The Late Use of Postmarks of the Kingdom of Syria in Transjordan 1920–1928

by Bernd-Dieter Buscke¹

Copyright © 2017

The basic principle of the presentation of postmarks in “Philatelic History of the Arab Kingdom of Syria”² is, incomprehensible to me, to only register the cancellations used during the period of the Arab Kingdom of Syria. Given the rarity of these postmarks, especially on stamps of the Kingdom itself, this does not achieve a complete coverage of the known cancellations of the Kingdom.

Later uses of such cancels, for example in Transjordan, clearly indicate that the number of known postmarks was greater than that listed in the above-mentioned work. In the following, all the postmarks from the time of the Arab Kingdom of Syria, which had a short existence of only three months in 1920, from the area of today’s Jordan are to be compiled, including their usage periods.

As far as is known today, there were five post offices in the area of today’s Jordan during the time of the Arab Kingdom of Syria, which carried the six postmarks depicted. The negative seal of Salt is only known on one postal form. All marks show the fixed date ١٩١٩ (fig. 1). These cancellations are in line with the post offices of Ottoman times, since the then also existing postal towns of al-‘Aqaba, Ma’an and Mudawara³ belonged to the Kingdom of Hejaz. Katrana⁴ has not yet been detected with a cancel of the Kingdom.

⁴ Qatraneh, about 30 km east of Kerak.

After the end of the Kingdom, the stamps were used up (fig. 2) before the introduction of the stamps of the British military administration (fig. 3).

In November 1920, Jordan's first postage stamps appeared. The postmarks of the Kingdom remained in use (figs. 4, 5 and 6).

The following final dates of use of these cancels of the Kingdom have been described in literature and have been detected on covers:

Postmark	Latest date of use
Ajloun	1926
Kerek	1920
Madaba	1925
as-Salt (line cancel)	1921
as-Salt (negative seal)	no cover known

On eBay, a cover was recently seen with the latest known Jordanian use of a Kingdom cancellation (fig. 7). The first Jordanian postmarks for the above-mentioned town were the oval rubber hand stamps introduced from about 1922 (figs. 8 and 8a).

If other Jordanian covers bearing cancels of the Kingdom of Syria are known to readers, the author would be grateful for any information thereon.

Iraq Railway Post: A New Discovery?

by Rainer Fuchs (FRPSL, AIJP)

*There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy.
(Hamlet to Horatio)¹*

Some time ago I was informed of some new Iraq Railway Post labels, in a design similar to the labels issued between 1928 and 1932 but with a locomotive and the names of individual railway stations.

The labels have in common the basic design, headed by “RAILWAY POST / السكك الحديدية”, but differ in the inscription of the railway station that they were apparently issued for. They have been printed on differently tinted thin gummed paper.

This article should not be seen as a comprehensive description of Iraq Railway Post stamps, as many articles have been written about them,² but more to inform the readers about some newly discovered Iraq Railway Post labels that turned out to be forgeries.

Iraqi Railway Stamps Catalogued

So far the only standard catalogue that makes note of these stamps is the Middle East volume of the German MICHEL catalogue: the 2007/2008 edition³ notes their existence, their use, and shows three images. Not very much, but after intensive lobbying by the author, it is at least a beginning.

These genuine Iraq Railways Post Stamps were issued between 1928 and 1942 in a completely different design (two sub-types) and in three (or four) different colours (figs. 1–8).⁴

Newly Discovered Stamps?

All the newly discovered stamps are shown below. Neither I nor other leading Iraqi philatelists have ever seen such labels before and from the information I received they were apparently purchased many years ago in Istanbul. I have discussed these labels with some leading philatelists and collectors of Iraqi stamps and postal history and their feedback is somewhat mixed: it ranges from Bogus to Essays or Proofs. The seller of these items requested payment prior to shipping which I declined and in the end he sent the items on approval, prior to payment.

In order to investigate the stamps I initially scanned them in high resolution (1200 dpi) but did not come to a final judgement. Hence I treated them in the same way as every new discovery that comes up after so many years, which in itself is always questionable. But as in a court of law: everyone is innocent until proven guilty.

Below are the items that have been offered to me. The fragment shown in fig. 22 was offered only later on and I have not seen this in person, hence I could not scan and inspect it myself in detail.

Figs. 9–10: Two pairs of stamps on beige paper with station name “Baghdad station”.

⁵ The ochre shade could be the result of a darker orange printing.

Figs. 11–13: A pair and two single stamps on brownish paper, with station name “Hamza station”.

Figs. 14–15: A strip of three stamps and a single stamp on beige paper with station name “Hillah station”.

Figs. 16–17: A pair of stamps and a single stamp on brownish paper with station name “Karbala station”.

On top of the pair above (fig. 16) I noted some additional lettering which looks like small print underneath the actual stamp’s printing:

Fig. 18: Enlarged detail from fig. 16.

The lettering underneath “LWAY POST.” I deciphered as “3 Там же, стр. . . EE.” This means something like “from the same place.” It is believed that the paper used is from the lower margin of a Russian publication. Presumably this was a footnote and the smaller “3” is actually the numeral 3: “Там же, стр. X” is equivalent to “ibid, p. X.” This phrase uses the spelling “там” (post-1918) instead of “тамъ” (pre-1918). Any further hints are welcomed.

Fig. 19: A pair of stamps on purple paper with station name “Karbala station”.

Figs. 20–21: A strip of 3 stamps on beige paper and a single stamp on bluish paper, with station name “Qochan station”. The paper used for Qochan has different colour shades on front and reverse, hence it seems one of the shown items is printed on the front, the other one on reverse side of the paper.

A Puzzling Piece

This piece (fig. 22), offered to me by the seller only later on, puzzles me even more. I have not seen this in person and hence could not scan and inspect it myself.

The fragment is cancelled with the Railway Post Office marking of Baghdad North, dated 27th September 1932, together with a 3 Anna Iraqi definitive stamp, cancelled on 28th September 1932 at (most likely) Baghdad.

Fig. 22:

2 Anna Railways stamp
“Baghdad station” cancelled
Baghdad North 27.09.1932, and 3a definitive cancelled

On 1st April 1932, Iraq had changed its currency from the Indian Anna/Rupree system⁶ to the decimal Fil/Dinar system.⁷ I assume the old postage stamps were still valid for postal use, but the cut-off date is unknown to me. The Railway postmark struck on the Railway stamp appears to be genuine, same as for the postmark on the Iraq stamp: without personal inspection it is impossible to judge whether they are genuine or fake.

As already indicated, the labels have in common the basic design of the first 4 issues, similar to Ross/Powell RP-1 to RP-4 issued between 1928 and 1932: these are headed by “RAILWAY POST / برید السكك الحديدية”, but they differ in the inscription of the railway station that they were apparently issued to be used at.

They have been printed on differently tinted thin gummed paper. What is also interesting is that the denomination is indicated in “2 Ans.”, a form seen only on the so-called Baghdad Overprints issued in 1917. Later the value was always expressed in “Anna” or “Annas”.

It is also notable that the frame around the labels look different: not uniform, and with ‘open’ corners, indicating that different printing plates (clichés) had been used in the production process ...

6 1 Rupie = 16 Annas = 64 Paise = 192 Pies.

7 1 Dinar = 1,000 Fils. The conversion rate was 11 Rupees to 1 Dinar, consequently 1 Anna equalled 5.68 Fils.

The Exposure

... until I had visited the International Stamp Fair held in Essen, Germany, in May 2017. At this Fair the German association of stamp examiners⁸ always has a booth and I presented the stamps to them to get a clue about the printing method used.

A simple visual inspection did not provide a definite answer, so the stamps were placed under a microscope for maximum magnification. This method discovered dots typical to printing with toner, hence the stamps were fabricated with a modern laser printer, simply: modern forgeries, but cleverly made.

Below I will show some enlarged images (figs. 23–26) created with transmitted light by a high-quality LCD digital microscope, making the laser toner dots clearly visible.

My sincere thanks to Tobias Huylmans, BPP Expertiser⁹ and employee of the famous German auction house Heinrich Köhler of Wiesbaden.¹⁰

The Conclusion

Upon confronting the seller with these facts he reacted very calmly, and wrote to me (spelling as in the original):

it's pity that you don't want to have such interest stamps – they can be one of the ornaments (gems) of your interest collection. But you decide all by yourself! And I decided to put its to my collection (I collect besides some countries all locals) In my opinion this is old stamps ...

The bottom line of this whole experience: Always be cautious!!!

Iraq. From Mr. A. J. Batten we receive a specimen of a two annas Railway Letter stamp, together with a newspaper cutting relating to the new Railway Post Service introduced by the Iraq Railway on the 1st September last. By this service letters can be dispatched by passenger train from any railway station upon the addition of the special 2 annas stamp to the ordinary postage fee.

Palestine Mandate Postmark Record Sheets

by Tobias Zywiets with material from Marvin Siegel, Kelleher Auctions, and Negev Holyland Stamps Auctions

Copyright © 2017

During Kelleher's Sale 629, almost 300 lots of Palestine Mandate stamps and postal history were auctioned. This part of the catalogue was headed "'Jericho' Collection of Palestine," and comprised lots 2001 to 2288, including many outstanding examples of both postal history (168 lots) and individual or groups of stamps (120 lots). The section on the "Blues" was particularly interesting, as it offered several control blocks and whole post-office sheets as well as varieties.

I'd like to focus here on a small lot offering two pages from postmark record sheets:

Lot 2257 (see figs. 1–4):¹

$ 106 ($ 150–200)

Palestine, 1944-45, postmaster's proof book pages, 2 pages, 1944 from Jenin and 1945 from Hebron that postmasters used to impress their cancelling devices each day before the start of business, used on both sides, a rare opportunity to acquire unique postal history documents, Very Fine.

In addition, I also show a page from Nahalat Yehuda (1944) sold by Negev Holyland in its 87th Postal Bid Sale in February 2017:

Lot 140 (see figs. 5–6):²

$ 75 ($ 75)

NAHALAT YEHUDA POSTMARK PROOF SHEET proof strikes of both types of postmark between 30 MR 44 and 26 MY 44; copy of article in Israel Philatelist Volume 27 issue ¾ [PH cropped]

The late Marvin Siegel described the circumstances of these postmark record sheets:³

Apparently it was the practice of the Mandate Postal Authorities to require that ALL cancels used in any Postal Facility, irrespective of size, on any particular day to be recorded on daily Postmarks Record Sheets. [...] These sheets [...] were 8" x 13" in size and both sides of the sheet was used with each side being identically divided into 48 boxes: 8 rows high by 6 columns wide. Each box was approximately 1-1/8 x 1-1/2" and was subdivided at its bottom by a lighter horizontal line creating a 1/4" high space which was in turn divided in 2 equal parts by another vertical line. There was no printing whatsoever on these sheets [...].

These "Logs" were completed by recording on them all the postmarks used on a particular day; generally in the chronological order in which they were used. The time of introduction of the postmark was recorded in the lower small left hand box and the postal employee signed his initials on the small right hand box; thus attesting to its usage. This was done daily, even though the same postmarks were used over and over again with only the date changing, until all the boxes on both sides of the "Log" were filled in. These completed forms were then filed should a future occasion require their inspection for some verifying purpose. [...]

The Nahalat Yehuda sheet is described in some detail by Siegel in his 1976 article:⁴

Nahalat Yehuda "Log:" 30 March 1944 to 26 May 1944. [...] This village is located just north of Rishon le Zion and it is well known to all Interim Period Philatelists since its mail during those turbulent months had a distinctive box type postmark. It had less than 500 souls in 1944 and it was served by a Class "B" Postal Agency. Class "B" Agencies were only open for 4 hours a day. It also was a delivery office. This "Log" is remarkable for its monotonous regularity – 96 entries by consecutive date, 2 per day with each day's entries consisting of

a) a single circle cancel (Dorfman running town cancel #5 – his type III; diameter 25 mm; no index) and

b) double circle cancel (Dorfman running town cancel #4, type VII; diameters 27/16; no index)

Every box has the identical time of 10:00 and the same initial signature. We notice and conclude the following from this "Log:"

A) It merited one postal employee; the individual who did the initialling.

B) It had only 1 dispatch and receipt of mail daily as indices would certainly have been used had there been more than one.

C) The Postal Agency apparently opened for business shortly before or at 10:00 A.M. daily. The mail vehicle arrived either at approx. this time or in the early afternoon at the Agency closing time.

D) Since all Jewish Post Agencies were closed on the Sabbath there are no entries for: April 1, 8 (1st day Passover), 15, 22, 29, May 6, 13, 20. Also the Agency was closed on the last day of Passover, Friday, April 14, 1944 (Note that only 7 days are observed in the Holyland). Another observation is that this Agency was closed on May 1 – May Day! which was apparently then observed as a legal holiday as it is today by much of the population.

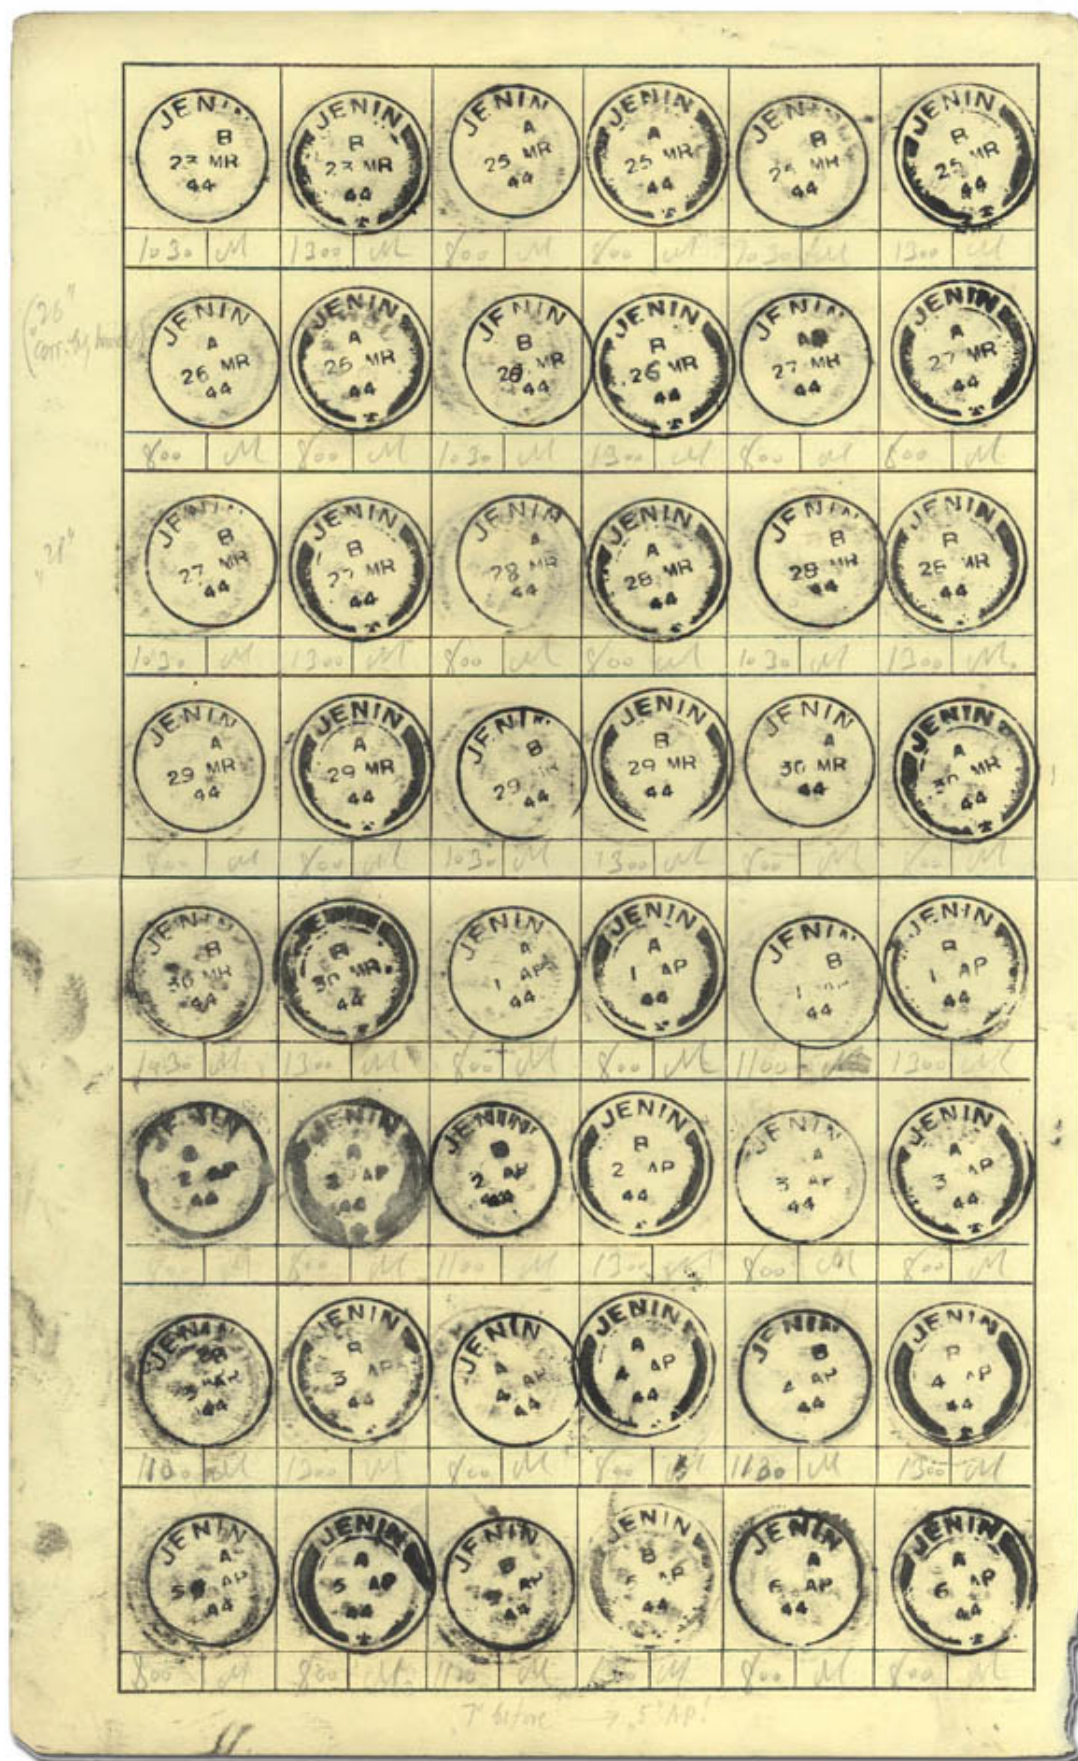

E) The single circle cancel was apparently used for special posting: registry, backstamping, packages, etc., while the double circle cancel was basically used for ordinary outgoing mail. These conclusions cannot be arrived at from this "Log" but this demarcation was the general practice and is confirmed by many covers I have seen.

Siegel also describes such postmark record sheets from Tel Mond (12th October to 4th November 1947) and from Jerusalem (22nd, 24th, 25th January 1947). Their whereabouts is unknown.

Jordan Palestine Aid Obligatory Tax Stamps: Revenue Overprint Varieties of 1947 and 1953

by Avo Kaplanian¹

Copyright © 2017

In 1947 a set of 12 stamps (SG T264–275, MiNr. Z1–12) was issued in accordance with a special law which was passed earlier in 1946 decreeing that special Obligatory Tax stamps should be issued and be compulsorily used on all outgoing mail, national and international, including parcels.

The values to be used were based on half the amount needed for postage. These stamps carried the name “عبدالله بن الحسين” (Abdullah bin al-Hussein)² at the top and had a two-line text at the bottom reading on the upper line “المملكة الأردنية الهاشمية” (The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan) and on the bottom line “اعانة عرب فلسطين” (For the Aid of the Arabs of Palestine).

The proceeds from these stamps were to be transferred by the post office to a special fund for the aid of the Palestinian refugees. The currency denomination was in Mils except for the highest value which was one Palestinian Pound (£P., see fig. 1).

Fig. 1: The whole 1947 set of twelve stamps (size reduced).

² عبدالله الأول بن الحسين – ‘Abdallāh al-auwal bin al-Husain, Abdullah I bin al-Hussein (1882–20.07.1952), Emir (1921–1946) and King (1945–1952) of Transjordan/Jordan.

Between 1947 and 1953 this set, or parts of it, was overprinted many times with different overprints such as:

- “Fils” and “J.D.” (Jordanian Dinar) (SG T334–344, MiNr. Z23–32)
- “POSTAGE” (SG 387–394, MiNr. 268–274)
- “PALESTINE” (SG PT35–46, Jordan. Bes. Palästina MiNr. Z1–12)
- “PALESTINE” and “FILS” (SG 402–407, MiNr. A283–F283)
- &c.

In 1951 a new set of five stamps was issued (SG 408–412, MiNr. Z18–22) with values in Fils instead of Mils.

The Revenue Overprint Varieties

The present article deals with the first un-overprinted Mils set (SG T264–275, MiNr. Z1–12) and the Fils set (SG 408–412, MiNr. Z18–22).

Owing to a shortage of revenue stamps and to the abundance of these Obligatory Tax stamps, the two sets, or parts of them, were surcharged in Arabic with the word “واردات” (waridat, meaning revenue), plus a wavy black zig-zag bar “/\V” to cover the bottom line, reading “اعانة عرب فلسطين” (For the Aid of the Arabs of Palestine) (see fig. 2).

Fig. 2: The ‘waridat’ overprint.

Fig. 3: Variety without zig-zag.

When my co-author Joe Ross³ and I published our book “The Revenue Stamps of Jordan & the Occupied Territory” in May of 2004, we listed the varieties which were either seen by us or were known to us at that point.

The varieties which were found on the 1947 Mils issue were:

- bottom zig-zag overprint missing (fig. 3)
- double overprint (fig. 4)
- double overprint with zig-zag at top (fig. 5)
- double overprint, one inverted, with zig-zag on top (fig. 6)
- transposed overprint (fig. 7)
- zig-zag overprint shifted (fig. 8)

Fiscal Usage

To give the reader an idea about the usage of these fiscal stamps, fig. 9 shows a car sale contract dated 21st April 1957.

It bears four 50 Mils overprinted revenue stamps plus five 200 Fils stamps of the 1952 Palmyra issue. The total tax paid for this document: 1 Dinar and 200 Mils/Fils.

Figs. 9a and 9b: Some of the stamps from the 1957 car sale contract in fig. 9.

The Fils Revenue Overprint Varieties

The shorter Fils set of 1953 was overprinted in exactly the same way as the Mils issue, except for the 5 Fils claret stamp.

This stamp had a different overprint and surcharge consisting of the Arabic word “واردات” (waridat) at the top, followed by “٢ ١/٢ فلس” ($2\frac{1}{2}$ Fils). Then there are two short straight lines on the left and right to cover the English and Arabic words “فلس” and “Fils”. This is followed by one long straight line obliterating the text “اعانة عرب فلسطين” (For the Aid of the Arabs of Palestine) (fig. 10).

The varieties of this Fils issue were mainly similar to those of the earlier Mils issue, but with some new characteristics:

- double overprint (fig. 14)
- double overprint, one inverted (fig. 14a)
- double overprint, one in green colour
- triple overprint (fig. 11)
- triple overprint, one in black, two in green colour (fig. 12)
- shifted overprint (fig. 13)

Fig. 10: The 5 Fils stamp overprinted $2\frac{1}{2}$ Fils.

Fig. 13: Shifted overprint.

Fig. 12: Triple overprint, one black, two green.

Fig. 14: Full sheet of 50 stamps with the double 2½ Fils overprint (ex R.T. Ledger).

Regarding the 5 Fils stamp with the 2½ Fils surcharge and straight lines overprint, Mr. Nathan Bruckheimer of London stated in one of his letters to me that this might be a separate issue because of the differing form of the overprint. He might be right in his assumption, but as I am not very sure of this, I would like to wait until more confirmation is available to convert this theory to fact.

An interesting item is the full sheet of 50 of 5 Fils stamp with the double overprint which comes from the late R.T. Ledger's collection (figs. 14 and 14b). Another interesting variety of this stamp is the double overprint, one inverted (fig. 14a).

Fig. 14b: Double overprint.

Fig. 14a: Double overprint, one inverted.

Random or Constant Varieties?

All these overprint varieties are random and could appear on some or all values. They are caused by faulty insertion of the sheets in the process of overprinting, or by inserting the sheets upside down, or by inserting them anew because of unclear overprinting. Because of this, it is usually only one or two sheets that have received such a faulty overprint or surcharge.

Later on during my correspondence with Nathan Bruckheimer, he brought to my attention a few more varieties. This made me go back to my own collection and study all the varieties there. Between the two of us, we discovered some new very interesting flaws which seem to be very recognizable, and more interesting, not random but constant.

These new varieties appear on a given position in the sheet of 50 stamps and are found on all values until the time that they were discovered and corrected by the postal authorities. That is why these varieties are less frequent on the later Fils issue. Such constant varieties occur owing to the fact that during the preparation of the overprinting plate, the printer either used a faulty letter, or missed a certain letter, or used a different shape, or a letter fell off during the printing due to wear and tear, &c. This leads logically to a faulty overprint on that position in the sheet.

The varieties or flaws that fall into this category appear on both the Mils and Fils issues and are the following:

1. Position 32 of the sheet shows four short wavy lines “\V” in the zig-zag bar at the bottom making it look like a “W” instead of the normal five wavy lines “^V” (fig. 15). Mr. Bruckheimer drew my attention to an additional characteristic of this position, viz. the fact that this major flaw is always combined with the second Arabic letter from the left, i.e. the alif “ا” is being clearly bent to the left at the base. This is clearly visible in fig. 15. Of additional interest here is that this variety of the alif is always present on position 32, even on those stamps where the bottom zig-zag bar is normal. This lends credence to the theory that the zig-zag bar was corrected in the later printing but the Arabic alif was not.

2. Position 40 of the sheet shows a missing first alif in the Arabic word “واردات” (waridat). This is the second letter from the left (fig. 16). Stamps in this position show sometimes, but not always, an additional flaw of the first letter on the left of the same word having its left side missing.

Fig. 15: The upper right stamp shows the zig-zag overprint with only four instead of five lines.

3. Position 50 shows the first left Arabic letter “ت” of the word “واردات” (waridat), having three dots instead of the usual two (fig. 16a and 17).

Fig. 16: Missing Arabic alif “ا” (here also with distorted Arabic tā “ت”).

Fig. 16a: Arabic tā “ت” with three dots instead of the usual two, making it a thā “ث”.

4. The third letter “د” from the left in the same “واردات” word shows a dot above the letter (fig. 18). The position of this flaw is not completely certain to me. After thorough study of the part sheets available to us, we came to the conclusion that it has to be on one of the positions between stamps 13 and 18 on the sheet.
5. A different variety of the zig-zag wavy bar appears on position 20 (fig. 19): “/Λ\”. This major variety has so far been found only on the Fils issue.

Fig. 17: Arabic tā “ت”, with three dots, making it a thā “ث”.

Fig. 18: Extra dot above the Arabic dāl “د”, making it a dhāl or thaal “ذ”.

6. In fig. 21 a block of 20 of the 20 Mils waridat stamp with the double overprint shows the different pattern zig-zag wavy bar appears on position 20 (fig. 21a), plus the Arabic tā letter having the three dots instead of the usual two on position 50 of the sheet (fig. 21b).

Fig. 19: The right stamp shows differently shaped zig-zag lines: /\\.

Figs. 21, 21a, and 21b: A block-of-20 (size reduced) of the 20 Mils with varieties on pos. 20 and 50.

Postal Use of Revenue Stamps

Finally, it is worth mentioning at this point that some of these revenue overprinted stamps were also used postally: fig. 20 shows a 20 Fils revenue stamp on piece with an “IRBID 1” circular postmark dated 12th November 1957.

Postal usage of these stamps was definitely very rare and finding stamps on cover or even on piece is hard. The listing in the MICHEL catalogue is definitely not correct: they list the 5 Fils stamp (MiNr. Z18) with waridat overprint as postally used in Nablus in 1953 only. I am sure that there must be some other values used in other towns and cities as well, just like my piece in fig. 20 proves.

Fig. 20: One of the revenue stamps used postally at Irbid, 12.11.1957.

Fiscal Use of Revenues and a New Discovery

In the years since the first publication of this article, I managed to add quite a few more interesting items to my revenues collection. I'd like to share two of these items here:

Fig. 22: A life insurance policy with five copies of the 1 Pound waridat stamp cancelled on 21st August 1956. This five Pounds fee is unusually high for such a document at that time.

Fig. 23: A similar life Insurance policy dated 20th July 1956, but this time with a new never seen before 500 Fils new currency of 1952 (SG T343, MiNr. Z31) with the waridat overprint. This shows that not only the Mils set of 1947 (SG T264–275, MiNr. Z1–12) was overprinted, but also the new currency Fils set of 1952 (SG T334–344, MiNr. Z23–32) or parts of it, was also overprinted for revenue usage.

Nablus AM/PM Postmarks Revisited (II)

Avo Kaplanian recently acquired a new item with a Nablus AM postmark, and shares the following scans with us.

Its special nature lies in the fact that it's an official circular from the Ministry of Telegraph, Post and Telephone: mailed in Amman on 31st March 1956 and addressed to the Postmaster General in Jenin where it arrived on 2nd April 1956, having gone through Nablus on 1st April 1956, as the postmarks clearly show.

1957 Lebanon Cedar Definitives with Surcharge on the Reverse: a Request for Information

by Rainer Fuchs (AIJP, FRPSL) with material from Hans Nast

Copyright © 2017

Even for modern stamps there are mysteries and questions regarding their issue and use. One such an example is the Lebanese Cedar Definitives issue of 1957 (SG 582–585, MiNr. 601–04), which exists with a surcharge on the reverse.

German collector Hans Nast purchased a set in an online auction in early 2017.¹ Nast presented his find in July 2017 on the website forum of German collectors's federation Bund Deutscher Philatelisten (BDPh),² where I picked up on this mystery. None of the catalogues I consulted mention these surcharges.

Figs. 1– 4 and 1a–4a: Front and reverse of the four overprinted stamps:

orientated left,
in the centre
(7th teeth)

orientated right,
shifted slightly right
(8th teeth)

(6½th teeth)

One experienced collector from Lebanon told me that these markings on the reverse are so-called control markings to check use of these stamps in the Mount Lebanon region. Although their number was limited, stamps with this overprint are not valued much higher than the regular stamps. The overprinted stamps were issued in early 1960.

Another prominent Lebanese philatelist, Bernardo Longo, gave this lead:³ Following a theft of stamps in a post office in 1959, the types of such stamps that were in stock at this post office were overprinted in the back side with this surcharge. All stamps without this overprint, i.e. potentially stemming from the loot, were considered invalid.

But further investigations have not been successful in gaining any further information.

The overprint occurs slightly shifted either towards the left of the right side, which seems incidental, same for the direction of the surcharge: left or right. But maybe these variations are systematic or constant to certain values?

Fig. 5: The surcharge enlarged.

Hence my questions to specialised Lebanon collectors:

- are these surcharges documented in official sources?
- when was the surcharge furnished?
- what was the actual reason and purpose of such surcharges?
- is there a connection to Mount Lebanon Governorate?
- why were the surcharges made on the reverse side?
- do more issues exist with these or similar surcharges?
- is the direction of the surcharge consistent to the specific values, i.e. 0.50p, 1p, and 5p facing left, and 2.50p facing right, or are other combinations known?
- was the surcharge a temporary measure until the Cedar Definitives could be reprinted in different colours? Michel and Stanley Gibbons note this issue for 1960:
 - 0.50p in violet instead of blue (SG 582 a, MiNr. 655)
 - 1p in brown-purple instead of light brown (SG 583 a, MiNr. 656)
 - 2.50p in ultramarine and blue instead of lilac (SG 584 a/b, MiNr. 657 a/b)
 - 5p in emerald and yellow-green instead of dark green (SG 585 a/b, MiNr. 658)⁴

I'd be very grateful for any further information about these surcharges and their circumstances.

⁴ Michel only lists one colour "smaragdgrün", i.e. emerald.

The Cities of the Decapolis

by Dietrich Ecklebe (AIJP)¹

Copyright © 2017

The Greek word decapolis (Δεκάπολις) means “ten cities,” but the cities of the Decapolis in Jordan still puzzle archaeologists, because these are not ten Greek cities at all. Some lists of city names contain up-to 18 places in Transjordan, i.e. east of the River Jordan. They formed a buffer zone between the Greco-Roman world and the nomadic tribes of Arabia. A real Greek cultural imprint developed only in Roman times as Emperor Hadrian greatly admired Greek culture.

These cities first emerged in the Hellenistic period. After the death of Alexander the Great, Transjordan formed the border between the Ptolemies in Egypt and the Seleucids in Syria. Around 86/85 B.C.E. some cities came under the rule of the Nabataeans of Petra. Only when Pompey² began his rule over Palestine in 63 B.C.E., these Greek cities became a league of autonomous city-states. Thus Pompey could be considered a founder of the Decapolis.

Gerasa

The most important of the towns was Gerasa (Γέρασα), today's Jerash, which was nicknamed “city of 1,000 pillars” and “Pompeii of the Middle East.” That the city has been preserved so well today is owed to its total neglect. In 1809, Ulrich J. Seetzen,³ who rediscovered the ruins, compared the city to Palmyra or Baalbek.

Jerash is situated in the fertile plain of the River Zarqa,⁴ about 45 km north of the Jordanian capital Amman. The 100 hectare area is enclosed by a wall containing a nymphaeum, a theatre, baths and 19 churches. Based on the Roman model, streets intersect at right angles and are lined by columns. The main street features diagonal paving and most of its columns (with Corinthian capitals) have been preserved, together with the triumphal arch. In the centre of the town rises the mighty Temple of Artemis.

Figs. 1–3: The stamps show the column-lined main road from Jerash, the remains of the theatre of Capitolias and the pillars of the cruciform basilica of Abila.

The Trichora: Capitolias, Abila, Gadara

Capitolias (Καπιτωλιας),⁵ today's Beit Ras (situated north of Irbid) can be found on the list of the Decapolis cities of Claudius Ptolemy,⁶ but not in Pliny the Elder.⁷ The city probably flourished not until the reign of Emperor Trajan. It is strategically placed on an important trade route, later a bishop's see, rising to become the second largest city east of the Jordan.

Together with the towns of Abila and Gadara it formed the so-called trichora. Today there's only a small village with few inhabitants, but everywhere there are pillar capitals and cisterns, barrel-vaulted storerooms, oil mills and a *hypogaeum*⁸ reminiscent of its glorious past.

The traces of Abila (Ἀβίλα)⁹ remain few. The city is more than 3,500 years old: its name probably comes from abel (meaning green or meadow). From Roman times remains a ruined theatre. More numerous are the finds from the early Christian-Byzantine period: particularly impressive are the towering pillars of the cruciform basilica from the 7th century.

Ancient Gadara (Γάδαρα),¹⁰ is located near Umm Qais¹¹ in north west Jordan, near the Sea of Galilee (Lake Tiberias) on a steeply sloping plateau. The earliest traces of settlement activity date to the 4th century B.C. In the Hellenistic period the city became an important centre of Greek culture.

Gadara was expanded ostentatiously during Pompey's reign. The city is listed in all sources as member of the Decapolis. From the 4th to the 7th century here was a bishop's see, but after the Arabs' victory in the battle of 636 C.E.,¹² the city was abandoned and forgotten.

Although Gadara had been given the name of Colonia Valentina Gadara in the 3rd century C.E., it was always the most Greek of the cities in the Decapolis. Extensive excavations uncovered many important buildings from the city's heyday. The 14 metre wide main road runs west to east. The residents could attend performances in two theatres, of which the western theatre has been particularly well preserved: it's entirely built from the hardest basalt.

Other facilities making the life in a Roman city pleasant aren't missing either: thus we find baths with mosaic floors, a nymphaeum, a hippodrome and, from later times, several churches.

Figs. 4 and 5: The western theatre of Gadara can be used once again today. The tower of the barracks of Umm el-Jimal goes back to its use as a convent.

5 Also called Dion (Δῖον) and Adun.

6 Claudius Ptolemaeus (Κλαύδιος Πτολεμαῖος) (ca. 100–ca. 170 C.E.).

7 Gaius Plinius Secundus Maior (23–79 C.E.).

8 Catacombs, i.e. vaulted underground tombs.

9 Ἀβίλα Δεκαπολεος, also Σελεύκεια (Seleucia), now called Quwailiba, Quwailibeh, or Queilbeh – قويلبة.

10 Also called Antiochia Semiramis and Colonia Valentina Gadara.

11 Umm Qais – أم قيس.

12 Battle of Yarmouk, August 636 C.E.

Umm el-Jimal

Umm al-Jimal¹³ has its origin in the protection of Roman territories against enemies and as a trading and caravan post at the Limes Arabicus.¹⁴ The barracks were built as late as the 2nd century C.E. In 747 an earthquake destroyed the city; it was not resettled.

The ruins cover an area of 800 metres by 500 metres: walls built from large stone blocks encompass the urban area. The residential buildings and churches have all been built of basalt. Since no natural water sources were available, rainwater was collected in cisterns. Best preserved are the barracks. The high tower was however added only later, after the barracks had been converted into a convent.

Today almost all cities of the Decapolis are in Jordan and have already been depicted on numerous stamps.

The Paper Money Collectors' Guide is a practical book that aims to introduce the general public and new collectors alike to the hobby of paper money collecting. It is the first book of its kind that is written in Arabic, and thus its primary audience is collectors who speak Arabic.

In the first chapter, the author covers the general history of money and its usage around the world since ancient times. Following that, is an introduction to the terminology used in numismatics to describe various properties typically associated with paper money, such as watermarks, serial numbers, signatures, issue dates, issuers, as well as a detailed list of security features such as Omron Rings, micro-printing, colour-shifting ink, raised printing, holograms, metallic strips and security strips. Each of these terms is briefly described and illustrated with a real example from an existing banknote.

In the next couple of chapters, the author shares a thorough overview of the hobby of collecting banknotes. He starts with the definition of notaphily and numismatics; takes a look at what varied goals a collector might potentially set when starting a collection (cultural, scientific, documentary, etc.); to providing useful tips on how to start one's own collection. The breadth of topics covered is impressive, as it leaves virtually nothing out: from regular circulating issues to error and replacement notes, to uncut sheets, private and emergency money, overprinted notes, and even fantasy issues, among other subjects.

There is a dedicated section covering notable extremes of lowest and highest denominations in history, first polymer issue, largest note, first note with a QR code, and other distinguished or somehow better known notes. Realizing the necessity of good practices from early on, Mr. Dayekh takes the time to elaborate on creating a 'collection database' to track one's collection as it evolves, providing information many collectors would benefit from. This not only includes guidelines on the creation and maintenance of a database, but also appropriate labelling, storage, and grading of notes. The final chapter is a partly illustrated checklist of Lebanese paper money from 1919 to date, including date varieties.

This guide is also a useful resource because it puts many of the hobby-specific terms in one concise list side-by-side in both the Arabic and English languages. Even speaking both languages fluently, it is not always so straightforward to find the right words for special security features or subcategories of paper money or even descriptive banknote grades. The author's systematic approach to covering such a broad spectrum of the terms and nuances of banknote collecting successfully brings, to the uninitiated, order to an otherwise intimidating topic.

The 1917 overprint stamps issued by the British in occupied Mesopotamia have to be seen in a wider historical context. During the First World War, Allied forces attacked the Ottoman Empire on several fronts, leading to—at first—two disastrous defeats:

- Winston Churchill’s ill-fared Gallipoli Campaign of 1915 at the Dardanelles led to some 60,000 dead on each side,¹ and the withdrawal of Allied forces to Western Thrace.
- The British-Indian advance from Basra, occupied in November 1914, up the Euphrates and Tigris in the winter of 1915/16 led to the Siege of Kut and the humiliating surrender of some 13,000 Allied troops.

The political fallout instigated a crisis in the Liberal-Conservative coalition government and the demotion and eventual resignation of Winston Churchill. The Indian Expeditionary Force (I.E.F.) was reorganised during 1916 into the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force (M.E.F.). Under its new commander General Maude² an offensive started in December 1916 leading to the capture of Baghdad on 11th March 1917.

The Genesis of the Overprints

The British-Indian troops used regular Indian stamps overprinted “I.E.F.” (Indian Expeditionary Force) through M.E.F. Field Post Offices. Baghdad’s Head Post Office was re-opened for civilian use on 29th March 1917. Khalastchy writes:³

¹ Figures on deaths and casualties differ widely. Losses, including sick, are reported at 250,000 on each side.

² Lieutenant General Sir Frederick Stanley Maude, KCB, CMG, DSO (1864–1917).

³ Khalastchy, p. 14.

The absence of proper postage stamps was not allowed to delay the opening of the post office to the local inhabitants. The problem was solved temporarily by granting free postage to all who cared to make use of it. This concession, probably unparalleled in the history of Occupied Territories,⁴ was eagerly made use of and was deeply appreciated by local residents until supplies of I.E.F. India stamps were received.

Advance Base Post Office, Baghdad (Formerly the Turkish G.P.O.).⁵

During May 1917 the India Office had, upon enquiry from the Viceroy's office and in consultation with the Foreign Office, directed that Indian stamps surcharged "I.E.F." were to be used "until further notice."⁶

On the political reasoning for distinct overprints on Ottoman stamps, Khalastchy reports:⁷

The Political Officer at the time, Sir Percy Cox, regarded overprinting enemy stamps as both a measure annoying to the enemy and useful from a political and historical standpoint as it demonstrated a change of administration. Postage stamps, by reason of their widespread distribution, offer one of the most effective means of political propaganda extant.

In addition to stock recovered from post offices, Ottoman stamps were bought from inhabitants and merchants, and when their value exceeded 1,000 Rupees (less than £70),⁸ Cox's plan was executed: a total of 14,850 stamps (including 464 envelopes) were overprinted "BAGHDAD / IN BRITISH / OCCUPATION" and placed on sale from 1st September 1917.

Khalastchy quotes extensively correspondence between the involved parties, including messages on behalf of King George V,⁹ himself a renowned philatelist and patron of the Royal Philatelic Society

4 This concession was later also applied by the Egyptian Expeditionary Force in Palestine during the winter 1917/18. The first "E.E.F." stamps were put on sale on 10.02.1918 (20.02.1918 in Jerusalem).

8 The official exchange rate on 29.07.1917 was 16d per Rupee ; source: Pearson, 1986.

9 Khalastchy quotes a letter sent from Buckingham Palace to the India Office on 3.04.1917 by the King's Assistant Private Secretary, Clive Wigam, asking about the proposed stamps in order to secure these for the Royal collection.

London. Given that 14,850 stamps was less than a month's supply¹⁰ and the philatelic interest of several actors¹¹ one might question whether this stamp issue had any practical necessity. However, this might be said of quite a few stamps issues throughout philatelic history! The author notes:¹²

Unfortunately, by placing the stamps, when they were eventually issued, on sale first of all to members of the Mesopotamia Expeditionary Force, the military authorities defeated their own ends,¹³ since the unexpected demand for these fascinating souvenirs left but few for the legitimate postal requirements of the civil population.

After only seventeen days, their sale having been severely restricted,¹⁴ stocks were already exhausted and regular Indian stamps overprinted "I.E.F." (pictured),¹⁵ became the only stamps in use as was originally intended.¹⁶ The "BAGHDAD / IN BRITISH / OCCUPATION" stamps became quickly a matter of speculation and subsequently the target for forgers.

Having gained knowledge of the surcharges from press reports in December 1917, the British General Post Office made enquiries with the War Office. Khalastchy reports:¹⁷

On 20 December 1917, the War Office wrote to the India Office enclosing a letter from the General Post Office that was written the previous day. [...] The letter from the GPO was inquiring whether statements in the press regarding Turkish stamps being overprinted "BAGHDAD IN BRITISH OCCUPATION" were true. [...] The War Office letter also stated that they had no knowledge of any stamps issued in Baghdad and asked whether the Secretary of State for India was aware of the purpose to which they were being put [...].

The Book's Chapters

The book is divided into ten distinct chapters, the first three tell the circumstances surrounding the stamp issue. Khalastchy starts with a concise survey of the history of Baghdad, from ancient times to the First World War, culminating in General Maud's (pictured)¹⁸ often-cited proclamation of 20th March 1917: "To the people of the Wilayet of Baghdad."

The second chapter looks at the advance of the Indian Expeditionary Force "D" (I.E.F.D), later re-grouped as the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force (M.E.F.), its postal system and the preparations to re-open the civilian postal service in Mesopotamia.

This chapter follows the correspondence and pronouncements of some of the central figures in the political and postal administration involved with the stamp issue: Lieutenant-Colonel Hubert A. Sams, Director of Army Postal Services (D.A.P.S),¹⁹ Major-General Sir Percy Cox, Chief Political 10 Khalastchy, p. 15, quotes statistics from a 1936 article by P.W. Ireland, stating that during September 1917 the total number of letters posted at Baghdad Post Office was 17,345.

11 Khalastchy, p. 15, quotes an officer, Harold Blampied, describing Cox as a keen philatelist.

Officer, M.E.F. (pictured),²⁰ as well as Captain Emile Clerici, Deputy D.A.P.S.,²¹ Captain Shri Q. C. Sen, Assistant D.A.P.S.,²² E. B. Thomson, Assistant D.A.P.S.,²³ ministers and high-ranking officials in the India Office, the Foreign Office, Buckingham Palace, and the newly-founded Imperial War Museum.

Chapter 3 focuses on the printing and quantities printed, as well as the sets distributed as mementoes to the King, the Viceroy, other dignitaries, and the Imperial War Museum. Shown is a set of paper sheets with complete sets of the overprints cancelled uniformly “BAGDAD / REG. / 10 SP 17”.

Chapters 4 and 5 are a complete and comprehensive account of each and every stamp known, with their specifics, provenances and history, such as appearance in collections and sales. Many hundred stamps are depicted, with special attention to any varieties found. In addition, Khalastchy shows the original Ottoman stamps side-by-side to the surcharged version. Chapter 5 describes the unissued stamps, i.e. where the amounts of values at hand for overprinting was regarded as too small to issue these.

Chapter 6 describes the history of the four ‘presentation sets’ General Maude presented to the King, Sultan Fuad of Egypt, and Viscount Acheson, with Maude himself keeping one set. These contained all 25 issued stamps on sheets of paper cancelled “BAGDAD / 17 SEP. 17 / 9 – AM” as well as three envelopes. Khalastchy could establish, that all four sets eventually ended up in private hands. All known copies are depicted.

Chapter 7 details and generously depicts over 130 known covers bearing the “BAGHDAD / IN BRITISH / OCCUPATION” surcharges, often giving extensive information on senders and recipients. The date-stamps and censor-marks used at the time in Baghdad are also shown. This chapter, together with chapter 8, also depicts the known overprinted envelopes.

Chapter 9 looks at the report by W. E. Ennis about restrictions imposed on the sale of the stamps to British civilian residents: initially one purchase only was allowed, later stamps to the value of 8 Annas only were sold in matchboxes. Locals were required to hand their letters over at the counter to be franked. Four covers and a letter are described and shown to corroborate this.

Given all these circumstances, these stamps became quickly sought after and highly priced. First reports about forgeries appear as early in 1919. Khalastchy therefore devotes chapter 10 to such forgeries: the near-contemporary fakes are described as crude, but modern ones are hard to tell apart from genuine copies. The author concludes that buyers must insist on certificates by either the R.P.S.L. Expert Committee or B.P.A. Expertising Ltd. Also shown are fantasy overprints stemming apparently from the time of the 2003 Anglo-American occupation.

The well-printed and bound tome is concluded by an index. A list of articles on the subject is given in the author’s acknowledgements, and each chapter contains a bibliography of used sources. I commend the effort of Khalastchy to designate the origin of images, a practice not as widely exerted in philatelic literature as should be.

(Bombay, 1922), Sams does mention the “Bushire under British Occupation” stamps, but not the Baghdad issue.

The Book Launch

The author launched his book during Spring Stampex 2017 with a reception he organised in the rented premises of the Royal Philatelic Society London in Marylebone. The presentation was attended by some 170 guests: family, friends, philatelists, and dealers (see photos 2–4)²⁴. Khalastchy had invited the Iraqi Ambassador Dr. Salih Husain Ali Al-Tamimi to attend the exhibition. During the opening ceremony,²⁵ the ambassador was presented with a copy of Freddy's book (see photo 1).

The Author

Alfred (Freddy) Khalastchy was born in Baghdad in 1957. He comes from a prominent Jewish family: his uncle was Sir Naim Dangoor whose family ran a large printing house and publisher in Baghdad. The Khalastchy family emigrated to Britain in the early 1970s.

Collecting stamps from the age of 10, Freddy could build on the family's stamp collection. In his late twenties he started specialising in the stamps of Iraq from 1917 to the overthrow of the Hashemite monarchy in 1958.

Freddy joined the Royal Philatelic Society London in 1986 and was elected fellow in 1996. He is a member of Collectors Club (New York), the Club de Monte-Carlo (Monaco), the Oriental Philatelic Association London (OPAL), and the Revenue Society (London) and won many accolades and prizes at International stamp exhibitions with his Iraq collections.

Iraq's 2017 Stamp Issue on the Centenary of the "Baghdad in British Occupation" Surcharges

Based on images of stamps, covers and documents supplied by Freddy Khalastchy to Iraqi stamp dealer and member of Iraq Post's stamp design committee, Mohammed Dhia Taha Al-Shirwani, the designer Mr. Sa'ad Ghazi created a set of stamps, a block, and sheets commemorating the centenary of the 1917 "BAGHDAD / IN BRITISH / OCCUPATION" surcharges.

There was some controversy whether to commemorate this event at all due to the fact that the 1917 stamps shouldn't be regarded as Iraqi stamps at all, as they were issued by an occupier, drawing political comparisons with the 2003 situation after the fall of the Saddam regime, according to Al-Shirwani.²⁶

Some of those who promoted Iraqi occupation overprinted stamps in the year 2003, claimed that it is not permissible to consider the "Baghdad in British Occupation" overprinted stamps of the year 1917 as Iraqi stamps at all, while others criticized the release itself by pointing on its design and typographical errors.

26 Al-Shirwani, Mohammed D.: Another useless dispute. Online: <http://shirwani.comeze.com/pblogen.html#b> (accessed 25.10.2017).

Under the title “The Centenary of the First Stamps Issued in Iraq,” Iraq Post issued on 20th October 2017:²⁷

- three stamps perforated 13¼: 250d sized 40×30mm, 500d and 1,000d sized 30×40mm, printed in 16-stamp sheets (4×4). Quantity: ca. 15,000 stamps of each value;
- ditto, imperforate. Quantity: 200 sheets (3,200 stamps) of each value;
- a block denominated 1,500d sized 95×70mm. Quantity: ca. 3,000.

All were printed by State Company of Post and Communication Printing House, Baghdad, Iraq, in multi-coloured offset on pre-gummed glossy white paper.

The quantities stated are approximations due to the number of proofs, trial prints, and waste, but also for the prevailing corrupt practices in official circles. Al-Shirwani says:

No body really cares about that, as they believe it is a matter of paper and it will not hurt anybody after all! Iraq became the most corrupted country in the world in the last released international corruption list. I always try my best to warn them so as to prevent that, but of no use. For instance, I tried my best even to threaten them after they decided to distribute 200 sets of sheets (3,200 stamps each) before perforating them, as I was aware that they will be given to one or two of the corrupted stamp dealers in Baghdad to profit from them. I was not able to prevent that and found myself alone.

The Amsterdamse Postzegelsociëteit (Amsterdam Postage Stamp Society, APS) can celebrate its 80th anniversary in 2017. It is a small society, but has a very active and prominent membership, with seven of its 25 members also in the Nederlandse Academie voor Filatelie (Dutch Philatelic Academy).

For its anniversary, the society published a book, which apart from charting its history, gives its members the opportunity to present gems from their collections: “99 short philatelic stories” as the subtitle says.

All these stories, descriptions and illustrations are interesting snapshots of the members’ philatelic endeavours and specialities, covering not just the Netherlands and its (former) colonies, but topics from around the world.

Several pages are especially of interest to collectors of Middle East topics:

Avo Kaplanian, renowned specialist for Jordan and Palestine presents five very special or unique items from his collections:

- A used and an unused copy of the 1920 “National Government of Moab” provisional (a.k.a. “Kerak Provisional” or “Majlis Idara Stamp”) created by the British district commander Capt. Alex Kirkbride.¹
- The November 1922 Transjordan issue with the unique inverted violet overprint of all values.
- A rare registered cover from 1925, travelling from Madaba (violet negative seal) via Haifa–Kantara T.P.O. to England.
- A cover from Amman to Alexandria, August 1925, franked with Hedjaz stamps overprinted for Transjordan, including a vertical pair of the ¼ piastre with unique tête-bêche surcharge.

- A piece from the UPU specimen collection held by the postal archive of Madagascar with seven Transjordan stamps, issued December 1922, in strips-of-three, with the 2 piastre strip showing the rare type 1a overprint variety on the right-hand stamp.

Jan Heijs, postal war specialist,² presents a cover from the Palestinian National Authority in 1996, when due to Israel objections, PNA stamps depicting stamps from the British Mandate over Palestine had to be stickered-over and marked with a “سلطة الفلسطينية / Palestinian Authority / Postage Paid” hand-stamp.

Hans Wilderbeek shows an 1895 registered letter used to return money orders from Amsterdam to Cairo.

Further contributions are from: Jan van den Berg, Hugo Brieffies, Arend Bultman, Henk Burgman, Wilbert Davids, John Dehé, Gerardine Dirksen, Gerard Garritsen, Jeffrey Groeneveld, Maarten Hartkamp, Ton Hulkenberg, Cees Janssen, Bas Kee, Nico van der Lee, Ot Louw, Jos Nollet, Vincent Prange, Jan van Riel, Ronald Rong, Jan ter Welle, Hans Wilderbeek, and Arie Zonjee.

Where have all the Overland Mail Baghdad–Haifa Collectors gone?

an appeal by Rainer Fuchs (FRPSL, AIJP)

Copyright © 2017

The title may sound a bit weird but I really wonder, where all collectors of Overland Mail Baghdad–Haifa have gone to?

It cannot be that I am the only serious collector of this fascinating area. Too many times I am outbid at auctions for interesting items, but who are the buyers? Are they collecting but hiding in the woods?

I am in possession of the paper archive and correspondence the late Norman Collins entertained with numerous collectors world-wide as he prepared his book on Overland Mail in the 1980s. At that time—it seems to me—collectors did not have any problem communicating with each other and informing Norman about items in their collections.

For several years now I maintain an ambitious and detailed website dedicated to Overland Mail—but so far I have not received any information from any Overland Mail collector, with the exception of a few collectors I actively sought out and approached with regard to specific details, like postal rates imposed by other postal organisations for the use of the Overland Mail route going into Iraq. For collectors who are not yet aware of my Internet Site, this is its address:

<http://fuchs-online.com/overlandmail>

Since Norman handed over much of his research material to me, I have discovered so many new facts and numerous previously unknown items, new usage dates, even different sizes of imprinted envelopes. In order to verify much of this material, I would require quality images of the items listed in Norman's 1990 monograph. Their study and research may even lead to an update of Collins book, but such an endeavour would never be accurate and comprehensive without the cooperation of fellow collectors.

For this specific purpose I have recently created a page on my website with information retrieved from photocopies comprised in Norman Collins' archive in the hope that some collectors know of the whereabouts of these items and may provide colour scans, so these items and covers could be recorded and catalogued properly:

http://fuchs-online.com/overlandmail/99_unrecorded_Ex_Collins_Archive.htm

If readers of the Middle East Philatelic Bulletin have any Overland Mail items in their collections or know of collectors in this field I would be highly appreciative of hearing from them.

Royal Philatelic Society London Acquires Edward B. Proud's Invaluable Archive

press release by The Royal Philatelic Society London

6th November 2017

Royal Acquires Invaluable Archive

The Royal Philatelic Society London has acquired an invaluable archival resource from the late Edward B. Proud RDP.

Edward ('Ted') Proud was a prolific writer, researcher and collector who published a phenomenal 68 books covering the postal history of the British Colonies. This indispensable collection and source of information has now been generously transferred to The Royal Philatelic Society London (RPSL), where they will be made available online, cementing the incredible legacy and lifetime of dedication to the unique history of the postal service.

Ted Proud was a trustee of the International Postal Museum, which he tirelessly developed over many years with the late Professor John West RDP. Ted's son and surviving trustee, Christopher Proud, has, according to his family's wishes, now donated the entirety of the Museum to The Royal Philatelic Society London.

The International Postal Museum owned the copyright to Ted Proud's extensive philatelic works, including electronic editions of all his 68 books and hundreds of hard copies, as well as a fastidiously constructed online archive and the copyright of the philatelic publications of R. C. Alcock. Ted Proud's books will all be available to purchase on the RPSL website with all proceeds now going to The Royal Philatelic Society London.

The extensive online archive will be an incredibly important asset for the RPSL and will render a wealth of information accessible for the very first time. Much of this newly uncovered data from Colonial postal administrations was unpublished and will now be indexed and made accessible. This will enable a wealth of data to be shared and explored on the relaunched RPSL website in 2018.

Ted Proud was a remarkable man with an enormous enthusiasm for and expertise in postal history. In 2008 he was invited to sign the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists after a lifetime spent researching, dealing in stamps and procuring an encyclopaedic knowledge of philatelic matters. The International Postal Museum, Ted's many books, and his meticulously produced archives, are a testament to a life-enduring fascination with postal history, which can now be enjoyed by Ted's fellow enthusiasts and historians.

Edward Proud's family is keen for the transfer of this important archive to the RPSL to take place as a legacy for today's and future philatelists and as a testament to a lifetime's work and achievement in creating this archive.

Initially enquiries for books should be made to adminmanager@rpsl.org.uk.

ARTICLE 1.

The Palestine Government authorises the Company to operate civil air mail services to, from and in Palestine, subject to the following provisions and conditions.

ARTICLE 2.

Subject to the provisions of this Agreement and of any Ordinance or Regulations concerning aircraft which may be enacted from time to time, the laws and Regulations for the time being in force in Palestine concerning the entry to and departure of persons from Palestine by sea or land and in respect to the importation of goods into, the exportation of goods from and the transit of goods through Palestine territory by sea or land, or in respect to contraband, shall apply equally and respectively to persons entering into and departing from Palestine by the aircraft of the Company and to goods imported into and removed from Palestine by the aircraft of the Company, and to any act of contraband committed in relation to the operation of the aircraft of the Company.

ARTICLE 3.

Every aircraft of the Company when arriving in Palestine from abroad other than a relief aircraft coming from abroad to the assistance of a disabled aircraft, shall land first at an aerodrome approved by the High Commissioner, and if at that aerodrome no facilities exist for undergoing Customs, Quarantine and Passport examinations, shall proceed without allowing the discharge of any passengers or goods carried by the aircraft (other than the Company's personnel and stores required at that aerodrome) to another approved aerodrome where the aforesaid examinations can be conducted.

Provided always that if an aircraft arriving in Palestine from abroad be compelled through force of circumstances to land first at any place other than an approved aerodrome as aforesaid and is unable to proceed further, the Company shall undertake the conveyance, as soon as possible, of the goods and persons carried in the said aircraft from that place to an approved aerodrome or to any other place at which the examination formalities provided for hereinafter can be undergone.

Every aircraft of the Company when departing from Palestine for abroad shall make its departure from an approved aerodrome and shall not land again in Palestine territory except at any aerodrome approved for such intermediate landing.

Relating to the operations of Civil Air Mail services to, from and in Palestine.

It is hereby agreed between the Palestine Government, represented by the High Commissioner for Palestine (hereinafter called the High Commissioner) on the one part and Imperial Airways Limited, of Airways House, Charles Street, Lower Regent Street, London, (hereinafter called the Company) on the other part as follows :—

ARTICLE 1.

The Palestine Government authorises the Company to operate civil air mail services to, from and in Palestine, subject to the following provisions and conditions.

ARTICLE 2.

Subject to the provisions of this Agreement and of any Ordinance or Regulations concerning aircraft which may be enacted from time to time, the laws and Regulations for the time being in force in Palestine concerning the entry to and departure of persons from Palestine

ARTICLE 3.

Every aircraft of the Company when arriving in Palestine from abroad other than a relief aircraft coming from abroad to the assistance of a disabled aircraft, shall land first at an aerodrome approved by the High Commissioner, and if at that aerodrome no facilities exist for undergoing Customs, Quarantine and Passport examinations, shall proceed without allowing the discharge of any passengers or goods carried by the aircraft (other than the Company's personnel and stores required at that aerodrome) to another approved aerodrome where the aforesaid examinations can be conducted.

Provided always that if an aircraft arriving in Palestine from abroad be compelled through force of circumstances to land first at any place other than an approved aerodrome as aforesaid and is unable to proceed further, the Company shall undertake the conveyance, as soon as possible, of the goods and persons carried in the said aircraft from that place to an approved aerodrome or to any other place at which the examination formalities provided for hereinafter can be undergone.

Every aircraft of the Company when departing from Palestine for abroad shall make its departure from an approved aerodrome and shall not land again in Palestine territory except at any aerodrome approved for such intermediate landing.

Provided always that if through force of circumstances an aircraft after departing for abroad from an approved aerodrome is unable to proceed further, it shall be allowable for a relief aircraft from abroad or otherwise to take over the load and continue the originally intended journey without landing first at an approved aerodrome.

16.06.1928: Supplementary Appropriation April–December 1927 (Note)

NOTE ON THE SUPPLEMENTARY APPROPRIATION
(APRIL–DECEMBER, 1927) ORDINANCE, 1928.

The Supplementary Appropriation Ordinance gives legislative sanction for expenditure not covered by the Appropriation Ordinance for the period.

The expenditure for the period amounted to £P. 1,944,397 or £P. 20,464 over the estimate. The Schedule to the Supplementary Appropriation Ordinance shows the excess expenditure under each head aggregating to £P. 166,265: and these excesses are mainly accounted for by the transfer of unproductive expenditure defrayed in previous years from loan funds. On the other hand, savings under other heads amounted to £P. 145,795.

The revenue for the period amounted to £P. 1,739,380 or £P. 33,062 under the estimate. The main decreases occur under Railways (£P. 50,210) and Posts and Telegraphs (£P. 7,129). On the other hand, receipts from Customs shew an increase of £P. 26,243. The decreases under Railways and Posts and Telegraphs were partly balanced by savings on the expenditure of these services, and would have been more than balanced but for the extraordinary charge to Railway funds of approximately £P. 31,989 in respect of the writing down of the book value of Railway stores. The grant-in-aid is based on a percentage of the actual ordinary and extraordinary expenditure of the Transjordan Frontier Force, and as the expenditure for the period was below the estimate, the grant-in-aid was proportionately lower.

41. (1) No alteration in any telegraph line of the Postmaster General shall be made by the Undertakers except with his consent.

(2) The Undertakers shall not in the exercise of the powers conferred by this Ordinance or any Order lay any electric line either above ground or below ground or do any other work for the supply of electricity whereby any telegraph line of the Postmaster General is or may be injuriously affected; and before any such line is laid down or work done within 10 metres of a telegraph line of the Postmaster General (other than repairs), the Undertakers and their agents, two weeks, or in the case of the laying down of service lines to consumers' premises not less than three clear days, before commencing such works, shall give written notice to the Postmaster General specifying the course and nature of the work, including the gauge of any electric lines, and the Undertakers and their agents shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may from time to time be prescribed by Regulations for the purpose of preventing any telegraph lines of the Postmaster General from being injuriously affected by the said work.

(3) If any telegraph line of the Postmaster General is injuriously affected by the laying down or operation of the electric lines or other works of the Undertakers, the Undertakers shall pay the cost of all such alterations in the telegraph lines of the Postmaster General as may be necessary to remedy the injurious condition.

(6) In the event of any contravention of or wilful non-compliance with this Section by the Undertakers or their agents, the Undertakers shall be liable to a fine not exceeding £P. 2 for every day during which such contravention or non-compliance continues, or, if the telegraphic communication is wilfully interrupted by them, not exceeding £P. 5 for every day on which such interruption continues. Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall subject the Undertakers or their agents to a fine if they satisfy the Court that the immediate execution of the work was required to avoid an accident, or otherwise was a work of emergency, and that they forthwith served on the postmaster of the postal office nearest to the place where the work was done a notice of the execution thereof, stating the reason for executing the same without previous notice.

(7) Subject to the provisions of any Order issued under this Ordinance, the Undertakers shall not be entitled to transmit any telegram, or to perform any of the services of receiving, collecting or delivering telegrams.

42. The Undertakers shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, laying down and placing their electric lines and other works and in working their Undertaking so as not to affect injuriously whether by induction or otherwise the working of any wire or line used for the purposes of telegraphic, telephonic or electric signalling communication or the currents in that wire or line belonging to or under the control of the General Manager of Railways; and the provisions of the preceding Section for the protection of the Postmaster General shall apply and operate for the benefit of the General Manager of Railways.

3.11.1928: Armistice Day (11.11.1928)

ARMISTICE DAY

I wish to remind all the people of Palestine that the 11th November (Armistice Day) is the anniversary of the day ten years ago on which peace was inaugurated after the Great War.

I hope that everyone will observe it as a day of solemn remembrance for those who fell during that struggle.

I trust that everyone in this country will make a point of attending a place of worship on that day.

I appeal to every citizen to suspend business at 11 a.m. and to maintain silence as far as possible for a period of two minutes.

All Government Offices will be closed until 12 noon.

1st November, 1928.

H. C. LUKE
Officer Administering the Government.

In connexion with the observance of Armistice Day (11th November) His Excellency, the Officer Administering the Government hopes that all officers and others who possess uniform will wear it on that day and that all who have not uniforms but have medals will wear them.

A gun will be fired at 11 a.m. from the Moslem Cemetery near Herod's Gate to denote the commencement of the period of Silence, and another two minutes later to denote its termination.

Watches should be synchronised with the Post Office time on the 10th November.

His Excellency and Mrs. Luke will lay a wreath on the Cross in the War Memorial Cemetery at 8.30 a.m. on the 11th November, and will attend the service in St. George's Cathedral at 10 a.m.

ARMISTICE DAY

I wish to remind all the people of Palestine that the 11th November (Armistice Day) is the anniversary of the day ten years ago on which peace was inaugurated after the Great War.

I hope that everyone will observe it as a day of solemn remembrance for those who fell during that struggle.

I trust that everyone in this country will make a point of attending a place of worship on that day.

I appeal to every citizen to suspend business at 11 a.m. and to maintain silence as far as possible for a period of two minutes.

All Government Offices will be closed until 12 noon.

1st November, 1928.

H. C. LUKE
Officer Administering the Government.

In connexion with the observance of Armistice Day (11th November) His Excellency, the Officer Administering the Government hopes that all officers and others who possess uniform will wear it on that day and that all who have not uniforms but have medals will wear them.

A gun will be fired at 11 a.m. from the Moslem Cemetery near Herod's Gate to denote the commencement of the period of Silence, and another two minutes later to denote its termination.

Watches should be synchronised with the Post Office time on the 10th November.

His Excellency and Mrs. Luke will lay a wreath on the Cross in the War Memorial Cemetery at 8.30 a.m. on the 11th November, and will attend the service in St. George's Cathedral at 10 a.m.

The Oriental Philatelic Association of London

ORIENTAL PHILATELIC ASSOCIATION OF LONDON

The Oriental Philatelic Association of London was founded in 1949. Its remit is very broad both geographically and historically as it covers all philatelic aspects of post within the former Ottoman Empire and all its myriad successor states. Nevertheless many members specialise in one small area. Over one third of our membership of over 150 lives abroad, with a particular large number in the USA.

OPAL publishes a couple of journals per year along with a couple of newsletters. Both publications are also used to answer members' queries. If our extensive library can't help with queries, then our membership invariably contains someone who can help, however specialised or esoteric. There are informal meetings held in various UK locations as well as our annual get together for our AGM.

Membership costs presently £5 per annum. Further details can be found on and contacts can be made via OPAL's website: www.mclstamps.co.uk/opal/opalhome.html.

The Contents of this Issue

Bernd-Dieter Buscke specialises in the postal history Jordan and translations of his articles in TÜRKEI-SPIEGEL will feature regularly in coming issues of MEPB. He starts a series on early cancellations in Transjordan with Late Use of Postmarks of the Kingdom of Syria.

Regular author Rainer Fuchs charts his journey on some unusual Iraq Railway Post Stamps he was offered: through diligent research and modern examination methods, he exposed these as fakes.

Postmark Record Sheets of Mandate Palestine come rarely onto the philatelic market: I can show a number of examples from two auction houses and provide some background given in a 1976 article by the late Marvin Siegel.

The renowned Jordan and Palestine specialist Dr. Avo Kaplanian has reworked and updated his 2005 study of the varieties of the Revenue Overprints on Jordan's 'Palestine Aid' Obligatory Tax Stamps of 1947 and 1953. Avo also supplied a new Nablus AM postmark on a 1956 official postal circular, following up on the articles in MEPB 3 and 5.

Rainer Fuchs noticed a posting by Hans Nast on Germany's BDPH website enquiring about 1957 Lebanon Cedar Definitives with a very unusual surcharge: it's on the back of the stamps!

Dietrich Ecklebe writes in World Cultural Heritage in Jordan: The Decapolis.

Book Reviews included Ayman Dayekh's The Paper Money Collectors' Guide by Mahdi Bseiso; Freddy Khalastchy's Baghdad in British Occupation; and a concise look at Amsterdam Postage Stamp Society's 80th anniversary publication APS Tachtig.

Rainer Fuchs appeals to collector's of Baghdad–Haifa Overland Mail to collaborate in his research. Though such material is snapped up in auctions, his please remained unanswered. As editor I can speak volumes about people hesitating to come forward, though gladly when probed many do then cooperate.

Edward B. Proud's death leaves a huge gap in philatelic research: his archive and books were invaluable sources of material. Gladly, the Royal Philatelic Society London (RPSL) announces the acquisition of his archive.

In the Archive Section the series on postal history and related notices from the Official Gazettes for Palestine is continued for the year 1928.

100th Anniversary of the Capture of Jerusalem

As my appeals for material have fallen on deaf ears, I decided to drop the idea, rather than publishing something sub-standard and disappointing. I seek have have a piece covering the whole of World War I in MEPB 10. Once again my appeal: if you have something suitable, or can point me towards such material, please do come forward!

Contributions

I will consider any article of quality for potential inclusion: be it a large article with original research, a small piece looking at a particular aspect, a concise description of an interesting cover, or a long-forgotten piece of research rediscovered. It can be original writing, or material already published.

I will advise and help with anything that is offered. Translation into English can be arranged, and all steps and processes are closely coordinated with the author.

Articles should be submitted as plain text (TXT), rich text (RTF), LibreOffice/OpenOffice (ODT), MS Word (DOC, DOCX) or Adobe Acrobat (PDF). Images can be JPEG/JPG- or PNG-files in 300dpi (or higher) resolution.

Rights to texts and images not belonging to the author should be cleared, or at least be flagged-up, so that I can deal with any such issues. If in doubt: just ask! I will strive to resolve any such occurring problems.

If you think you can contribute to the journal, please do not hesitate to contact me!

Acknowledgements

I'd like to thank again all contributors and all those aiding and encouraging me in the creation of this journal. The list would be too long to print here, so I name just one non-philatelists, who, as native speaker, helped me with proofreading and gave advice on style of writing, namely Colin Booth.

My special thanks go the Baha Obeidat for translations in preparation of the inclusion of THE ARAB COLLECTOR in the Journal Reviews section.

Several organisations and persons gave me general permission to reprint articles from their journals and archives. One person I have especially to thank is Barry D. Hoffman, copyright owner of F. W. Pollack's The Holy Land Philatelist.

Many thanks to all!

Translator and Proof-Reader Needed!

I'm looking for help in editing this journal, namely volunteers willing to translate or check translations (German/English, Dutch/English, Arabic/English) or to proof-read material submitted.
