of the Second World War in 1945. Some of them were even used beyond that date.

The remarkable aspect of this endeavour is the fact that the author could not have recourse to any state archives, since these were all destroyed during the so-called Lebanese Civil War from 1975 to 1990. The present volume is the result of thirteen years of empirical research in collaboration with numerous collectors and friends in Lebanon and abroad. All illustrations and data were again and again checked and reviewed amongst the group.

The product resulting from this procedure is much more than a simple comprisal of postmarks. The author begins by giving an outline of the resumption of the postal service after the turmoil following the end of the Ottoman Empire. In this particularly interesting period from 1918 to 1920, the area of today's Lebanon was under two administrations: the French military administration in a broad coastal strip from Tyre to Alexandretta, and the Syrian authority in the Bekaa Valley where the short-lived Arab Kingdom of Syria was born in 1920.

According to their form and the inscriptions, the postmarks are classified in 21 types. This classification is followed by the catalogue proper: all postmarks are shown in original size in the alphabetical order of the post offices, with such details (if known) as first and last dates of use. For postal agencies and rural offices the post office they depended on is indicated. Additionally a price index is provided for strikes according to the periods of use as evidenced by the stamps in circulation. This section is concluded by images of covers showing usage of the postmarks. It is quite striking that a large number of post offices are known to have existed, but so far no evidence can be given in terms of postmarks or covers.

This main part of the volume is supplemented by a gallery of secondary postal markings, respectively labels for disaster mail, express mail, registered and insured items, avis de réception, airmail, overland mail, Orient Express mail and “address unknown”. Once again, all of these aspects are presented with images of appropriate covers. Collectors will warmly welcome tables with the most common domestic and international rates from 1918 to 1945, as well as the detailed maps of provinces and districts showing the location of post offices. Contemporary documents and postcards provide an impression of a bygone era.

The book is tri-lingual in Italian, English and French. In every detail the reader can feel the love and care that the author invested in compiling this book. No wonder then that the binding, paper, printing and image reproduction are of highest quality. One does not go amiss by qualifying this book as an exemplary ambassador of Lebanese philately!

Bruno Crevato-Selvaggi & Piero Macrelli: L'Italia in Africa Orientale 1

Bruno Crevato-Selvaggi & Piero Macrelli: L'Italia in Africa Orientale. Storia, Posta, Filatelia I [Italy in East Africa : History, Post, Philately. Vol. 1]

467 pages, A4, hardcover, b/w and coloured illustrations.

Price: 40 € (plus p&p). Rimini, 2014. Orders: Vaccari s.r.l., via M. Buonarroti 46, 41058 Vignola (MO), Italy. <http://www.vaccari.it/>

A few years ago Piero Macrelli, president of both Federazione fra le Società Filateliche Italiane (Italian Philatelists Association) and Associazione Italiana Collezionisti Posta Militare e Storia Postale (Italian Association of Collectors of Military Post and Postal History), announced the publication of extensive works on the post in the former Italian colonies and foreign post offices. At the end of March 2014 the first book, jointly written by Bruno Crevato-Selvaggi with Piero Macrelli, was available fresh from the presses at the Milanofil exhibition.

It is the first of two volumes, which deal with the postal history and philately of the Italian colonies in East Africa, from their origins to 1935. The chapters discuss in detail the following topics:

- Eritrea 1869–1935
- The First Italo-Ethiopian War 1895/1896
- Somalia 1889–1935
- Trans-Juba (Oltregiuba) 1925/1926

Some brief remarks on Ethiopia, the British colony of Somaliland and the French Somali Coast (Côte française des Somalis, now Djibouti) follow.

For the Italian colonies telegraph operations are dealt with alongside their postal history. Explanations can be found for postage charges and for all branches of the postal service, including parcel and money order services. The stamps issued are shown in colour, as are many covers and documents. Numerous contemporary illustrations tell about the conditions in the Italian colonies in East Africa. Several maps allow for geographical orientation in this area, which is completely foreign to many. Overall, this descriptive part comprises about 75 pages.

This part is followed by an extensive catalogue in which all postal and telegraph offices in the colonies of Eritrea and Somalia as well as the Military Post Offices of the 1895/96 First Italo-Ethiopian War are listed in alphabetical order. Each office is accompanied by chronology, its geographical position, the number of inhabitants, as well as data on its economic and administrative importance.

Subsequently, all postmarks used (both cancellers and marks employed in administrative services) are presented as retouched line-drawings. This is accompanied by several covers or philatelic documents from that office. It is impressive that even for post offices in places with small populations and for those existing only a few years such examples are shown.

The tome's printing is of high quality. The lightly tinted, high-quality paper allows for excellent reproduction of the colour illustrations. This and the clean presentation of postmarks makes the book an indispensable tool for every philatelist and postal historian dealing with this interesting chapter of Italian philately, even without an in-depth knowledge of the Italian language.

Number 2

Spring 2016

This second instalment features further clippings on postal history, rates and the operation of the postal services after the occupation of Palestine by British and allied forces in 1917/1918. The Official Gazettes published administrative notifications, statutes, orders, regulations, proclamations, and related announcements, made by the military and later civilian administration.

Postal History and Related Notices from the Official Gazettes for Palestine Part 2: 1921/1922

compiled and annotated by Tobias Zywiets

This series is listing and displaying all postal history related items found in the Official Gazettes covering Palestine from 1917 to 1948. This second part covers the years 1921 and 1922.

As I have not had access to complete runs of “The Palestine News” so far, I started in part 1 with cuttings from the “Official Gazette O.E.T.A. (South)” from July 1919. At the time Occupied Enemy Territory Administration (South) encompassed just Palestine itself. On 1st July 1920 the British civil administration under High Commissioner Sir Herbert Samuel took over from the military administration of O.E.T.A. (South). At that point the “Official Gazette O.E.T.A. (South)” became “Official Gazette of the Government of Palestine.”² The areas covered from then on are the later mandated territories of Palestine and Trans-Jordan.³

Official Gazettes for Palestine

During the British and Allied Occupation of Palestine (1917–1920) and the subsequent British civil administration (1920–1923) and the League of Nations Mandate (1923–1948) administrative notifications, statutes, orders, regulations, proclamations, and related announcements were published “by authority” in official newspapers. The English editions⁴ were published as follows:

1.	The Palestine news : the weekly newspaper of the Egyptian Expeditionary Force of the British Army in occupied enemy territory	Cairo, later Jerusalem (weekly)	1918–1919	No. 1 (17.03.1918) – no. 72 (17.07.1919)
2.	Official gazette O.E.T.A. (South)	Jerusalem (fortnightly)	1919–1920	No. 1 (15.07.1919) – no. 23 (16.06.1920)
3.	Official gazette of the government of Palestine	Jerusalem (fortnightly)	1920–1932	No. 24 (25.07.1920) – no. 313 (16.08.1932)
4.	The Palestine gazette	Jerusalem (fortnightly, later more often)	1932–1948	No. 314 (25.08.1932) – no. 1654 (18.03.1948) ⁵

1 Copyright extends to the compilation, arrangement, transcription, annotation, and the additional illustrations (covers). The original texts are public domain. Note that images are placed where layout allowed it.

2 There were no Gazettes during the transition period: issue no.23 of 16.06.1920 is followed by no. 24 of 25.07.1920.

3 From August 1920, Trans-Jordan was part of the Arab Kingdom of Syria until the fall of Damascus to French troops in July 1920. High Commissioner Samuel took control of Trans-Jordan in August, eventually creating an Emirate in 1921. Trans-Jordan (Trans-Jordania) was not formally joined to Palestine until the establishment of the League of Nations Mandate in 1923. See e.g. en.wikipedia.org/wiki/British_Mandate_for_Palestine_\(legal_instrument\)).

4 Hebrew and Arabic editions do exist, but not for all periods, e.g. חדשות מהארץ / חדשות הקדושה is listed for 4.04.1918–10.04.1919 by Yale University Library.

5 The British Library lists the last issue as number 1655.

15.02.1922: Registration of Inland Parcels

NOTICE.

POSTS, TELEGRAPHS AND TELEPHONES.

REGISTRATION OF INLAND PARCELS.

On and from the 15th January INLAND parcels may be registered under the same conditions as for inland letters.

The Registration Fee will be 13 milliemes and the limit of compensation in respect of any parcel L.E.2. If it is desired to insure a parcel for a sum exceeding L.E.2 it must be sent under the INSURED parcel regulations.

Parcels intended for registration must be suitably packed in covers sufficiently strong to protect the contents from accidental loss or damage. Any official to whom a parcel is tendered for registration is instructed to refuse to register it if the packing is, in his opinion, obviously inadequate. Compensation will nevertheless be refused if, though accepted, the parcel is afterwards found to have been imperfectly packed.

Parcels for registration must be sealed with wax, lead or steel.

An advice of delivery of a registered parcel may be obtained on payment of an additional fee of 13 mililemes.

15.02.1922: Fortnightly Air Mail Service to Iraq via Cairo

(b)

The public is hereby informed that postal matter of all kinds, except parcels, will be accepted at all Post Offices in Palestine for transmission by Air Mail to Iraq by a fortnightly service via Cairo.

There will also be a regular fortnightly Air Mail in the reverse direction.

No parcels or registered or insured letters or packets will be accepted.

The aerial Postal rates will be made up as follows:

1. The usual foreign postal rate for the class of mail matter despatched.
2. A special fee of 25 milliemes for each 20 grammes or fraction of 20 grammes, whatever the class of mail matter may be.

Postage stamps covering the postage and special fee must be affixed to the cover of the postal packet.

Correspondence should be clearly addressed, and endorsed in bold Latin Characters with the words "BY AIR MAIL" in the upper left-hand corner.

It is preferable to hand over correspondence for Air Mail at the Post Office Counter.

No responsibility in respect of loss or damage of mail matter forwarded by Aerial Service is accepted.

Dates of departure of Air Mails will be notified by Public Notice exhibited at Post Offices.

15.02.1922: Cheaper Telegram Route to America

Telegrams for certain places in North, Central and South America may now be sent via "Eastern-Marconi" at rates less than those at present in force by the alternative "Eastern-North Atlantic Cables route."

Example:—A telegram from Jerusalem to New York City would be charged for at the following rates:

Via "North Atlantic Cables"

Ordinary 101 milliemes per word.

Deferred 51 milliemes per word.

Via "Eastern Marconi"

Ordinary 90 milliemes per word.

Deferred 46 milliemes per word.

showing a saving of 11 milliemes per word at ordinary and 5 milliemes per word at deferred rates.

Telegrams it is desired to send via "Eastern-Marconi" should have that route clearly written in the space for "Remarks" when handed in.

Particulars of rates etc. may be obtained at the counter.

15.06.1922: Changes to Renting Private Post Office Boxes

PUBLIC NOTICE.

POST OFFICE BOXES.

As from 1st July next the rental charge for a Private Post Office Box will be at the rate of L.E.1 per annum instead of P.T.60, and the normal rental year will be from 1st January to 31st December.

The minimum charge for a Private Box will be one year's rent, payable in advance, but a box may be rented at any time during a calendar year, prior to 1st October, on payment of a proportionate rent to 31st December of the same year at the rate of 90 milliemes a month. A person desiring to rent a Private Box on or after the 1st October in any year will be required to pay in advance rent at the monthly rate to the end of that year, plus L.E.1 in respect of the following calendar year.

Existing renters whose renewal falls due in the period between 1st June and 31st December of this year are to be charged 50 milliemes for the month of June and 90 milliemes per month for the remainder of the year.

Unless 15 days' notice is given prior to the expiration of the rental period, a private box will be considered as renewed for a further period of one year.

Existing renters will be allowed the option of paying, in addition, a full year's rental in respect of 1923.

Private Boxes may not be used for the correspondence of persons other than their renters or members of their households. The Post Office does not undertake to deliver to any Private Box correspondence not complying with this condition.

Renters of Private Boxes cannot transfer them to other persons.

It is pointed out that the Poste Restante is intended solely for the accommodation of strangers and travellers, and even they must not use the Poste Restante for more than three months. Correspondence for residents, other than Private Box renters, must be delivered by postman if the address is within the postman's delivery area.

Applicants for Private Boxes will be required to deposit the sum of 25 P.T. in respect of the key.

Government District Reorganisation

NOTICE.

DISTRICT REORGANISATION.

NOTICE.

DISTRICT REORGANISATION.

As is known, it has been decided to introduce some changes in the administrative machinery of Districts, and to group the whole country into four greater units.

In this manner, Lieut.-Colonel Symes will be the Governor of the present Districts of Phoenicia and Galilee; Colonel Cox will be Governor of Samaria, which will include the Sub-Districts of Tulkeram, Beisan and Jenin; Mr. Storrs will be Governor of the present Districts of Jerusalem (less Hebron Sub-District) and Jaffa (less Tulkeram Sub-District); and Mr. Abramson will be Governor of the present Districts of Gaza and Beersheba, and the Sub-District of Hebron.

It will be observed that this re-organisation is a return to the Turkish Organisation, with the exception that the former Mutessareflek of Jerusalem will be divided into two.

These changes, which are introduced in the interests of economy and for a greater simplification of government, will come into force on the 1st of July. They will not affect, in any way, the daily life and customs of the inhabitants, or their relations with the Government.

C. R. Catherman's Q&A section answers a query from May by reprinting R. Barnes' article “The bogus POIuT/ROPiT issue of 1918” from The Circuit (ISWSC) (52).

R. Rose reports on his visit to İstanbul incl. the postal museum, and İSFİLA and Burak offices (55).

According to AGM minutes (pp. 37 & 56) the society will make “The Levant” available online. Access will be password-protected for ONEPS members only, although a few back-issues will be made available for free.

The Israel Philatelist – Summer 2015 – 66. 2015, No. 3*Society of Israel Philatelists, Inc., English, A4, colour, US-$ 4.95*

In Letters to the Editor, Y. Leheavy writes about Professeur Cohen (4) followed by a short article on the philatelist (6–7).

R. S. Hermann writes on collecting Israel foreign mails of 1948/1949 (8–11).

M. I. Fock reports on the Austrian Lloyd agency in Jerusalem (1852–1859) and its postmark “Agencia del Lloyd Austriaco / Gerusalemme” (14–15).

N. Zankel shows a 1922 cover taxed with a “late fee” of 2 Millièmes (franked with 15m instead of 13m). Late fees were imposed for handing in letters after the regular counter’s official closing time for specific despatches (18).

The late D. Simmons’ series on UNFIL is continued with part 4 (20–22).

D. A. Chafetz reports on the 1st April 1933 air mail flight Jerusalem–Rome (24)

J. Wallach continues his series on London forwarding between Israel and Arab states (24–25).

I. Osterer looks at the designer of Israel’s 1965 “Festival” stamps.

R. B. Pildes shows proofs of cancellers by Palestine Emergency Deliveries Inc. (PEDI) of New York.

H. I. Salman with J. I. Spector and E. Helitzer write on Dr. Moshe Wallach and his Shaare Zedek hospital in Jerusalem, showing also some Ottoman postal forms (36–40).

B. Weiner shows a 1947 “economy use” cover (53).

A. Harris reports on 1980s Israel revenues “Tree & Waterpipe” (54–57).

The Israel Philatelist – Autumn 2015 – 66. 2015, No. 4*Society of Israel Philatelists, Inc., English, A4, colour, US-$ 4.95*

E. Kroft researched the commercial use of Palestine’s highest value stamp: the £1 Pictorial of 1942 (6–9).

R. B. Pildes shows designs for Israel’s 1948 “Doar Ivri” letter-sheet (20–21).

B. Weiner shows a letter from Cairo to Jaffa via the Red Cross in Geneva (25).

D. A. Chafetz shows a cover from 1938 commemorating the 20th anniversary of the 1918 armistice with a picture of General Allenby (25).

I. Math writes on the printing plates and varieties of Palestine’s definitive series “Pictorials” (26–27).

J. Wallach continues his series on London forwarding between Israel and Arab states (28–29).

J.-P. Danon shows a supposed FDC of the “Doar Ivri” booklet (33).

N. Zankel shows a 1921 provisional registration envelope (Dorfman PRI) used in Surafend in 1922 (37).

M. I. Fock looks at the British consular post in the Ottoman Empire, showing two 1840’s covers (38–39).

R. Cohen shows two Israel revenue varieties (44).

The late D. Simmons’ series on UNFIL is continued with part 5 (48–52).

S. Morgenstin researches Palestine’s preferential airmail rates for military personnel and shows a 1941 cover to Australia (56–57).

The Israel Philatelist – Winter 2016 – 67. 2016, No. 1*Society of Israel Philatelists, Inc., English, A4, colour, US-$ 4.95*

In Letters to the Editor, B. Weiner and J. Wallach correct an error in Weiner's article "1948 Civilian Mail Gaza to Jaffa via the Red Cross" (IP, vol. 67, no. 4, p. 25): Gaza wasn't under Israeli occupation in 1948 (5).

D. Kibble studies the impact of letter bombs on undercover mail to and from Israel via the London GPO. Official sources suggest that thousands of such letters were destroyed at the time (8–9).

E. Kroft presents part 2 of a study on parcel post and parcel cards in the Holy Land, 1882–1954 (30–33) showing Austrian, Italian, German, Ottoman, Mandate, and Israeli parcel despatch notes (16–18).

D. A. Chafetz presents a 1938 cover of the "Arabic Union Mission of Seventh Day Adventists, Jerusalem" (28–29).

S. Morginstin 'reviews' the 1981 book "Palestine : Stamps (1865–1981)" (Shaath/Mekdsahi/el-Labbad/Elmessiri/O'Hanlon). Sadly the reviewer can't resist making disparaging political comments about the work, with half the review dealing with the stamp depicted on the cover: for obvious reasons, the authors had removed the controversial abbreviation of 'Eretz Israel' from the Mandate stamp shown (33).

T. L. C. Tomkins' "Notes on the Campaign in Egypt and Palestine 1914–18 : Indian Expeditionary Force 'E' and 'F'" is reprinted from Gibbons' Stamp Monthly of December 1967 (pp. 66–68). This almost 50-year-old piece may still be interesting to the philatelic historian, but has long been superseded by John Firebrace's 1991 epic "British Empire campaigns and occupations in the Near East, 1914–1924." (37–39).

Small pieces: E. Kroft shows the revenue usage of Doar Ivri stamps on a 1948 cheque (6); N. Zankel presents a 1925 returned "Overland Mail" cover: Haifa–Baghdad–Amman–Jerusalem–Haifa (13); B. Weiner shows a May 1948 P.O.W. cover from Mansoura (Egypt) via the Red Cross to an Israeli camp (53); Y. Taschor revisits the Joseph Cohen cover (shown in IP of Summer 2015), centring on the rarity of Bale #2 on a letter (54); J. Wallach shows a 1968/69 Israeli Occupation pass permit for a ticket controller on the Jerusalem–Jericho–Amman bus line (55).

Israel-Philatelie 25 – September 2015IG Israel, German, A4, colour, –*

R. Spieß presents his thematic collection on Holy Land plants (4–15).

T. Zywiez unearthed a 1913 article by a catholic priest on the postal situation in Palestine, describing especially the fierce competition between the Ottoman and foreign postal services: "Das Postwesen in Palästina" by Father Ernst J. Schmitz [reprint from Das Heilige Land, 58. 1914, no. 1] (16–20).

T. Zywiez reports in a first part of his article on Julius Bolthausen's travel tours about the picture postcards by Perlberg and Wuttke [translation from The Middle East Philatelic Bulletin, no. 1, 2015] (21–25).

H.-P. Förster shows illustrated Israel fieldpost cards from the 1973 war (28–32).

A printer's error in issue 24 is corrected: the PNA 1999 Christmas blocks are now shown in full (32).

Israel-Philatelie 26 – December 2015

IG Israel, German, A4, colour, –

In “Die Sorge gilt der Kaffeesahne” U. Zahn transcribed the (partly political, partly mundane) contents of two air-letter sheets sent from Palestine to the US in 1948 (10–12).

H.-P. Förster shows various examples of covers and special hand-stamps concerning the September 2015 Israeli-German joint issue commemorating 50 year of diplomatic relations (12–15).

T. Zywiez presents the third part in his series on varieties of PNA stamps: the 2012 “Fruit” block (16–18).

T. Zywiez unearthed an official announcement concerning proper time-keeping in 1920’s Jerusalem (19).

Doar Ivri 35 – September/December 2015

Cercle Français Philatélique d’Israël, French, A4, colour, –

M. I. Fock shows Santelli & Micciarelli forwarding covers from the 1850s (6–7).

R. S. Hermann shows covers of Israel foreign postal relations during 1948/1949 (8–18).

M. Daniels reports on printing dates of Israel’s definitive series “Coat of Arms” (20–26).

B. Boccara shows a 1948 cover from Hadassah hospital on Mt. Scopus (34–35).

C. D. Abravanel shows three postcards depicting the “Sublime Porte,” i.e. Bâb-ı Âli gate (35).

C. D. Abravanel reports on a notice in the “Gazette Nationale” of 22.05.1799 on Napoleon’s campaign in Syria. A cover from that campaign (9.03.1799, Jaffa to Egypt) is shown on page ([32]).

Doar Ivri 36 – January/April 2016

Cercle Français Philatélique d’Israël, French, A4, colour, –

C. D. Abravanel shows a clearly philatelic cover from the Syrische Waisenhaus (Syrian Orphanage in Jerusalem) in 1907 with 13 French Levant stamps; as well as a 1917 postcard with Ottoman stamp from Jerusalem to Hungary. (5)

Z. Simmons writes on the French and Italian forces in the Holy Land 1917–1921: Détachement Français en Palestine and Distaccamento Italiano di Palestina (6–13).

C. D. Abravanel presents the first part of the history of air mail in Palestine, covering mainly the 1919 E.E.F. emergency service, Imperial Airways, and K.L.M. (14–21).

M. Daniels researched the printing dates of Israel’s 1969/70 definitive “armoury” series (22–26).

J. Zaluski shows New Year’s greeting cards/folders of The Israeli Philatelic Service (27).

OMAN STUDIES CENTRE

for Documentation and Research on Oman and the Arabian Gulf

The Oman Studies Centre is pooling resources on Oman and the Gulf to support research on Oman and to provide advisory services. In addition to the Oman Library with books, maps, and documents, the information pool includes special collections such as a philatelic collection and a numismatic collection.

For our philatelic collection we buy stamps, postal history, stationery, and documents in the following areas:

- India used in Muscat and Gwadar
- Pakistan used in Muscat and Gwadar
- British Post Office in Muscat
- Muscat & Oman, Sultanate of Oman
- "rebel stamps" State of Oman and Dhufar

We currently also buy early postcards of Oman (pre-1970) and Muscat quarter Anna varieties to complete collections that will result in the publishing of specialised catalogues in these two fields.

We have extensive holdings of duplicate material in all fields and are willing to sell or exchange for other Oman material. Enquiries are welcome.

The Oriental Philatelic Association of London

The Oriental Philatelic Association of London was founded in 1949. Its remit is very broad both geographically and historically as it covers all philatelic aspects of post within the former Ottoman Empire and all its myriad successor states. Nevertheless many members specialise in one small area. Over one third of our membership of over 150 lives abroad, with a particularly large number in the USA.

OPAL publishes a couple of journals per year along with a couple of newsletters. Both publications are also used to answer members' queries. If our extensive library can't help with queries, then our membership invariably contains someone who can help, however specialised or esoteric. There are informal meetings held in various UK locations as well as our annual get together for our AGM.

Membership costs presently £5 per annum. Further details can be found on and contacts can be made via OPAL's website: www.mclstamps.co.uk/opal/opalhome.html.

Do you collect stamps from the Holy Land?

Why not join the Holyland Philatelic Society?

The Holyland Philatelic Society (founded in 1952) is the British society for all collectors of the stamps and postal history of Israel and Mandate Palestine, and those interested in the postal services in the Holyland from earliest times until the present day, including Ottoman and foreign post offices, times of war, the occupations, and Palestinian National Authority.

Meetings are held in Central London, and all members receive the society's journal, the BAPIP Bulletin.

Contact: holylandphilatelicociety@yahoo.com

The Ottoman and Near East Philatelic Society (ONEPS) promotes the collection and study of postage and revenue stamps, stationery, and postal history of the Ottoman Empire, the Republic of Turkey, and Ottoman successor states, including the Near and Middle East, Egypt, Arabia, and the Balkans.

Our journal, "The Levant," is published three times a year, and an index to all articles is posted on our website: www.oneps.net.

Membership in the society opens the door to a philatelic community with a wide range of interests, including Turkey, Palestine, Lebanon, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Jordan, Yemen, Egypt, Armenia, Greece, Cyprus, Bulgaria and Romania, philatelic and political history, postal administration, stamp authentication and forgeries, picture post cards and postal ephemera.

Annual dues are $20 in North America; £17 in the UK; €20 or $25 all other countries. Join by submitting an application, available from the Secretary, Mr. Rolfe Smith, at xbow2@mac.com or as download from our website: www.oneps.net.

Editorial

by Tobias Zywiets (mep-bulletin@zobbel.de)
 Publisher & Editor, The Middle East Philatelic Bulletin

MEPB 1

As I write this in early April 2016, the number of downloads of the first issue of MEPB has just surpassed 1,000.¹ This figure (which is much bigger than I had hoped for at the beginning) together with the positive responses I received from readers encourages me to continue with this project. I hope this second issue will be received with a similar response.

The Contents of this Issue

I made the conscious decision that I wouldn't write most of the material myself, as was the case with MEPB 1. Thankfully several interesting articles could be found, but readers are not yet forthcoming enough with original new material to secure the future of this journal.

Edgar Karl Haberer writes in Tantur Hospital and the 2 Heller 'Jerusalem Pilgermarke' about a seemingly forgotten chapter of Holy Land philately: pilgrims' donation stamps/vignettes. Pilgrims' correspondence makes up a large part of Holy Land material, especially before World War I, but these vignettes seem to have escaped the otherwise eagle-eyed generations of Holy Land collectors: in 172 issues of the "BAPIP Bulletin" (1952–2015), the word "Pilger" appears only twice and "Heller" only five times; all instances are unrelated to Haberer's subject matter.

In the first issue of MEPB, Rainer Fuchs wrote about the stamps of the Kingdom of Kurdistan. Now Fuchs sheds some light on another Iraqi cinderella in Mystery of the 'Habbaniya Provisionals.' His article leaves us probably with more questions than answers.

Renowned philatelist and Jordan specialist Avo Kaplanian writes on The Registration Envelopes of Jordan. This is a compilation of two articles from the Dutch "Al-Barīd" which appears here, together with some additional images, for the first time in English.

The 1999 Christmas Block of the Palestinian National Authority is part of a series resulting from the cataloguing work undertaken for my website. Further articles will deal with more PNA stamps and blocks with remarkable features or errors.

Dietrich Ecklebe's article World Cultural Heritage Destroyed: Assur, Niniveh, Hatra, and Bosra continues where he left off in MEPB 1. Future articles will deal with the destruction of Yemen's heritage sites.

Rainer von Scharpen contributes a topical book review already published in German: Gli Annulli Postali Libanesi 1918–1945 by Bernardo Longo.

The second review comes from Jürgen Glietsch: L'Italia in Africa Orientale 1 by Bruno Crevato-Selvaggi & Piero Macrelli. Although this topic does not exactly fit the 'Middle East' remit of MEPB, Somalia has always had close cultural and communication ties to the Arab world.

In the Archive Section I continue to peruse the Official Gazettes of Palestine to document Postal History and related notices. Part 2 covers the years 1921/1922.

Acknowledgements

I'd like to thank again all contributors and all those aiding and encouraging me in the creation of this journal. The list would be too long to print here, so I name only two non-philatelists, who, as native speakers, helped me with proofreading and gave advice on style of writing: Lonnie and Colin.

Several organisations gave me permission to reprint articles from their journals and archives. One person I have to especially thank is Barry D. Hoffman, copyright owner of F.W. Pollack's The Holy Land Philatelist.

Many thanks to all!

Contributions

I will consider any article of quality for potential inclusion: be it a large article with original research, a small piece looking at a particular aspect, a concise description of an interesting cover, or a long-forgotten piece of research rediscovered. It can be original writing, or material already published. I will advise and help with anything offered. Translation into English can be arranged, and all processes are closely coordinated with the author.

Articles should be submitted as plain text (TXT), rich text (RTF), MS Word (DOC, DOCX), LibreOffice or OpenOffice (ODT), or Adobe Acrobat (PDF). Images can be JPEG/JPG or PNG files, at 300dpi or higher resolution.

Rights to texts and images not belonging to the author should be cleared, or at least be flagged-up, so that I can deal with any such incidents. If in doubt: just ask! I will strive to resolve any such occurring issues.

 "A"-version: 710, "B"-version: 314.

If you think you can contribute to the journal, please do not hesitate to contact me!

In the Next Issue

I hope to include some of these articles in issue 3 (or later issues) of MEPB, due in the Summer of 2016. Note that not all contributions have been confirmed yet.

- The Oriental Travels of Julius Bolthausen: The Caiffa Bisects (Tobias Zywiets)
- Early Postcards of Muscat (Joachim Duester)
- British "Prisoners of War Censorship Middle East" censor labels (Giorgio Migliavacca)
- The 'one & only' Postcard of Jordan (Avo Kaplanian)
- World Cultural Heritage Destroyed: Yemen (Dietrich Ecklebe)

Update to Max Mayo's 1984 book "Cilicie : Occupation Militaire Française"

by Bob Bradford

I am doing an update to Max Mayo's book "CILICIE" and would like any of the readers to send me information.

I have scans of almost 800 covers so far, but there will be more out there. You will be surprised by some of the figures I have discovered: for example I have seen 38 Red Mersine, 34 Zone Nord, 20 Oval Tarsus, and 12 manuscript Censor marks.

I'm seeking especially:

1. Scans of any Cilicia covers (in colour please, front and back).
2. Scans of any sheets-of-twenty of the Type 5 overprint (in colour please)
3. Does anyone have a scan of the pencil script "Censurée" mark used on a Syrian cover?

Please contact me: cilicia.update@gmail.com

Copyright and exploitation rights of articles and contributions remain unrestricted and with the individual authors. Contributions signed by name do not necessarily represent the views of the editor or the publisher.

The magazine is free. It is distributed by the publisher exclusively via digital download from his website. Each reader is permitted to print this magazine for his personal use. The dissemination of the magazine to third parties as a PDF-file is disapproved of, but any promotion by mentioning the website address or download link is highly welcome.

A mailing list is operated by the publisher giving participants prior notice of new issues and developments related to the journal. The recipients' addresses are not disclosed to third parties and deleted upon request.

Any further commercial exploitation of the journal or its contents, e.g. selling prints, is not permitted without prior request to and approval from the publisher.

Storage of individual articles and contributions or of the complete magazine on websites is prohibited. Exceptions are made after agreeing terms and conditions of such a use with the publisher.

Those interested in commercial re-use of individual contributions, are asked to contact the authors. Non-commercial re-use, e.g. in journals of philatelic associations, will be granted upon request to the publisher and author, provided the source is properly acknowledged.

The publisher strives to take account of existing copyrights and restrictions of texts and images used, but in individual cases this cannot be guaranteed, as it is not always possible to ascertain the existence of such rights.

The publisher and editor of this magazine has absolutely no commercial interests as it is published solely for the purpose of philatelic research and education. If a breach of copyright is detected, respective parties are asked to contact the publisher to resolve the matter amicably, e.g. by inserting correct copyright notices.

The respective authors of individual articles and contributions are deemed responsible for content of their submissions. These rules are a prerequisite of accepting material for publication. Further claims of any kind, particularly for damages or indemnities, are expressly excluded.

Für Beiträge dritter Autoren verbleibt das uneingeschränkte Urheber- und Verwertungsrecht bei den genannten Autoren. Namentlich gekennzeichnete Beiträge stellen nicht unbedingt die Meinung der Redaktion oder des Herausgebers dar.

Die Zeitschrift ist kostenlos. Sie wird vom Herausgeber ausschließlich digital über sein Webseite vertrieben. Jedem Bezieher steht es frei, diese Zeitschrift für seine persönlichen Belange auszudrucken. Die Weitergabe der Zeitschrift (PDF-Datei) an Dritte ist nicht verboten, die Nennung der Webseite bzw. des Links zum Herunterladen ist dagegen für alle Parteien vorteilhafter.

Der Herausgeber unterhält einen E-Mail-Verteiler, der den Interessenten vorab das Erscheinen einer neuen Ausgabe ankündigt und ihn mit Entwicklungen in Bezug auf die Zeitschrift auf dem Laufenden hält. Bezieher-Adressen werden nicht an Dritte weitergegeben und bei Einstellung des Bezugs bzw. auf Verlangen gelöscht.

Eine kommerzielle Weiterverwertung der Zeitschrift oder einzelner Inhalte, z.B. zum Zwecke des Verkaufs von Ausdrucken, ist ohne vorherige Anfrage und Genehmigung nicht gestattet. Die Speicherung und Bereitstellung einzelner Beiträge oder der kompletten Ausgabe dieser Zeitschrift auf Internetseiten ist untersagt. Ausnahmen sind nur nach entsprechender Vereinbarung mit dem Herausgeber möglich.

Interessenten an einer Wiederverwertung einzelner Beiträge, z.B. in Fachzeitschriften philatelistischer Vereine und ArGen, werden gebeten, mit den Autoren Kontakt aufzunehmen. Nicht kommerzielle Wiederverwertungen, z.B. in Vereins- oder Arge-Zeitschriften, werden nach Anfrage und bei ausreichender Quellenangabe gerne genehmigt. Der Herausgeber ist bemüht bestehende Urheberrechte zu berücksichtigen und zu nennen, kann dies aber im Einzelfall nicht garantieren, da das Bestehen solcher Rechte nicht immer im Vorhinein geklärt werden kann.

Der Herausgeber verfolgt keinerlei kommerzielle Interessen mit dieser Zeitschrift. Parteien, die einen Urheberrechtsverstoß gegeben sehen, sind gebeten, sich mit dem Herausgeber in Verbindung zu setzen, um eine einvernehmliche Lösung (nachträgliches Einfügen einer ordnungsgemäßen Herkunftsangabe) herbeizuführen.

Für Beiträge von Fremdauforen sind die jeweiligen Autoren verantwortlich. Diese Regeln sind Voraussetzung für die Annahme vom Material zur Veröffentlichung. Weitergehende Ansprüche gegenüber dem Herausgeber sind ausgeschlossen.
