Prof. Dr. Ulrich Ferchenbauer (VÖB, AIEP) is certainly one of the most outstanding specialists on Austrian postal history of our time; however, when it comes to Turkey, he does not always stand on solid ground. Here some findings by Ferchenbauer are to be scrutinised. The cover in fig. 1 was sold as lot 7629 at 3,000 sFr. after starting with an estimate of 750 sFr. only.<sup>1</sup>

Ferchenbauer certified on 9th February 2020:

TURKEY, postage stamp issue 1869 1 Ghrusch (Piastre) "Duloz" type with overprint in Type III, rough perforated 7, on address side single stamp as well as a horizontal strip of six on the reverse side. Altogether complete, small-format envelope from inner Turkey via PERA and CONSTANTINOPLE to STRZEBOWITZ in Austrian Silesia; Michel No. 15 B (7) [...].

The Ottoman postal territory was divided into three zones from 1st January 1868, the 3rd zone comprising all those places which were more than 200 postal hours away from CONSTANTINOPLE (equivalent to about 1,000 km) and the rate was 6 Ghrush or Piastrs, these are paid for on the reverse. For letters carried by sea the rate was increased by 1 Ghrush or Piastre, this stamp is pasted on the address side at the bottom left.

Although there was no contract between the Austrian and Turkish postal services at that time, the letter was transferred in CONSTANTINOPLE on 17/10 (according to the Gregorian calendar) and forwarded without taxation - it arrived in Schönbrunn B. H. (the place of delivery of STRZEBOWITZ)<sup>2</sup> on 26/10; the letter dates from 1871 (see oval transitional postmark of PERA dated 5/10/71 - according to the Julian calendar. [...]

Fig. 1a: The cover's reverses side with the 1 Piastre strip-of-six.

The auction house has added a note to the lot description:

Unfortunately, the provenance of this envelope cannot be determined from stamps or handwritten notes on the envelope. However, one can assume that it comes from Harput, a neighbouring town of Elazig, which was socially and economically more active at the time. Since the beginning of the 1850s, there was an American missionary school, from which many correspondences came to Europe and the USA. Elazig was on the main Basra–Istanbul route in 1871, which explains the transit postmark. This cover shows the correct franking for the Turkish part of the journey with 6 piastres for the third distance stage (more than 1000 km) and an additional piastre for the city delivery in Istanbul to the Austrian post office.

Ferchenbauer's explanation of the franking is not correct. At least Corinphila's in-house expert has noticed that Ferchenbauer is mistaken. It is true that the seapost postage was indeed 1 Piastre, but it applied from port to port (littoral) and was not levied as an additional charge. A different postage would have been due for the land route to the port. If the cover was transported exclusively by land, the 6 Piastres postage was sufficient for the distance (over 200 hours by road).

In its original version, this article would have continued like this:

There is no plausible explanation for the 1 Piastre stamp on the front of the letter. Corinphila suspects an alleged 'city delivery,' i.e. a charge for forwarding from the Péra post office to the Austrian post office a few hundred metres away. This cannot be true either. So the mystery remains why the sender (Corinphila suspects an American missionary school in Harput) used 7 instead of 6 Piastres, and why Austria did not charge postage for its own forwarding.

However, things turned out differently: in order to decipher the postmarks, I asked several collectors for help. Fellow philatelist Volker Fredebold was then able to identify the two-circle cancel on the reverse (this is clearly below the postage stamps) and the triple rectangular cancel cancelling the stamps (see table) and thus explained the conundrum of the 7 Piastres franking:

According to Fredebold, the letter went on its journey unfranked and was cancelled with the triple rectangular cancel "Ma'muret-ül-'Aziz". The postage by land route to Constantinople was 6 Piastres. The main post office there struck its two-circle postmark "Deraliye," affixed the strip of six 1 Piastres on the reverse and cancelled the stamps with the triple rectangular postmark “Deraliye.” Then the letter was forwarded to the Austrian post office by city post and another 1 Piastre stamp was affixed for this delivery, now on the front of the cover.<sup>3</sup> The treatment by the Austrian Post Office, which did not issue a taxation marking, however still remains unexplained.

Transfer from Ottoman Post via City Post to Foreign Post Office

Volker Fredebold presents the following cover (fig. 2), which illustrates the city delivery when a letter was handed over to a foreign post office:

The letter to Livorno in Italy was posted at the city post office in Beyoğlu on 14/26th September 1871. From Beyoğlu, the letter was carried by the state city post office for the fee of one Piastre, which was collected by means of ordinary postage stamps, via the main Bahçekapısı city post office to the Austrian post office.

The Austrian post office received the letter unfranked and affixed a tax mark. It was then transported on the usual postal route by ship to Varna, from there by rail to Rustschuk and further by Danube steamer to Vienna, where it arrived on schedule on 29th September 1871 after three days of transport.

From Vienna, the letter was transported by the Austrian Southern Railway to Padua in Northern Italy, where it was transferred to the railway to Livorno. It finally arrived there on 3rd October 1871 after a total of seven days in transit. The fee for the complete postal journey by Austrian post from Constantinople to Livorno was collected from the recipient to the amount of 35 Centesimi.

The Solution

After publication of the original article,<sup>4</sup> AROS member Hans-Dieter Gröger contacted me and presented a conclusive explanation.

Sfr. Volker Fredebold had identified the postmarks and came to the conclusion that the letter went on its journey unfranked, just with the triple rectangular postmark “Ma‘muret-ül-‘Aziz” applied. The overland postage to Constantinople amounted to 6 Piastres, this was affixed at the main post office and cancelled with the triple rectangular postmark “Deraliye”. The letter was then forwarded by city post to the Austrian post office and another Piastre was affixed, now on the front. However, there was still no explanation as to who paid the postage, as the Austrian post office did not issue a tax marking.

Gröger can now explain this conclusively: The sender belonged to an Austrian institution that enjoyed exemption from Austrian postage. An agent of this institution (or a member of the embassy) paid the 6 Piastres postage at the Istanbul main post office during his regular postal service, as well as the 1 Piastre stamp on the front for the referral to the Austrian Levant post office. The transfer was always made by the state post office, not by the city post office. This is clearly shown by the cancellation of the 1 Piastre stamp. If the letter had been sent by the city post from one of its post offices to a Levant post office, it would always have been cancelled with the point cancel (Brandt/Ceylan type XXVII, A or B), never with an oval cancel of the city post office.

From the Austrian Levant post office, the letter was sent postage-free to the institution in Vienna presumably with other items (note the red chalk mark “2” in the circle with signature). From there, again under official postage paid cover, it was then delivered postage free (transit marking of Schönbrunn railway station)<sup>5</sup> to the addressee.

And it is precisely this treatment that makes the letter so interesting from a postal history point of view that it has been raised from starting price of 750 sFr. to the hammered result of 3.000 sFr.

Mission Bopp: Persia via Baghdad 1916

Volker Fredebold. Amir Dolatabadi, and Mehrdad Sadri*

The gestation of this article started with a research request by Arno Schmolke in the journal of Arge Deutsche Feldpost 1914–1918<sup>1</sup> in 2020, and subsequent replies by Walter Stegmüller and Rolf Haspel, with Horst Borlinghaus adding a new cover. When preparing a reprint for TÜRKEI-SPIEGEL, I made further enquiries to identify the markings on that cover involving the help of Volker Fredebold. Amir Dolatabadi, and Mehrdad Sadri.

This enquiry about “Mission Bopp” in Persia appeared in RB 215:<sup>2</sup>

Mr. Arno Schmolke encloses a field post letter with the postmark “Marineschiffspost No. 14” cancelled 19th May (1916). The sender is Unteroffizier (Corporal) Ludwig Meyer “Mission Bopp durch Deutsches Konsulat Bagdad” (Mission Bopp via German Consulate Bagdad). The sealing strip has been removed. Glue residues are still clearly visible (fig. 2).

To support German interests in Persia, the German Army Command ordered the creation of a Deutsch-Persische Militärmission (German-Persian military mission) in the summer of 1915. This was placed under the command of Colonel Bopp and consisted initially of 20 officers, later increased to 27. The mission was to form a Persian army. The contact address was the German consulate in Baghdad. Who knows more about this mission?

This was followed-up in RB 216:<sup>3</sup>

In reply to Mr. Schmolke’s question in the last journal on details about the “Mission Bopp” came responses from Mr. Walter Stegmüller and Mr. Rolf Haspel which complement each other and are based on the same sources. Haspel writes the following:

Politically, Persia was divided into Russian and British spheres of interest. Germany’s interest was to preserve the country’s previous independence. The German Foreign Office decided to pursue a Persian policy independent of its ally Turkey. In the summer of 1915, the “Deutsch-Persische Militärmission” (D-P-M-M, German-Persian Military Mission) was formed with its headquarters based in Baghdad. It was assigned to the 6th Turkish Army, whose supreme commander became Field Marshal von der Goltz.<sup>4</sup> The leadership of the D-P-M-M was assigned to Colonel Bopp. Both arrived in Baghdad on 6th December 1915.

The aim of the mission was to organise and lead the Persian army, spark an uprising, convince Swedish officers to the German cause and win Persian tribes for a war of liberation. On 1st January 1916, Colonel Bopp and several German officers went to Kermanshah to get an idea of the military situation.

Arthur Bopp – Biographical Remarks by Heiko Kregel<sup>6</sup>

Arthur Bopp was born in Stuttgart on 12.12.1860 as the son of a cavalry officer. He attended the cadet school in Oranienstein and the Prussian Main Cadet School in Groß-Lichterfelde. He served in the Uhlanen regiments No. 7 and No. 20, as well as in the Dragoons regiments No. 7 and No. 25. Bopp retired on 27.01.1909 with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He entered Ottoman service in the same year to assist in the reorganisation of the Turkish cavalry. During this time, Bopp was stationed in Erzincan in eastern Turkey. While still in Turkey, Bopp was promoted to Colonel on 6.12.1913. He returned to Germany in 1914. He was reactivated soon after the outbreak of war. Bopp took command of Landwehr Infantry Regiment No. 78 on 9.11.1914. After a time of sick leave at the beginning of 1915, he took command of Landwehr Infantry Regiment No. 30 on 21.03.1915; in addition, he commanded Section III of the wartime occupation of the fortress of Metz from April 1915. On 9.10.1915, Bopp was assigned as Chief of Staff to General Colmar von der Goltz's army in Mesopotamia.

On 29.12.1915, v.d. Goltz assigned to him the supreme command of all German-Turkish troops in Persia. After these units were pushed back by Russian troops in the direction of Iraq, Bopp's command was dissolved. He retired without military command to his castle in Mühlhausen, where he was reactivated only in March 1918. He was first appointed deputy commander of the Württemberg 52nd Landwehr Infantry Brigade, then commander in May 1918.

With this unit, Bopp advanced from Ukraine to the Sea of Azov in spring 1918, where Taganrog and Rostov were captured in May/June. In the summer he led the so-called Battle of Lake Mius (12./13.06.1918) to repel a Bolshevik landing corps. Following the destruction of the enemy units, according to his own account, Bopp had 3,600 captured Bolsheviks executed on 14.06.1918. On 8.11.1918, he was promoted to the rank of Major General. In December 1918, Bopp returned to Germany via Odessa. On 31.01.1919 Bopp was demobilised and retired into private life, he died in Mühlhausen on 30.10.1928.

The literary estate of Arthur Bopp is archived in the Hauptstaatsarchiv Stuttgart and has already been partially digitised.<sup>7</sup> It is very likely that this material has not yet been fully evaluated. There is probably still a lot to be found for the military and postal historian.

To reinforce the Persian front, the “Sondermission P” (Special Mission P) was formed under Duke Adolf Friedrich of Mecklenburg.<sup>8</sup> Despite minor successes, the Russian army continued to advance, occupying Kermanshah in early March and reaching at Hanikin on the Turkish-Persian border in April. In his report, Colonel Bopp described the German-Persian venture as a failure.

In the summer of 1916, the Turkish army again launched a military offensive against Russia with the participation of small German units. All troops on the Persian and Mesopotamian fronts were now grouped together as the “Deutsche Irakgruppe” (German Iraq Group). The initial successes did not last long and by the end of March 1917, Persia had been evacuated and the Persian adventure was over.

Field Post covers from Persia and the D-P-M-M are quite rare. The first Field Post station “FELDPOST MIL. MISS. A.O.K. 6” was established in Baghdad on 11th September 1916. Before that, mail went by courier to Constantinople, later also to Aleppo (opened on 13th April 1916), and was handed to the postal staff there. It was also possible to send mail via Persian and Turkish local post offices. There are various markings of “D-P-M-M” and “Sondermission P.”

Ottoman Censorship Markings of WWI Part II: Positive Censor Markings A–H

by Hans Paul Soetens

Copyright © 2021

As indicated in Part I<sup>1</sup> there is a wide variety of forms found in censorship markings although some limited standardisation did exist, for a period of time at least. Here we do not refer to the similarity of İstanbul, Galata or İzmir markings (to be dealt with in the third part), but to the five pointed star markings from the Arab provinces for instance, of which both positive and negative markings exist. Another example are the boxed two-line markings which mainly exist from a number of offices in the Aydın, Hüdavendigâr, and Konya vilayets in Western Anatolia.

The listings presented here are just an overview of a collection built over a long period of time with information and illustrations added from other sources. This makes it very likely that many more censorship markings exist. In this light it is very beneficial that in June 2021 John Garton presented his collection of covers with censorship markings in a 131-page book: “Turkey Ottoman Empire, Military Censorship during World War I 1914–1918”.

In order not to impair on his copyright and affect sales of the book – I will only present the names of the offices and the pages in his book where respective additional censorship markings are to be found. Further to the 73 censorship markings from the offices starting with A to H listed below, Garton shows 10 additional markings:

- Ankara (boxed one-line) – Garton p. 92
- Antalya (oval) – Garton p. 63
- Bagdad (round with dateline) – Garton p. 122
- Bandırma (round) – Garton p. 90
- Bayburt (boxed) – Garton p. 118
- Bolu (two-line) – Garton p. 102
- Burdur (Bandırma type) – Garton p. 59
- Denizli (Bandırma type) – Garton p. 69
- Dinar (Bandırma type) – Garton p. 88
- Fethiye (Bandırma type) – Garton p. 70

Serbestir Censor Markings

Regarding the Serbestir (“serbesdir”) markings<sup>2</sup> I want to make reservations regarding the allocation of (some of) these markings to the offices in Beirut. In my opinion all printed matter coming from countries west of the Ottoman Empire passed Constantinople and were censored there. A corroborating fact is that I have seen the round Serbestir markings used in 1915 only, the oval ones – in more than one size – in 1916 and the rectangular ones in 1917. That most of these wrappers seen were directed to Jerusalem indicates only that at least one person in Jerusalem collected the wrappers instead of discarding them, the usual fate of newspaper wrappers.

<sup>2</sup> serbesdir = free (of censorship). Note that instances of “št” or “st” in modern Turkish are actually “sd” in Ottoman Turkish: “شَد” or “سَد”.

The proposed allocation to different years indicates a pattern, however more material is needed to arrive at any definitive attribution. The Serbestir censor marks are usually placed under Dersa'adet and appear in my listings accordingly.

Edirne Markings in Red

The occurrence of the red Edirne censor markings with and without the outer border line gives the impression that two postmarks were used. Because the strikes appear to be completely identical, the outer border line may have been removed from the devices a few months later in mid-1916. The markings from these two offices can be differentiated by the first “س” in sansürce: flat in office 1 and “w”-shaped in office 2 (figs. 14 & 15).

3 The first session of the Grand National Assembly of Turkey took place on 23rd April 1920. The censorship mark shown above could therefore not have been used earlier than mid-1920. From 1876 until its abolition on 5th April 1920, the Ottoman General Assembly (meclis-i 'umūmī) operated in Istanbul.

Hejaz Railway Revenue Stamps on a 1916 Quarry Bill

by Tobias Zywietz with help from Osman Levend Seral and Hakan Yılmaz

Copyright © 2021

A friend of mine (who will remain nameless) was offered an Ottoman document bearing several revenue stamps for the Hejaz Railway. As we found out, there is no connection to the railway and the erection of the line from Damascus to Mecca, although the stamps did contribute to the project's funding. I have to thank Osman Levend Seral for transcribing the document and Hakan Yılmaz for his help.

The line of the Hejaz Railway (سكة حديد الحجاز = sikkat ḥadīd al-ḥiğāz) was originally planned to better connect Mecca and therefore of political and religious importance. By the outbreak of World War I it had only reached Medina: in its final stage it consisted of the main line of 1320 km with several branches, one going to Haifa. The costs were estimated at 4 million Turkish Pounds in 1900, some 28% was covered by donations from Muslims, the remainder by the Turkish state, and some of this portion came from the use of Hejaz Railway stamps on taxable documents, like bills, court judgments, land purchase documents, and company papers, to name only a few.

The transcription of the document (figs. 1 and 2) reads:<sup>1</sup>

As we are the builders of the minaret of Nasr'Ullah [mosque] being constructed under your auspices, the total of daily fees for Master Repairmen and Labourers employed from the seventeenth day of the month of September to the twenty-third day are three hundred eighty four and a half piastres as mentioned above whilst we acknowledge that this [sum] has been disbursed and distributed from hand to hand as per your payment schedule. 30th of October 332 [12th of November 1916]

Turkey 1917: Ox Head Overprints on Cover

by Hofrat Ing. Hubert Gerzabek

Copyright © 2020

I would like to show and describe some interesting covers from my “Ox Head” overprint collection.<sup>1</sup> Generally rare and sought after are letters on which only stamps with this overprint were used as franking; mixed frankings, on the other hand, are more common. Interesting are also covers with stamps of the Ottoman Empire mixed with stamps of the Republic of Turkey.

The Overprint

When the stamp issues of 1915 and 1916 which were surcharged with crescent and star, were mostly used up at the beginning of 1917, some available un-overprinted sheets from remaining stocks of older issues (from 1865 onwards) were surcharged by letterpress with the initials P.T.T. for “Posta, Telegraf, Telefon,” the year 1332 (= 1917) and a star at the top (schematic representation on the right).<sup>2</sup>

The composition of the Arabic characters پ (p, above) and ت (t, left) and ت (t, right, mirrored) is commonly referred to in Europe as “Ox Head” or “Beetle” overprint because of its pictorial resemblance.

Taking into account the size of remaining stocks, at first 1,100 series have been compiled: these consist of 141 individual surcharged stamps. Of these, 388 series remained with the Main Postal Directorate,<sup>3</sup> while the other 712 series were sold to stamp dealers in Istanbul on 25th March 1917.

Dealers had to apply and place deposits in advance. Within days the large number of interested parties and speculators drove up the price of the series from 7 to 60 Turkish Lira.

From overprinted stocks available in larger quantities, another 8,498 series were soon compiled and sold. These consisted of only 63 individual overprint stamps (MiNr. 485–545). The rest was then issued to cover shortages and for sale individually at post office counters.

The Rarities

The number of 141 individual stamps was raised shortly afterwards to a total of 146 values by surcharging a further 5 values, either 556 or 700 copies each. These new values are among the rarities of the already rare Ox Head overprint issue.

1 Some backsides of covers are not shown, mainly for not adding anything substantial to the cover's story. (editor)

2 Illustration taken from Birken, 2018. Most literature does not mention the small crescent at the bottom, which is hardly or not at all discernable on many stamps, but evident especially on lighter overprints (such as in fig. 11). (editor)

3 Passer, 1938, writes on p. 130: “Of these, 388 sets had to be sent to the Universal Postal Union in Berne, [...]”. (editor)

To meet special requests from Europe, another 13 series of 146 stamps were subsequently produced.<sup>4</sup> However, the overprints on these stamps were produced by hand-stamp.<sup>5</sup> On these the surcharge's colour is not always the same as the original, namely ten overprints are black instead of red and four overprints are red instead of black.

In addition, as is to be expected in Turkey, sheets of stamps not intended for the Ox Head overprint have been surcharged by mistake. These six random overprint stamp values are therefore very special rarities (MiNr. 495b, 498a, VII, VIII, 582, and 594).

It is therefore not surprising that very early on and with speculative intent and to the detriment of collectors many false Ox Head overprints have been placed on the market. In order to maximise profits, especially cheap old stamps were used for such forgeries.

The Covers

Fig. 1: Registered cover franked with Ox Head overprints 5 paras (MiNr. 597 on MiNr. 213), 5 paras (MiNr. 551 on MiNr. 108, printed matter stamp) and 25 piastres (MiNr. 537C on MiNr. 92C). Departure cancel Galata 4 of 9.05.1917 and Turkish censorship marking 2. The letter never arrived in Leipzig, as it was intercepted by German customs and returned.

4 Passer, 1938, says on p. 130: "After the sale of all the complete sets, it was necessary to produce another thirteen complete sets for persons of high rank." (editor)

5 Birken, 2018, notes on p. 62: "The colouring is stronger, the shape of the imprint slightly larger and many are struck at a slight angle." (editor)

A First Hand with Second Hand The First Revenue Stamps in Former Ottoman Territories

by Oscar van der Vliet

Copyright © 2021

Who would have thought of that: From a taxation for suppression in an old country to an impression on a taxation in a new country. Fortunately, we can use the old revenues for this purpose which is very cheap! This commercial of a phone company in Holland has become a classic this way and its principle of re-using stamps of a former country was used in many countries of the world but I will limit myself to the countries that gained independence from the Ottoman Empire. Not all the areas used old stamps with some modifications, as far as I know. In Africa, nothing is known of Cyrenaica and Egypt, and also from Cyprus there are no Ottoman ‘transition’ stamps.

Although the decline of the Ottoman Empire had been going on for several centuries, the phenomenon of re-use of tax stamps did not arise until after 1875. The map below (fig. 1) shows the periods and areas seceding.

I. Secessions and Autonomies in the 19th Century

Eastern Rumelia (1878–1885)

The oldest ones I have come across are from Eastern Rumelia. Due to its short existence, not many tax stamps are known. The forerunners are already very scarce. Values of the proportional tax stamps from the series of 1875 and 1879 (figs. 2 and 3) were used for this purpose with the surcharge of “ROUMELIE ORIENTALE”. From 1880, they issued their first series from which some lower values appear on the market from time to time. It then became part of Bulgaria in 1885, which itself had reached an autonomous status only in 1878. Some such documents with black embossed imprints are occasionally offered on the market purported to have been issued in Bulgaria but you need to be an expert in Ottoman Turkish if you want to figure that out.

Figs. 2 and 3:

20 Piastres (1875) and 10 Piastre (1879).

Crete (1878–1890)

The next area that continued to use the same tax stamps during its first semi-autonomous status (1878–1890) was the island of Crete in the Ottoman period known as the Vilayet Kirid (Girid). I believe this had to do with the Halepa Charter in which greater self-government was agreed. A share of collected revenue was hypothecated for use on the island. Unfortunately, there was increasing fraud within the tax system, which eventually resulted in the treaty to be dissolved in 1889.

The tax stamps for this period can be distinguished by five specific hand-stamps, each set for a district (figs. 4 to 8). Proof of the 5th district was found only in 2019 when the prominent revenue collector Ralph Ebner presented a stamp from İsfakya.

Figs. 4 to 8: District hand-stamps for the collection of taxes:
Hanya, İsfakya, Resmo / Hanya / Kandiye / Laşit.<sup>2</sup>

There are other hand stamps, but they only indicate that the tax has been doubled and I think they date from after 1890.<sup>3</sup>

I've written about this before<sup>4</sup> and will now limit this article to the types and stamps used on which they are found:

- Proportional Fee series 1875 up to 10 Piastre (found from Hanya, Kandiye,<sup>5</sup> and Laşit) (fig. 9).
- Proportional Fee series 1879 up to 10 Piastre (all types found) (figs. 10, 11, 12).
- Proportional Fee series 1890: 1 Piastre (İsfakya and Kandiye recorded) (fig. 14).
- Proportional Fee series 1879 for the provinces: up to 10 Piales (Resmo, Hanya, and Laşit) (fig. 12).
- Receipts and Aquittances with blue overprint from 1888: 10 and 20 Paras (Hanya and Resmo 10 Paras found) (fig. 15).
- Newspaper and Advertising Fee series 1875: 2 Paras (only recorded for Kandiye).<sup>6</sup>
- Newspaper and Advertising Fee series 1879: 2 Paras (Hanya, Kandiye and Resmo) (fig. 16).

During the period of occupation by the Allied Powers from 1897 onwards, however, no Ottoman stamps were printed but they issued their own.<sup>7</sup> The stamps document a short period during which Crete was not free, but was given more control, if only for a short time.

Currencies on Crete Stamps

The Cretan State received new stamps in Lepta values in 1900. 10 Lepta was equal to 10 para. The Ottoman range was 10, 20 Paras; 1 Piastre, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7½, and 10 Piales. The Cretan State range was 1 Lepto, 5, 10, 20, 25, 50 Lepta, 1 Drachmai, 2, 5, and 10 Drachmes.

The 25 Lepta did not match an Ottoman value and the 50 Lepta in minor cases. The taxation laws remained unchanged with the result that almost no 25 Lepta stamps were used (unless in multiples) to meet the demand of the fee. So far one document found in the last 15 years. Most were overprinted to 10 Lepta to compensate for the high demand of the 10 Paras shortage.

Then it was not until about 1912 that borders shifted again, with existing stamps being used for a while with an imprint for their own region. One of the reasons for this was the Balkan War:

II. Consequences of the Balkan Wars

Dodecanese Islands (1912–1919)

During 1912 to 1915, Rhodes and 12 other Aegean islands declared independence and expected to join the kingdom of Greece. However, due to the Italo-Turkish war, the islands were occupied by the Italians in May 1912. It was not until 1920 that Greece recognised Italian rule over the islands. In the end, this was not an independence process but a form of colonisation by Italy.

For the early years they used the existing tax stamps with various types of overprints in the old currency. From 1916, Italian tax stamps were also used. This takeover had fiscal consequences for the Italians! The existing debts of the Ottoman Empire were recalculated and a residual debt was declared for the conquered parts. For the Italians, themselves part creditor, it was therefore important to continue the collection system of the Ottoman Public Debt Administration, “Debito Pubblico Ottomano” in Italian. Later on, it appears that this was also executed for other new territories.

The Petradakis catalogue of tax stamps of the Dodecanese<sup>8</sup> shows from 1912 onwards various types of adhesive tax stamps, hand-stamped in three languages, namely Italian, French and Greek:

OCCUPAZIONE ITALIANA
OCCUPATION ITALIENNE
ΙΤΑΛΙΚΗ ΚΑΤΟΧΗ

In the case of pre-printed values on documents, a round hand-stamp shows that the tax was collected by the Italians.

A closer study in the book shows that there are 4 different stamps known in which the font size varies somewhat. The colour of the hand-stamp varies from light purple to black and in a few cases to dark blue (fig. 17). Other overprints only came into use in the period 1916–1919 with extensions until 1921. An example is shown by Petradakis<sup>9</sup> for a Fixed Fee series of 1909 with the overprint “Comando Corpe Occupazione dell’Egeo”.

Also at that time several types for the repayment of the Ottoman state debt came into circulation with the overprint “Debito Pubblico Ottomano”. Most of the imprints are in black, but in a few cases a red imprint was also used (figs. 18 and 19).

For the entire conquered territory Ottoman Revenue stamps were used as general stamps for the collection of the money for the repayment of the residual debt. For the individual islands the Italians had taken an existing Italian stamp of 2 Centesimi in reddish-brown colour from the 1901 series (Yvert & Tellier no. 65) and overprinted these with values from 2 Paras to 3 Piastres and the following island names: Caso, Cos, Karki, Leros, Lipso, Patmos, Rodi, Scarpanto, Simi, and Stampalia.<sup>10</sup> Stamps exist with the new value surcharge but without any island name.

Fig. 19: Red overprint of 5 Piastres on a stamp for Theatre Tax valued 20 Paras of series 1906.

For the island of Rhodes, Ottoman currency was used on Italian tax stamps until 1928. It was not until 1948 that the first Greek tax stamps were used on Rhodes.<sup>11</sup>

Albania (1912–1916)

The Congress of Berlin of 1878 laid the foundation for the division of the European part of the Turkish territories among the many claimant nationalities. This applied especially to the Serbs, Montenegrins and Greeks, but the claims of the Albanians were ignored. The Albanians, the majority of whom were Muslim, had accepted the Ottoman domination longer than the surrounding areas.

When Albanians claimed their rights, they realised that their European neighbours had no fixed vision of their borders, nor did they have a tradition of diplomatic relations. Instead, they were threatened by Serbs, Montenegrins, Bulgarians, Austrians, Italians, and Greeks. Shifting alliances were forged to ensure that foreign armies stayed out of their territory. However, during 1913 to 1919, Albania was occupied by more nations than any other European country. Riots broke out in central Albania, Koritza, and in Epirus. Allied armies of France, Great Britain and the USA came ashore to instil and keep order.

Not every regime issued (tax) stamps but the activities attracted the attention of collectors and traders. Otto Bickel<sup>12</sup> visited Albania several times and was, together with Gustav Freyse,<sup>13</sup> strongly involved in promoting the recent issues. From Alfred J. Forbin,<sup>14</sup> known for the only Fiscal stamp catalogue of the whole world in the early 20th century,<sup>15</sup> it is known that he visited Corfu and Chimara with the attempt to buy temporary issues. In Barefoot<sup>16</sup> a number of groupings and periods of use have been created where mostly Ottoman tax stamps have been used. I will only deal with those issues:

Valona Provisionals (1913)

In ancient times, Valona was called Aulon (Αυλών), originally a Greek settlement on the Illyrian coast. After independence was declared on 28th November 1912, Valona became the first capital of Albania. It would remain so until the Italians occupied Albania in 1914 and chose Durrës as their capital until the Italians were driven out in 1920 after a revolt.

Some issues are known with a double-headed eagle with wings ‘down’ under curved text in capitals “SHQIPERIA”, issued by the temporary government of Valona (Vlonë or Vlorë). Considering the turbulent period, Barefoot states that it is unlikely that the stamps were used for their original purpose. The specimens that survived the turbulence came into circulation largely through the trade. The imprint is normally black in colour. The Ottoman tax stamps used include series from 1909 (fig. 20) and 1913 (fig. 21). The latter series can be recognised by an additional coloured background.

A second type with the wings ‘up’ and thicker feathers was used on the same stamps in about the same period (fig. 22). However, it is not known which authority issued this imprint. These and other Albanian issues are occasionally offered for prices starting at US-$ 20 each.

The 'Dutch Gendarmerie' in Albania

The history of Albania in that period has also been given a Dutch flavour: At the request of the Great Powers, the Dutch government sent Major General Willem de Veer (1857–1931) as head of mission, and Major Lodewijk (Louis) Thomson (1869–1914) together with 15 junior officers to reorganise the gendarmerie there. However, they found themselves in a hornet's nest. Several were wounded in fights with Greek nationalists or made prisoners of war by Albanian rebels. After differences with de Veer, Thomson was appointed head of the Albanian Army by ruler Prince Wilhelm. On 15.06.1914, Thomson was killed in the siege of Durrës. The Dutch mission ended in August 1914.

Greek Occupation of Valona (1913)

So far only three different stamps are known from Barefoot with an Albanian overprint "QEVERIË E SHQIPERISË" (Government of Albania) and a Greek overprint "ΕΛΛΗΝΙΚΗ ΔΙΟΙΚΗΣΙΣ" (Greek administration). It is unknown which was placed first, but it is a fact that the Albanian overprint is not known without the Greek overprint or any other overprint. The Greeks were in Valona for only a short time so the chance of using these stamps was very small (fig. 23 and 24).

Figs. 23 and 24: 10 Paras Fixed Fee<sup>18</sup> and 20 Paras Proportional Fees series with both overprints

Central Albania: Durrës (1913–1916)

Essad Pasha Toptani,<sup>19</sup> an Albanian Muslim, conquered the central part of Albania including the town of Durrës and ruled it with Italian and Serbian support as a semi-autonomous regime until 1916. The Serbian army succumbed to the pressure of the armies of Bulgaria and Austria, after which Essad Pasha fled to Italy. Essad Pasha's regime used Ottoman tax stamps with hand-stamped imprints. It is possible that the stamps were hardly used for tax purposes. The specimens that survived the time appear with postmarks with the text "DURRËS" in blue and violet. In this short period, three different types of imprints have been found:

Eagle with Spread Wings (1913–)

The double-headed eagle is of a different model to the Valona one and came into use in 1913. Of what remains, some were cancelled to order. Others remained unused. Genuinely used stamps are therefore rare.

Specimens have been found on various types of tax stamps from the 1909 and 1913 series (figs. 25–27). In my opinion specimens for a hunting permit, building permit, fishing permit, and firearms permit must be regarded very rare as there are no images available in Barefoot's work and I have not seen them in the last 10 years either.

Remarkably, there are also stamps of "VELORE" (fig. 28). It is unclear whether these are modern forgeries as I do not know where the boundaries have been exactly.

Fig. 27: Pair of 2 Paras Newspaper Fee series 1909.

Fig. 28: 10 Paras Fixed Fee series 1913 with VELORE postmark.

Eagle in Finer Print with Tighter Wings (1913–)

Of this type Barefoot reports only a 10 Paras Proportional Fee of series 1913 with blue hand-stamp. I have found a specimen but can hardly say whether this is the black stamp or a very very dark blue one (fig. 29). The copy has not been cancelled.

Fig. 29: Example with the finer surcharge on a 10 Paras Proportional Fee series 1913.

Fig. 30: Enlargement of hand-stamp on a 1 Piastre Proportional Fee stamp of series 1913.

Round Hand-Stamps (1914–)

In Barefoot, this type is indicated as being from 1914. Characteristic is a small blue hand-stamp usually placed over the tughra, the insignia of the Sultan. The stamp is usually blotchy so that the following text is difficult to read: “SHQIPENIES MESME PLEQENIA” (Senate of Central Albania). In the inner circle there appears to be a symbol resembling a double-headed eagle (fig. 30).

So far only examples of this type have been found on Proportional Fee stamps of the 1909 and 1913 series, the Fixed Fee series of 1913, and on receipt stamps of the 1909 series.

In contrast to previous issues in Albania, a few examples have surfaced with postal (fig. 31) and fiscal use (figs. 32 and 33). I have my doubts about the postal example because the mail piece looks nice. The piece was postmarked “27–12–1913” in Durrës for dispatch to Trieste. That is earlier than the year 1914 mentioned in Barefoot.

In Cervati's Almanac of 1913<sup>20</sup> the Italian post in Constantinople uses 1 Piastre for a letter up to 20 grammes in Europe. Every 20 grammes extra was 30 Paras. For this area I have no tariffs so it is possible that a double weight letter required double tariff. What I also find strange is the extra stamp which to me are looks more a form of decoration than fulfilling any function. One can no longer ask the persons involved.

What I feel better about is an example of two telegram receipts with on the back two stamps of 10 Paras Fixed Fee series 1913.

Fig. 31: Front side of multi-franked letter from Durrës (27.12.1913) to Trieste.

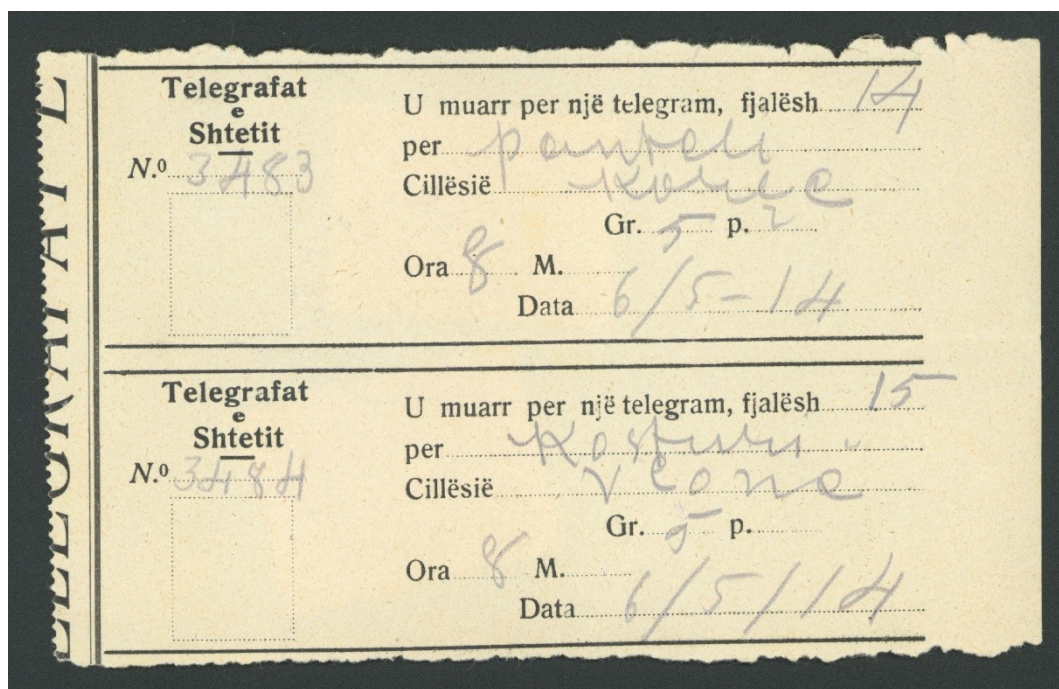

Fig. 32: Front of telegram receipts for dispatch to Korçe and Vlonë.

The slips, inscribed in pencil, are numbered as messages nos. 3483 and 3484 for telegrammes of 14 and 15 words, respectively, made out on 6th May 1914.

The first telegram was for Mr. Panteli in Korçe while the second was sent to Mr. Kosturi in Vlonë. Both telegrammes were for the price of 5 Groush (Piastres) while on the backside two 10 Paras stamps have been applied to legalise the receipts.

It looks like the message was actually sent only one week later, considering the postmark of 14th May 1914 with the caption “ZYRA E TELEGRAFEVET” (office for telegraphy) in Durrës.

Fig. 33: Two adhesive stamps for legalisation of the receipts:
10 Paras Fixed Fee (series 1913) for each receipt.

Finally an example with the surcharge on a pair of 5 Paras Proportional Fee (1909 series) with a larger type postal date-stamp: “19–3–1914” (fig. 34). The rate matches for use as an adhesive stamp on various documents but I miss features such as signatures and other personal signatures often written on the stamp or crossing-over from the document to the stamp.

Fig. 34:

Occupation by Montenegro (1915)

From June 1915 to January 1916 the army of Montenegro occupied Scutari, before they were driven out of the area by Bulgarian and Austrian troops.

The one stamp known so far by Barefoot, a 1 Piastre Fixed Fee from the 1913 series, had the Cyrillic overprint “КРАЉЕВИНА ЦРНА ГОРА” (Kingdom of Montenegro). Most of these (figs. 35–39) were later overprinted with an Austrian design.

Examples of actual use are not yet known.

Figs. 35–39: several values Proportional Fee series 1913.

Austrian Occupation (1915)

Although the occupation lasted longer than just for the year 1915, it is only for this year that the issues with Ottoman tax stamps can be found.

In the first phase, the stamps produced by Montenegro were imprinted “Albanien Oe. U. M. O.”<sup>21</sup> at right angles to the existing imprint. “Oesterreichisch-Ungarische Militär-Okkupation” translates as Austro-Hungarian military occupation (figs. 40–44). As far as we know they occur on some Proportional Fee stamps of 1909 and 1913, Fixed Fee of 1913 and Transfer Tax of 1909.

21 Standing for “Albanien Oesterreichisch-Ungarische Militär-Okkupation.”

On eBay I also came across a 1909 Account stamp which is not in Barefoot's catalogue:

Figs. 40 to 44: 20 Paras Proportional Fee series 1913; 10 Paras Proportional Fee series 1913, 20 Paras and 2 Piastres Fixed Fee series 1913 and account stamp series 1913.

Remarkable is a copy with the blue stamp of the Central Government of Albania, provided with the Austrian overprint. Besides this lengthy version for Austria, there are also copies known with a narrower overprint (fig. 47). A 20 Paras Fixed Fee of series 1913 shown in Barefoot under no. 19 shows part of a stamp and pencil cancellation for actual use. From 1916 Austria issued new stamps with Heller and Kronen denominations.

The breakaway continues in the areas of the Balkan War (figs. 45–48).

Greek Occupation of Aegean Islands and Eastern Thrace (1912–1920)

Aegean Islands

The tax stamps in this issue are difficult to trace. In 1912 several islands declared their independence and wanted to merge with Greece. This resulted in a war between Greece and Turkey. Greece occupied several islands in the Aegean Sea; Epirus near Albania and some parts of Anatolia and Thrace. Epirus remained under Greek influence during the period 1914–1916, after which Italy took control and merged it with Albania in 1918.

In the Aegean, Greece took possession of Samos, Chios, Mytilini (Lesvos), and Lemnos. Today these islands are part of Greece. On the mainland, Greek forces occupied parts of Macedonia north of Saloniki and continued in the area of Western Thrace up to Dédéagatsch (Alexandropolis). The latter area was disputed by the Bulgarians who had conquered it from the Turks in 1912.

Greece occupied the area in the period July to August 1913 and again in September 1913. Gumultsina (Komotini) was another important town in Western Thrace and was taken by the Greeks in the period July to August 1913. Before the area came back under Bulgarian control, the Greeks regained control of the area, i.e. Anatolia to Thrace up to the Nestor River including the town of Cavalla.

There are three different setups detailed in Barefoot:<sup>22</sup>

ΕΛΛΗΝΙΚΗ
ΔΙΟΙΚΗΣΙΣ

Horizontal version (1a).

ΕΛΛΗΝΙΚΗ
ΔΙΟΙΚΗΣΙΣ

Vertical version (1b).

ΕΛΛΗΝΙΚΗ
ΔΙΟΙΚΗΣΙΣ

Larger vertical version
(Chios?) (2).

Barefoot mentions the use of these stamps on Fixed Fee series from 1900 and 1905 but the stamps that are offered the most are from series 1913 (figs. 49 and 52) and are not mentioned as such; Court Fee stamps from the period 1890–1910 (fig. 51), Proportional Fees (fig. 52) from series 1909 and 1913 and account stamps from series 1909.

In contrast to Albania, relatively more used values are possible and the height of the values can run up to 500 Piastre or half of a Turkish Pound (or Lira), at that time a gold coin. The Turkish Lira exists to the present day but you can't get a single sweet for half a Lira these days. An example on document as used on 6th August 1914 in Mytilene (fig. 53).

Eastern Thrace (1920)

When Bulgaria was defeated in World War I, Allied forces began to occupy the area of Western Thrace. In accordance with the Spa Conference of 1920, Greece was given the mandate to govern both East and West Thrace. After 20th August 1920, both territories were annexed to Greece. In 1922, war broke out again between Greece and Turkey. This time, in July 1923, Eastern Thrace was permanently returned to Turkey, which was further reinforced by the Treaty of Lausanne in 1924.

From West Thrace only tax stamps of the “Victory issue” from 1912 are known with overprint for that area. For Eastern Thrace also various types of Ottoman tax stamps exist with the overprint. “ΕΛΛΗΝΙΚΗ ΔΙΟΙΚΗΣΙΣ” may have been used in the first semester of 1920. Barefoot shows some types in his work, other types and values have surfaced on the internet. For instance, besides the Court stamps (fig. 54) and Religious Court stamps (fig. 55) of series 1909, there are overprints on which “ΣΥΜΒΟΛΛΙΟΓΡΑΦΙΚΟΝ” is added or a notary tax stamp, followed by an overprint with values in “ΓΡΟΣ.” (Groush = Piastres).

Fig. 56 is a 10 Piastre Court Fee stamp from the 1909 series which has been converted for notarial use by a red overprint. The black overprint and value adjustment to 100 Groush is, like the other two stamps, unknown to Barefoot. Personally I find it strange that the green 1916 3 Piastres Fixed Fee stamp was not overprinted.

III. New States in the Middle East

Iraq: Baghdad (1915–1917)<sup>23</sup>

The Mesopotamia Expeditionary Force (Indian Expeditionary Force “D”) captured Fao in November 1914. British and Indian troops went on to occupy the port of Basra on 22nd November 1914 to protect the strategic oil pipeline in nearby Persia. They moved inland along the Tigris river and after a lengthy campaign<sup>24</sup> captured Baghdad on 11th March 1917, Mosul followed in 1918. Allied troops finally reached Baku, Azerbaijan, in 1918. On 25th April 1920, at the San Remo Conference, the Allied parties mandated the United Kingdom to administer the territory of Iraq.<sup>25</sup> Emir Faisal, King of Syria in 1920, was proclaimed King of Iraq on 23rd August 1921.

Major Henry Dobbs was appointed tax officer in 1915 and introduced the Indian currency system for the new military government to collect taxes (figs. 57–69). The overprints are classified into three groups:

“IRAQ” Provisionals (1915–1917)

This area is still sparsely documented: there are only a few recorded revenue stamps. Characteristic is only the purple hand-stamp “IRAQ” in various formats where the existing Turkish currency is still maintained. The stamps appear on Ottoman tax stamps (fig. 57 to 59) as well as some Indian tax stamps.

Barefoot lists almost 40 different values but I think more will eventually appear. The fragment of fig. 57 is only known to Süleymaniye<sup>26</sup> and the fragment of fig. 58 is not known to either Barefoot or Süleymaniye. They are rare and if you see one for sale on eBay it will fetch 50 € or more.

Arabic Overprint from Baghdad with Changed Value (1917)

In my opinion this is a bit of a strange issue but it is a first step towards a new monetary system. Both are mentioned in the work of Barefoot and Süleymaniye. Only the latter uses different dates of issue for the first group different dates of issue.

Of this series five different examples are known so far. Figs. 60 and 61 occur with the tughra of series 1909 and with the larger tughra of 1916. These stamps are also rare. Süleymaniye puts down 100 € or 60 € for these values and shows the overprints on the 1916 series!

English and Bilingual Overprints (1915–1917)

These overprints are characterised by the imprint “REVENUE” in different types and the value is indicated in Indian currency. Some values also have an Arab overprint. It is unclear to me why this was done. I think the combined overprint is a precursor to the other overprint which only occurs in English. However, the time of issue is unclear. Figs. 62–65 show a number of different overprints of this group. Fig. 65 is an example of what Barefoot lists as 1915 and Süleymaniye as 1918. The document fragment is from 1918 (fig. 66).

At least 25 different stamps of this group are known. Stamps from this series are scarce to rare. Values on the internet vary, depending on quality, description and time, from a few Euros to € 100.

Iraq: Mosul (1919–1921)

On 1st November 1918, British and Indian troops occupied Mosul. As the status of the vilayet was still under discussion, stamps bearing the imprint “IRAQ IN BRITISH OCCUPATION” were withdrawn in early 1919 and replaced by Ottoman tax stamps bearing the following imprint:

POSTAGE

I.E.F. ‘D’

1 Anna

The abbreviation I.E.F. stands for “Indian Expeditionary Force” and the “D” for Mesopotamia.<sup>27</sup> The series came into circulation on 28th January 1919. In 1921 the imprint was replaced by “IRAQ IN BRITISH OCCUPATION”. In 1925 the vilayet was allocated to Iraq by the League of Nations.<sup>28</sup>

The stamps were for postal use. The series is sometimes offered in its entirety but often in separate values, mostly mint. I have seen only a few used stamps so far and what is offered then looks like it has been stamped on demand. Letters may exist but I have not seen them yet. The images in figs. 67–69 show some values from the series.

27 A = France, B and C = East Africa, D = Mesopotamia, E and F = Egypt and Palestine, G = Thrace and Gallipoli.

Palestine & E.E.F. (1917–1918)

British and Allied troops of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force and the Force in Egypt regrouped under Lt. Gen. Sir Alexander Murray as Egyptian Expeditionary Force (E.E.F.) effective from 20th March 1916.

Turkish advances on the Suez Canal were repulsed in 1916/1917, and E.E.F., under the new command of General Sir Edmund Allenby, started its offensive on Palestine in February 1917. The Ottoman troops, together with their German and Austro-Hungarian allies, defended Gaza for most of that year. The city finally fell on 7th November, with E.E.F. advancing to Jaffa (15th November) and Jerusalem (8th December 1917).

Further advance came only in the autumn of 1918, reaching Tulkarm on 19th December and Haifa on 23rd September, followed by Damascus (1st October), Beirut (8th October) and Aleppo (26th October). In parallel, Arab troops under the leadership of Grand-Sherif Hussein Ibn Ali, aided by British advisers (T.E. Lawrence, et al.), advanced northwards on the East bank of the Jordan. An armistice with Turkey was agreed at Mudros on 30th October 1918.

The occupied territories were divided into several military administrative zones: O.E.T.A. (South) = Palestine; O.E.T.A. West (initially North) = Lebanon, Latakia, Alexandretta, O.E.T.A. East = Transjordan and Syria, and O.E.T.A. North = Cilicia. Under the Sykes-Picot Agreement, the areas were divided between the Allies: Palestine and Trans-Jordan for the British, the rest of Syria for the French, and transferred to civilian administrations in 1920. In July 1922 the League of Nations agreed a mandate on Palestine, which formally began on 29th September 1923.

It is not quite clear to me if the stamps with the hand stamp “EEF” were used during the campaign or also after the agreement of the “Armistice of Mudros” on 30th October 1918.

So far I have seen some fragments on which Fixed Fee stamps of series 1916 have this bold hand-stamp (fig. 70). At an Israeli auction a few years ago I also saw an example used on a document, and there are examples in the Commonwealth revenue catalogue of Barefoot. I think the series is quite long with values up to 37½ Piastres but so far I have only seen low values up to 1 Piastre.

Jerusalem (1918)

For the city of Jerusalem the two-part Ottoman Rental Contract of series 1883 and 1892 with red Arab imprint “for 10 Paras” and the blue initials “JM” (Jerusalem Municipality) were used for a short time. I don’t have an example but show the kind of stamp without the imprints under fig. 71.

Lebanon (1920) and A.D.P.O. (1919–1926)

In Ottoman times, Lebanon was part of the province of Syria. The population consisted largely of Maronites, Greek Catholic, Greek Orthodox, and Druze, as well as Muslims.<sup>29</sup> The varied communities on Mount Lebanon enjoyed an autonomous status within the Ottoman Empire following the civil-war-like disturbances between Maronites and Druzes in the Summer of 1860: upon pressure from France, Great Britain, Austria-Hungary, Prussia, and Russia, the Mutasarrifate Mount Lebanon was created in 1861 with the mutasarrif to be a Christian and being directly appointed by and accountable to the Sublime Porte.

In 1918 troops of the Egyptian Expeditionary Force (E.E.F.) reached Damascus on 1st October, Beirut on 8th October, and finally Aleppo on 26th October. In parallel, Arab troops under Grand-Sherif Hussein advanced northwards to Damascus. An armistice with Turkey was agreed at Mudros on 30th October 1918.

The occupied territories were divided into several military administrative zones, of which O.E.T.A West (initially called North) covered Lebanon, Latakia, and Alexandretta. Under the Sykes-Picot Agreement Syria and Lebanon was placed under French control, and transferred to civilian administrations in 1920. In July 1922 the League of Nations agreed a mandate on Syria, which formally began on 29th September 1923.

The French mandated areas were divided on 1st September 1920 into several ‘states,’ one of which was Greater Lebanon (Grand Liban, Dawlat Lubnān al-Kabīr): it consisted of the Mount Lebanon Mutasarrifate (Cebel-i Lübnan Mutasarrıflığı), the Sanjaks of Tripoli and Beirut (both in the Vilayet of Beirut) and areas in the Bekaa Valley (part of Damascus Sanjak).

Until 1919, Ottoman tax stamps were used throughout the area. Until at least 1920 various series were provided with different types of overprints maintaining the old currency system, until at least from 1922 they were replaced by French tax stamps in French currency.

In Duston’s study there are 45 different issues where the overprint with the abbreviation “O.M.F.” has been used. Figs. 72 and 73 show two notary tax stamps with this overprint and fig. 74 a court seal. In 7 cases this is combined with a hand-stamp with the abbreviation “T.E.O. OUEST”. Examples of this are hard to find. So far I have only found a Hedjaz Railway stamp with this combination 29 1913 estimates: Syriac Maronite 58%, Greek Orthodox 13%, Druze 11%, Melkite Greek Catholic (8%), Sunni Muslims 6%, Shī‘ite Muslims 4%.

(fig. 75). Finally from 1919 two different kinds of passport stamps are known to have been used as imprints on theatre tax stamps of 20 Paras. The first has the text “Mabata” (passport) and the value of 100 Piastres and the second shows the text “Passeport” and the value of 20 Piastres (fig. 76).<sup>30</sup>

A handful of taxes like Notary Taxes (figs. 72–73) and Court Fees (fig. 74) have cachet with the text “LIBAN” and the Arabic text “لبنان” flanked by two cedar trees. The examples below of the three values of the 1912 Court of Justice series with overprint “Notary” for 1914 (figs. 77–79) is not in Duston. An example of a doctor’s bill with the Notary Tax stamp of 1912 series (figs. 80 and 80a) is listed as no. 1 in Duston at US-$ 200 (for a single stamp...).

A.D.P.O. Z.O. (1919–1926)

After the occupation of the Ottoman territories, the levy for the repayment of the state debt to the European creditors continued. Various types of tax stamps were printed with “A.D.P.O.” (Administration Dette Publique Ottomane). Because the French mandate was split in an area with Lebanon and an area with Syria, the additional imprint “Z.O.” (Zone Ouest) was applied for Lebanon. The conversion rate at the time was: 1 French Franc = 5 Piastres with 40 Paras = 1 Piastre and 100 Piastres = 1 Ottoman Pound (Livre).

In Duston’s book, 19 different A.D.P.O. types are described. In three cases (Duston nos. 4, 5, and 13) the imprint “Z.O.” was added later and in 7 cases (nos. 14–19) the imprint “Z.O.” was added. In

30 “P.S.” = Piastres Sham, as opposed to “P.T.” (Egyptian Piastres Tariff).

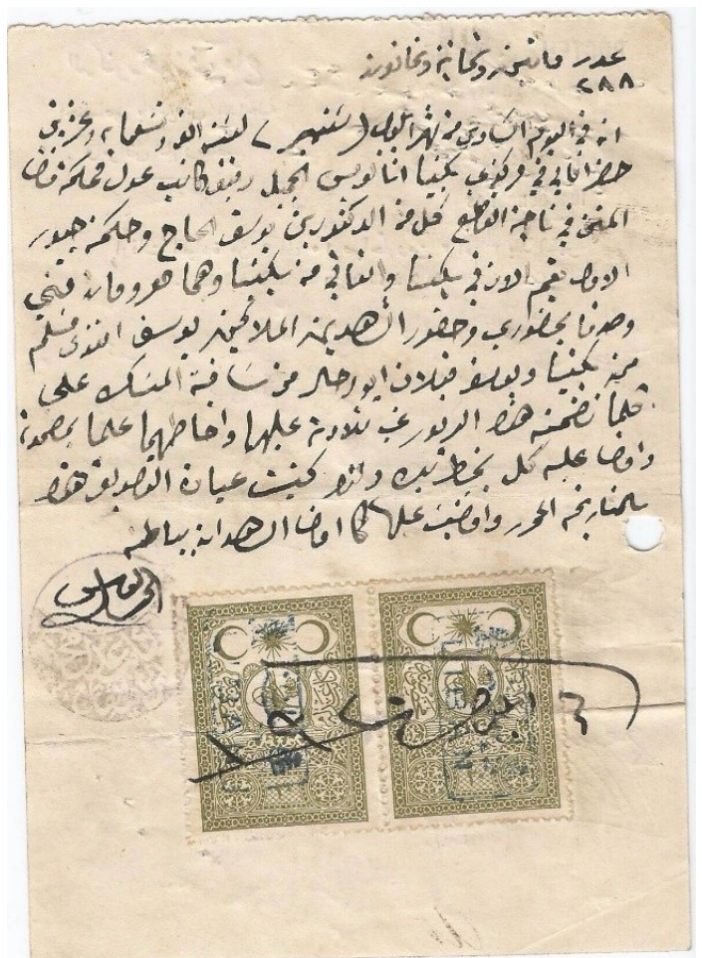

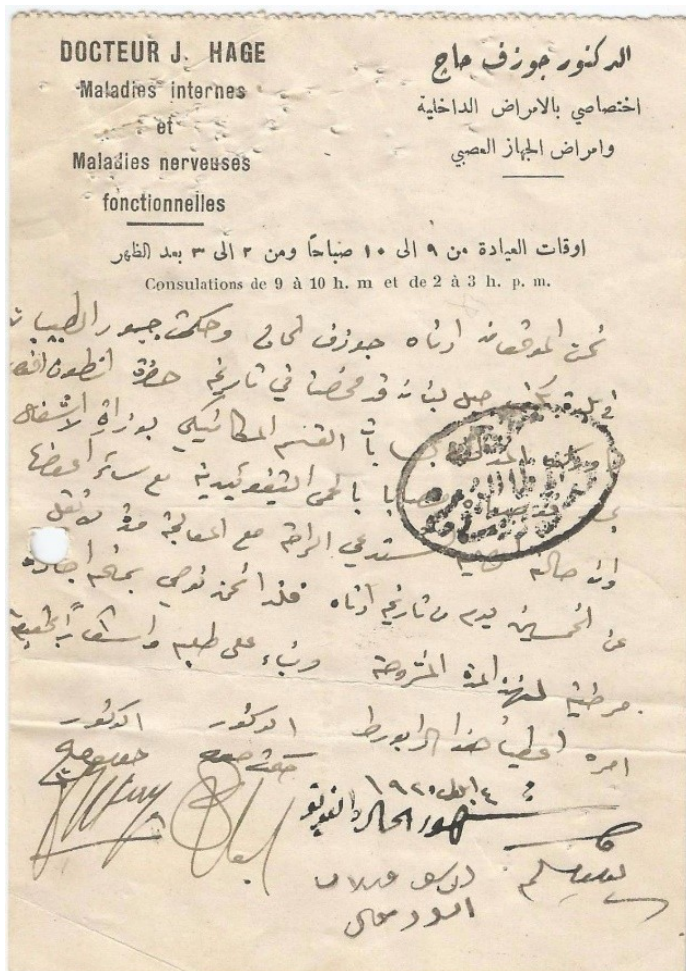

31 Feature a boxed censorship cachet “T. E. O. OUEST / CENSURE”.

7 cases (nos. 14–19) only in combination with the imprint “Z.O.” whereby there is still one variant (no. 15A) regarding the printed value. The types with a later overprint with “Z.O.” only occur with a new value.

A.D.P.O. Z.O. (1919–1926)

After the occupation of the Ottoman territories, the levy for the repayment of the state debt to the European creditors continued. Various types of tax stamps were printed with “A.D.P.O.” (Administration Dette Publique Ottomane). Because the French mandate was split in an area with Lebanon and an area with Syria, the additional imprint “Z.O.” (Zone Ouest) was applied for Lebanon. The conversion rate at the time was: 1 French Franc = 5 Piastres with 40 Paras = 1 Piastre and 100 Piastres = 1 Ottoman Pound (Livre).

In Duston’s book, 19 different A.D.P.O. types are described. In three cases (Duston nos. 4, 5, and 13) the imprint “Z.O.” was added later and in 7 cases (nos. 14–19) the imprint “Z.O.” was added. In 7 cases (nos. 14–19) only in combination with the imprint “Z.O.” whereby there is still one variant (no. 15A) regarding the printed value. The types with a later overprint with “Z.O.” only occur with a new value.

The other series, Duston nos. 16, 18, 19, and 20, only occurs with “A.D.P.O.” on the Proportional Fee series 1916 and with no. 17 only on Real Estate Transfer. Where the imprints are also accompanied by a value, it appears that the change in value may differ. The differences I see are as follows:

- Type 4, 5, 13 Fixed Fee: “p.s. 0,75” on 10 Paras (first used in Syria)
- Type 14, 15, 16, and 18 Fixed Fee: “p.s. 0,50” on 10 Paras

Currencies in Syria 1918–20

Bernardo Longo writes in an article on the “Fleurion d’Alep”:<sup>32</sup>

The rich caravan city of Aleppo was the financial hub of the Kingdom of Syria and as such was much more sensitive to economic aspects than to political ones, [...]. So, when the French, following their “political marketing of the image”, wanted to adopt their O.M.F. stamps already in use on the coastal area (from Alexandretta to Tyre passing through Beirut and Mount Lebanon), the Aleppian public opinion did not oppose except to induce the French administration to use nominal value to be given to these stamps: the Egyptian gold Piastre. It was the British military government that issued a decree on 18 November 1918 to imposing Egyptian currency establishing the exchange rates between Turkish Lira, the Damascus Piastre and the Egyptian Piastre.

20 Turkish piasters or 25 piastres Sham = 1 majidi → 12 Egyptian (Piastres)

8½ majidis = 208½ Sham piastres = 100 Egyptian piasters or 1 Egyptian (paper) £

The rate of Turkish piastres to Egyptian piastres is measured by the quantity of silver in the currency itself as showed by the Government’s testing.

The postage stamps of the former Kingdom of Syria were expressed in the Egyptian gold Piastre, it was worth about three times the Syrian Piastre value applied on the stamps used on the coastal area since 1 May 1920. It was therefore decided by adopting the OMF stamps to give them the value in Egyptian Piastre only for the “intramuros” city of Aleppo. So the postage stamps that on the coast had a value of about ⅓ of an Egyptian Piastre are found almost three times overvalued in our Syrian city. [...] In fact, in the former capital of the Kingdom of Syria the stamps in Egyptian currency were still used. This lasted until 31 May 1921, in fact only from 1 June the same stamps of the K.o.S. overprinted “O.M.F. Syrie” with new monetary values in Syrian currency were issued. [...] The French occupying authority considered it wiser to keep in use stamps of former Kingdom of Syria, always in Egyptian currency, in order not to hurt a public opinion [...].

32 Longo, 2021, pp. 26–32. Note that the text quoted here is severely abridged. (editor)

Below are four different types of overprint and different colours (figs. 83 to 86). An exception is a “Dette Publique” that was used in 1927 as a continuation of the A.D.P.O on a 5 Paras Proportional Fee series 1916.

Alaouites (1920)

The Ottoman Sanjak of Latakia (Lazkiye sancağı) was a coastal strip north of Lebanon belonged to the Vilayet of Beirut. It became part of the French mandated area on 1st September 1920, divided into several ‘states,’<sup>33</sup> one of which was the autonomous territory of the Alawites (Territoire des Alaouites) which became the State of the Alawites (État des Alaouites) in 1922. In 1930 the area was renamed as Government of Latakia (Gouvernement de Lattaquié).

In the aftermath of the Great Syrian Revolt these artificial ‘states’ became part of the State of Syria Federation and later the Syrian Republic. The 1936 Franco-Syrian Treaty was never ratified by France, but led to the ‘states,’ including the Gouvernement de Lattaquié being abolished on 5th December 1936 and re-integrated into Syria.

There are 28 different stamps known by Duston in that short period that Ottoman stamps were in use. The price for a single stamp is quoted at US-$ 100 to US-$ 150. This is an indication that these stamps are very rare. On eBay a document with a missing piece of the corner featuring tax stamps “Droit Fiscal” has been offered for some time. This type of surcharge is not listed by Duston. The lot is for sale for US-$ 1800, but although likely unique not attractive enough to buy for that amount (fig. 85).

Fig. 85: Tobacco tax stamps with imprint for Droit Fiscal and value “2 P.L.S.”.

33 État du Grand Liban (State of Greater Lebanon), État d’Alep (State of Aleppo), État de Damas (State of Damascus), Territoire des Alaouites (from 1922: État des Alaouites, State of Alawites). In 1922, the State of Souaida (from 1927 État du Djébel Druze, State of Jabal Druze) was split from Damascus.

Aleppo and Alexandretta (1920)

In September 1920, Aleppo (together with the Sanjak of Alexandretta) became a separate 'state' with a local government formed. In June 1922 all the 'states' (except Greater Lebanon) were combined into the Syrian Federation (Fédération des États Autonomes de Syrie) with a federal council and a president. In 1924 Latakia was recognised as a territory with its own government and Aleppo was merged with the state of Damascus to form the State of Syria.

Alexandretta, now again part of Syria, had its own administration. A large proportion of Alexandretta's population were ethnic Turks. Turkey began to worry about the status of this population group when serious plans arose to add this area to an independent Syria. The ethnic Turks in Alexandretta, dominating the appointed assembly, went for autonomy and proclaimed the State of Hatay (Hatay Devleti) in 1938, which was annexed by Turkey in 1939. Some French tax stamps exist with overprint "H.D." but this is in fact beyond the scope of this article.

Duston only mentions tax stamps that have been used with government and company cancellations (fig. 86). From 1920 onwards I only see French tax stamps with a single value in Paras and the rest in Piastres.

Druze (1920)

By decree of the French High Commissioner, Syria was divided on 1st September 1920 into several 'states,' one of which was the State of Damascus. The Druze areas in the Haurān were separated on 24th October 1922 to create the State of Souaida, from 1927 renamed State of Jabal Druze (État du Djébel Druze).

In 1925, the Great Syrian Revolt started in this difficult to control part of Syria, headed by Sultān al-Aṭraṣ and 'Abd al-Raḥman al-Šahbanda, it spread to Damascus and other areas of Syria. Although the French eventually quashed the revolt, the result was grearer autonomy, leading to the effective abolition of all the artificial 'states' and the creation of the Syrian Republic in 1930 and the 1936 Franco-Syrian Treaty, which was never ratified by France. Jabal Druze was formally re-integrated into Syria on 2nd December 1936.

Of the Ottoman fiscal stamps only one from 1920 is known for use in this region: a Court Fee stamp of 10 Paras with an overprint of 50 Piastres, in French "État du Djebel Druze" and in Arabic script "جبل الدروز" (Jebel Druze). Unfortunately I don't have a picture of it and with a price indication of US-$ 150 it falls under the most expensive stamps Duston has priced so far.

Syria (1919–1921) and A.D.P.O. (1917–1925)

Modern Syria constituted the main part of the Ottoman province of Syria (Vilâyet-i Suriye). During 1918 the Egyptian Expeditionary Force (E.E.F.) under General Allenby moved through Palestine to Lebanon and along coast to Alexandretta: Damascus fell on 1st October, Beirut on 8th October, and Aleppo on 26th October. In parallel, Arab troops under the leadership of Grand-Sherif Hussein Ibn Ali, aided by British advisers (T.E. Lawrence, et al.), advanced northwards on the East bank of the Jordan to Damascus. An armistice with Turkey was agreed at Mudros on 30th October 1918.

Britain had promised the Grand-Sherif and his son Hussein a new Arab Kingdom in exchange for their support. The General Syrian Congress was convened in 1920 and passed a resolution to establish a Kingdom of Syria including Palestine and Lebanon with Faisal as King. Independence was declared on 8th March 1920. The French and British refused to recognise the new Kingdom and established the mandates over the area at the Congress of San Remo. French troops defeated the forces of King Faisal at the Battle of Maysalun on 24th July 1920 and occupied the whole of Syria.

Fig. 86: Fixed Fee series 1890 of 10 Paras with company stamp from Alexandretta.

Syria underwent a number of administrative changes, the establishment of several 'states,' the separation of Greater Lebanon, a State of Syria federation, the Syrian Republic, and the separation of Alexandretta, before becoming fully independent in 1946.

Kingdom of Syria (1920)

In the Kingdom of Syria various Ottoman tax stamps with different surcharges have been used. There are three types of tax stamps known of which I can show two different ones below (figs. 87 to 89). Furthermore I found a document with such stamps (fig. 90). The stamps were examined by E.W. Stannards: He says they are difficult to read but it is clear that they refer to the Emir's Kingdom instead of a government.<sup>34</sup> There are two other types of stamps but this one reads "الحكومة العربية" (Arab Government) and "الحكومة العربية في سوريا" (Syrian Arab Government).

Damascus (1919–1921)

For a short period, the state and municipality of Damascus had tax stamps of their own, most of which were newly printed. Of the Ottoman stamps only four different values are known on two Justice Stamps and two Religious Court stamps, each with various overprints such as “Gouvernement de Damas” and “État de Damas”. I have no examples available and that is with guide prices from US-$ 100 not so surprising. For the general issues of Syria from 1923 onwards no Ottoman stamps have been used but new stamps have been issued or French tax stamps have been provided with overprints.

Ottoman Public Debt Administration

The Ottoman Public Debt Administration (O.P.D.A.) or Administration de la Dette Publique Ottomane (A.D.P.O.)<sup>35</sup> was established in 1881 after the Turkish state defaulted on its debt in 1875. It was controlled by European creditors<sup>36</sup> and supervised the repayments of the debts of the Ottoman Empire through its own collection system. At its peak it employed more officials and tax collectors than the Ottoman State itself. Taxes from the state monopolies of tobacco, salt, and alcohol were hypothecated to the O.P.D.A., as well as taxes on some agricultural and mining products, fish, and silk. The O.P.D.A. held wide-ranging privileged powers in all areas of Ottoman finances, trade, and industry.

After the defeat of the Ottoman Empire at the end of World War I, negotiations between the O.P.D.A., its bond holders and states' representatives apportioned the remaining debts to Turkey and the other successor states of the Ottoman Empire. The formal O.P.D.A. regime (and with it the use of separate O.P.D.A. revenue stamps) ended in 1925 and the states then had to pay these debts from their regular budgets. A final settlement was reached in 1928 (table below).<sup>37</sup> Turkey made the last payment in 1954. (editor)

A.D.P.O. (1919–1925)

As described earlier for Lebanon, A.D.P.O. tax stamps were made in Syria to pay off the state debt of the Ottoman Empire for the part attributed to this region. The conversion rate for Syria: 1 French Franc = 5 Piastres with 40 Paras = 1 Piastre and 100 Piastres = 1 Ottoman Pound (Livre).

Syria has a greater variety of imprints than Lebanon. To this end, 472 catalogue numbers have been created for Syria, compared to almost 300 for Lebanon. However, there are still many gaps in the numbering and every now and then a stamp pops up that can fill another empty line. Values above 100 Piastres are not known except for a few specimens. The cheapest is valued at US-$ 10 (2000), but nowadays especially the lower values sometimes go for less. There are also examples where the type of tax stamp is changed by an additional imprint. For the rest, Syria has a great variety of series and in contrast to Lebanon, even stamps without a tughra from the 1923 series have been used. A selection of the many types and series that have been used are shown in figs. 91 to 97.

IV. Turkey

Cilicia O.M.F. (1919–1921)

Cilicia, i.e. the Ottoman Vilayet of Adana (Vilâyet-i Adana) is located between the Mediterranean Sea and the Taurus Mountains. Cilicia was occupied by French and British troops in December 1918 and formed "O.E.T.A. North" under French occupation. It was reunited with Turkey according to the Treaty of Ankara signed on 20th October 1921. The border with Syria was confirmed by the Treaty of Lausanne in 1923.

To allow postal traffic to continue, Ottoman stamps were hand-stamped “T.E.O. / CILICIE” (Territoire Ennemi Occupé) and French stamps were surcharged “O.M.F. / CILICIE” (Occupation Militaire Française). According to Duston, no tax stamps with these surcharges are known. It is possible that tax stamps from another region were used in this area.

The only tax stamps that I have found so far are Tobacco Tax stamps that have the imprint “OCCUPATION MILITAIRE FRANÇAISE” in 1920 and the values “3 ½ PIASTRES” and “70 Paras” (1¼ Piastres), nos. 78 and 79 in Yvert & Tellier. The 70 Paras is valued at € 1.40 (figs. 92 and 93).

Anatolia (1920–1922)

The Treaty of Sèvres, signed on 10th August 1920, was one of many treaties in the aftermath of World War I. It marked the beginning of the division of the Ottoman Empire and with it its total destruction. It paved the way for the mandates over Palestine, Syria, and Mesopotamia. Greece was given areas around Adrianople (Edirne) and Smyrna (İzmir), Armenian and Kurdish areas were defined, and ‘areas of influence’ for Italy, France, and Britain were declared within the borders of post-1923 Turkey. The map below shows these division plans (fig. 100). This treaty led to the Turkish War of Independence and the conflicts were eventually dealt with by the Treaty of Lausanne signed on 24th July 1923. This forms the basis for present-day Turkey.

What about the Ottoman tax stamps that were overprinted for postal use? After the Treaty of Sèvres small stocks of old Ottoman stamps were overprinted in the period 1920 to 1922, followed by various types of tax stamps. According to a study by Passer<sup>39</sup> there is no reliable data for the period of use but there are letters that actually ran in that period.

There are in fact two types of overprints: one with the year ۱۳۳۶ (1336 = 1920) and one with the year ۱۳۳۷ (1337 = 1921). In figs. 101 to 103 some different stamps that were used without a change in value for the postal service: “عثمانلی پوسته لری” (osmanlı postalari).

Fig. 102: Ministry of Finance, 5 Paras.

Fig. 103: Court Fee, 10 Paras.

On the internet I found another example of a letter from this period. The letter went from Samsun to Constantinople for a rate of 5 Piastres. A tax stamp for the Tribunal Court was used with an imprint (fig. 98).

*This ends a long history of a succession of changes that made others happy.
Except the tax payer, of course...*

From Britain to India by Imperial Airways: The First Steps

by Schalk W. de Klerk

Copyright © 2021

The first practical step towards achieving the goal of developing Britain's aerial communications within its Empire occurred on 7th January 1927, when Imperial Airways assumed responsibility of, and taking over, the 1,100 miles (1,760 km) air route between London, Cairo, Basra via Gaza, Amman, and Rutbah Wells, to Baghdad, – known as the “Desert Airmail Service”, which had been operated as a fortnightly service between Cairo and Baghdad since 1920 by the Royal Air Force (RAF) – as the first public airmail service in the Empire.<sup>1</sup> The understanding was that Imperial Airways could use the existing RAF airfields, and then extend the service to India.

Here is an envelope flown by the RAF on the Baghdad–Cairo route to England. This cover is dated 7th September 1923, and affixed to it are two Iraqi stamps to the value of 9 Annas. It has the words “BY AIR MAIL” and “BAGHDAD–CAIRO.” typed above the address.

Fig. 1:

Its aircraft of choice was one of nine de Havilland DH.66 Hercules in operation at the time, namely the “City of Cairo” (registration G-EBMW, serial number 236).<sup>2</sup> The new commercial service was initially run at fortnightly intervals and took a little over three days to complete. This route was subsequently expanded east, first to Karachi in April 1929, and then Jodhpur and Delhi, in what was British India, eight months later; passengers were accepted in addition to the mail. Services to

1 Following the Boyd and Nuttall flight in February 1919, the RAF's 31st Wing of the 72nd flew civilian mail as a forerunner to the “Desert Route.”

2 It entered service on the 18th December 1926; was christened “City of Cairo” by King Fuad I of Egypt in February 1927, and was wrecked in 1931. Cf. <https://aviation-safety.net/database/record.php?id=19310419-0>.

Calcutta, Rangoon, and Singapore were inaugurated in 1933, and flights to Hong Kong were started the following year. A subsidised “Empire Air Mail Scheme” began operating between London and Australia in December 1934, and passengers were carried to Australia from early 1935.

Here is a registered envelope carried on the flight from Cairo on 10th March 1926, arriving in Baghdad on 13th March 1926. The postage rated was 42 Millièmes:

The weekly Imperial Airways service between Cairo and Baghdad took just under 12 hours with a halt at Gaza and Rutbah Wells in the desert. At Baghdad it connected with an onward flight to Basra: this became an important stage in the London–Karachi service that was set up in 1929. An Imperial Airways de Havilland DH.66 biplane, "City of Delhi" (registration G-EBMX), piloted by Captain Albert Woodbridge,<sup>6</sup> left Croydon Aerodrome on the inaugural flight to Karachi via Cairo on 29th March 1929 with approximately 12,000 letters. The flight path was via Paris, Basel, Genoa, Rome, Syracuse, Navarino, Duda Bay, Tobruk and Alexandria (Basel–Genoa leg was by rail).

Arrival at Cairo was on 3rd April 1929, Karachi was reached on 6th April 1929. In fact, the flight continued to Calcutta on an unscheduled extension, where it arrived on 9th April 1929. The route for this flight, which departed Cairo every Wednesday, was Heliopolis to Gaza, Rutbah Wells, Baghdad, Basra, Bushire, Lingeh, Jask, Gwadar, and Karachi. A second flight by the "City of Jerusalem" (registration G-EBMZ), which had flown the leg from Genoa to Alexandria, took place the following day. The first west-bound service, from Karachi to London via Cairo, left Karachi on 7th April 1929.

The last British biplanes operated by Imperial Airways on the Cairo–Baghdad run were both trimotors: the de Havilland DH.66 Hercules, which carried seven passengers at 178 km/h (110 mph), and the Armstrong Whitworth Argosy, which carried 20 passengers at 155 km/h (96 mph).

They were succeeded by the first of the four-engine, all-metal monoplanes, namely the Armstrong Whitworth Atalanta, whose speed exceeded that of the biplanes by only 25%; the de Havilland Albatross, which could reach 340 km/h (210 mph) carrying 22 passengers; and the Armstrong Whitworth Ensign, whose capacity was 40 passengers, but which cruised at 275 kph (170 mph).

The International Reply Coupons of Mandated Syria (Syria, Latakia, Lebanon) 1926–1945

by Tobias Zywiets

Following the study of Jordan International (UPU and APU) Reply Coupons published in MEPB 11, and two Research Appeals in MEPB 12 and 15, the focus is now on Syria and Lebanon. This enables us to present a comprehensive, though probably still incomplete, survey of Reply Coupons issued in the French Mandated Territories of the Levant. (editor)

Postal administrations had to order reply coupons from the Universal Postal Union (U.P.U.)<sup>1</sup> which had them printed to a standard design centrally: only the country's name and the selling price were individualised. Given changes in exchange rates and inflation, postal administrations could set a different selling price at will. To sell off existing stock some countries overprinted the original price or adjusted it by a manuscript note.

The set selling price of IRCs can be traced in the Government Gazette BULLETIN OFFICIEL.<sup>2</sup> That information source ends in 1941, so there's a gap for the war years. A 30 p coupon is recorded on 1st August 1945 for Syria, and on 18th March 1946 for Lebanon. This will be covered in a future article. Syria became an independent state de jure on 24th October 1945 (end of the Mandate) and de facto on 17th April 1946. From then on two completely separate postal administrations exist.

Use with Caution: How Comprehensive is Norman J. Collins' "The Crown Agents Requisition Books"?

by Alex Ben Arie

Copyright © 2021

Norman J. Collins' primary source book "The Crown Agents Requisition Books"<sup>1</sup> (a compilation of postal supply orders from the Mandate era, cover shown in fig. 1 to the right) – was one of the last books I acquired, just a few months ago. Until then I had built my philatelic library piece by piece, subject by subject, acquiring the books I needed to progressively understand different periods and subjects. Here though was a book whose name I had come across from time to time but had felt that as a compilation of orders it contained information that I wouldn't really need know.

However as I became more immersed in philately and began specialising more in very specific subjects, like Mandate coil stamps, booklets, and paper types, I found this source book being mentioned more and more, not just as a source of order quantities but as a primary – almost exclusive – source from which information was being extrapolated and conclusions inferred, sometimes by way of linkages between specific stamp types and orders which appeared in the compilation.

Particularly when I began encountering stamps that didn't match the published data, such as dates of use or paper types used, I felt I had to get the book – urgently – and I did, but quite quickly I found many inconsistencies with the information and upon further research I reached the conclusion that this source is vastly incomplete and that at a minimum we must be very careful drawing conclusions from it. This article shares my research and findings.

Collins' Research and Impact

Since the simultaneous discovery of documents from the Mandate postal service in 1979–1980 by Emanuel Glassman<sup>2</sup> and the subsequent assembly of the orders placed by the Crown Agents for the Mandatory Posts & Telegraphs Department, together, paired with the recovered documents and carbon copies held by Arthur Hochheiser and by Norman Collins, this compilation of orders has become the cornerstone for first-hand research of the postal history of the Mandate.

By way of its simple and concise listing of orders by purchase order number, date, breakdown of items ordered plus additional comments, the compilation has lent itself to making easy and intuitive linkages between specific orders and their dates on the one hand, and philatelic material under observation on the other hand.

Its influence is widespread: from the practical side it forms the basis for establishing dates of usage, quantities ordered and paper types used – and more influentially, catalogue classifications; and by extension the subsequent conclusions drawn by this assembly of raw information and derived conclusions has crystallised and defined our conception of Mandate postal history and the parameters of its scope, permeating virtually any book or article that has been published since.

character for '0' being missing. On examination of the registration sheets, I noted that position 221 was normal and did not have this variety. The variety did exist on the unoverprinted EEF stamps and is even on the plate proof held in the Philatelic Section of the British Library. So it would seem that the defect was corrected before the overprinted issue took place. It is possible that a few sheets held in stock from earlier printings might have been used, which contained this variety. But I have not ever seen a copy of London I, 10 Piastre with the variety and assume that erroneous early theories that it should exist have been carried forward in the catalogues.

Page 10 from Collins' book detailing the first entries in the Crown Agents' requisition books on the 1922 Waterlow (London II) issue.

The Bale and Dorfman Mandate catalogues are among the specialized literature that rely heavily on this source to draw inferences, publish production figures by stamp type, and establish their categorised delineations of paper type usages for stamps. Among the articles that have been published, David Dorfman for example links the existence of 7m and 8m 'Pictorials' stamps on thin vertically ribbed paper to being part of a 1934 order (no. 6082) for 5m coils;<sup>3</sup> and Arthur Hochheiser (and others before and since) draws the conclusion that there was only one order of a 3m coil stamp (no. 2932) in 1928.<sup>4</sup> These are just a few examples to illustrate the impact of Collins' publication.

3 Dorfman, 1991, p. 6326.

4 Hochheiser, 1999.

Figs. 3 and 4: 8m on thin vertically ribbed paper (15.04.1933) and 3m on thin vertically ribbed paper (September 1932).

Nevertheless, as illustrated above, I have an April 1933 postmarked 8m stamp on thin vertically ribbed paper which pre-dates Dorfman's published first dates of use of July/August 1934. I also have a 3m stamp on thin vertically ribbed paper postmarked September 1932 – over 4 years after the only recorded order of this denomination on this paper. Clearly there is a problem – either with the empirical evidence or with the source information. And the empirical evidence, wider than shown here, is entirely genuine and legitimate.

Dr. Hochheiser, for whom I have tremendous respect as a researcher who always examined the critical technical-philatelic aspects of “how things work” and whose research work is both unique in its insight and groundbreaking in its conclusions, nevertheless made a disingenuous (and unfounded) comment in his article<sup>5</sup> to help explain why only one order for a 3m coil stamp would exist:

The need for additional rolls was deemed unnecessary since this supplied the postage for printed matter only.

This probably unintended attempt to speak on behalf of unknown entities without documentary basis, in order to rationalise clearly seen but subconsciously accepted shortcomings in the records, is a phenomenon that recurs in regards to conclusions drawn from the data in the Requisition Books.

By contrast on this point, Irwin Math wrote a piece extolling that 3m denomination as the ‘Workhorse of the Mandate’, summing up:<sup>6</sup>

No other stamp without change of color has been used for a greater period of time during the Palestine Mandate than the three mils of the Pictorial issue – twenty one years

Math's position on this point is more persuasive given the genuinely useful and ubiquitous use of the 3m denomination throughout the years of this stamp issue.

With Hochheiser's comment as a segue the greater problem is empirical evidence of stamps existing on different paper types than those listed in the Crown Agents Requisition Books, or existing before or beyond dates listed in that source call into question the completeness of this source. Furthermore, on closer study – even superficially – of the listings, a number of peculiarities immediately arise:

We know from the documentation that Palestine's stamps were produced in the UK and imported from there, but:–

- The record of orders often shows large time gaps between the stamp orders, sometimes as much as 6 months to a year or more.<sup>7</sup>
- In specific areas such as the coil stamps – whose research is heavily reliant on this compilation – we see no orders for coil stamps between 1930 and 1933 and again between 1936 and 1938, a period of tremendous growth and development in the postal services domestically and abroad.<sup>8</sup>
- In another specific case the high denominations of the 'Pictorials' (250m, 500m, and £P.1) were only ever ordered twice (in September and October 1941) – and then never again.<sup>9</sup> From data I will show below, 158,000 parcels were mailed that year, with an average of 170,000 a year up to 1947 (peaking that year at 230,000) – no additional high denomination stamps were needed?
- As regards a seeming inconsistency in the regularity of orders, the 200m 'Pictorials' for example are recorded being ordered once in June 1933 and again six years later in June 1939.<sup>10</sup>
- No consular fees stamps were ordered for two years, between 1923 and 1925.<sup>11</sup>
- Almost no orders are recorded for 1948, although the post office continued to function apace until its wind-down in mid/late April.

Indeed for a record which should be recording the purchase history of a postal service – considered the best in the Middle East – for 30 years, the 40 or so pages of actual orders (some of which are filled up by images of documents, leaving the net space allotted for the orders to less than 40 pages) is thin to say the least. Obvious postal articles are missing from its scope: the actual vending machines for the coil stamps, the pillar boxes for the submission of mail, postmarks, any office supplies and equipment required by the network of post offices in Palestine, vehicles for the transport of mail, and any of the vast network of telecommunications equipment that was part of the Posts and Telegraphs' domain.

I understand that certain subjects in total may not appear in the compilation but I mention these omissions to draw the readers' attention to the fact that much material is missing here – including in the areas that the compilation does cover. If I sharpen this point just a little more, I should mention that in [British] stamp production, one source provided the stamp sheet paper, another source printed the stamp, and another source watermarked the paper – three contracted sources of which only one, sometimes, is listed here; all required purchase orders from the Crown Agents.

Here we stumble upon a delicately presented – but overt – oversight, perfectly capturing my concerns about the Requisition Books, and this will serve as the jumping board for my research:

The Missing Booklets

A glance at the section on postage stamp booklets reveals that only four orders are recorded, one for each year between 1929–1932, representing what the catalogues presently classify as Dorfman's 1st series and Bale's 1st and 2nd series of booklet stamps – but omitting the subsequent issues that are known to have been produced until at least 1939 (i.e. series 3 and 4). Addressing this absence Collins notes dryly that “other booklets are known and listed in specialized catalogues”. Delicately deflecting potential concerns for the omissions – as Hochheiser presumed to speak on behalf of the involved authorities – so too Collins concludes authoritatively:<sup>15</sup>

There were only four printings of stamp booklets in England as will be seen from the Crown Agents' Requisition Book entries, though other booklets are shown and listed in specialized catalogues. All booklets other than those sent out to Palestine by the Crown Agents, must have been made up locally in Palestine. The first printing of booklets was bound by stitching, [...]. The other three printings were bound by staples [...].

This is a clever but disingenuous formulation: Without documentary basis Collins is stating conclusively that a) only these four orders were sent to Palestine; b) other booklets albeit are known – but these weren't sent to Palestine, they were produced there and therefore these would naturally not be recorded in the Requisition Books. Collins sees the deficiency in the record but subconsciously rationalises it. In his opening remarks on this compilation he alludes to information only being as complete as the surviving records, but he doesn't leverage this awareness to confront the information and test if it's reliable enough to draw conclusions from it.

His statement implies that there is in fact no omission in the records at all and that the subsequent issues (presently catalogued as issues no. 2–4) “must” not have been imported in any specially prepared form but rather cut out from scratch, presumably from standard shipments of stamp sheets. That deft summarization – and all that it represents in allaying fears that the compilation may be incomplete – has worked for the last 40 years and amplified the far-reaching conclusions drawn from this record... except for one tiny oversight which undercuts both the point in question and so the completeness of this record:

Collins, Dorfman, and Bale all illustrate stitch-bound and staple-bound booklets as having been part of these documented orders of 1929–1932 – but British-made stamp booklets of this period (1917–1976) were all stitch-bound except one staple-bound booklet issue produced in 1969 (Scott no. BK126). The British also produced stamp booklets throughout the Second World War even though Dorfman writes that due to paper shortages booklet production ceased with WWII – how does he know that? A search through the press archives<sup>16</sup> reveals that stamp booklets of various agencies and bodies existed in Palestine throughout the War ...

As such the Mandate booklets bound by staples – even these early ones – were domestically assembled from shipped guillotined panels of stamps and would therefore be “locally made” like all the others that are unlisted in the Requisition Books compilation. Indeed the Jerusalem newspaper PALESTINE POST of 4th August 1949 credits a local company “Middle East Advertising Company” and its owner Gabriel Roos (who won the franchise to produce Israel’s first stamp booklets) with being the driving force behind the Mandate’s stamp booklet initiative.<sup>17</sup>

A difference in using stitching versus staples is a change in specifications, not a trifling detail. And if we are relying on the habit of the published record to document for instance that booklet orders included both guillotined booklets/panes as well as excess sheet columns to be used as regular postage, if booklets really were produced from scratch in Palestine, we should expect to see a breakdown of a standard stamp-sheet order indicating how many sheets are being earmarked to the production of stamp booklets and how many for regular use. Such information is not in the compiled record.

The absence of the orders of the known subsequent stamp booklets from these records shows clearly that the record is incomplete, and if this record is incomplete we cannot make far-reaching conclusions based on the [few] orders that are recorded.

And how many Orders are missing? A momentary Aside

Initially I thought it may be the number of purchase order numbers that are missing in the sequence of those that are listed. I mention this briefly as a lesson for the reader, because it’s incorrect but instructive: the error in my assumption was that the purchase order numbers were not issued by the Palestine Government or its departments but by the Crown Agents themselves. As such these numbers as they appear in the compilation are random and entirely the product of the CA and their numbering system.

To understand the various document numbers observed in the pipeline of correspondences for purchase orders, in broad strokes, each correspondence sent by a government department or the Crown Agents or a solicited business was issued its own serial/filing number (number “1a” in fig. 10):<sup>18</sup> this was written and date-stamped by the sender; the receiving office would likewise date-stamp the received letter and issue it its own departmental filing number (number “1b” in fig. 10). Any future references to this specific letter would reference it by its assigned filing number (and those letters referencing it would themselves be date-stamped by both the issuing and receiving offices, each one assigning that subsequent letter its own filing number – behold, bureaucracy) – see number “2” in fig. 10.

Here then when the Mandatory government (or a department thereof, such as Posts and Telegraphs) approached the Crown Agents with a request for the purchase of material, they would refer to this request as an “Indent” – “an official request for goods” in British parlance (the word is both a noun and a verb) – and give this “Indent” a number (number “3” in figs. 9–11). Subsequent correspondences between the Mandate Government and the CA on a certain “Indent” would reference its number (all the while generating new filing numbers between each office for the letter exchanged on the matter).

The purchase order number itself was generated by the Crown Agents as “Palestine [purchase order number]” from the moment the CA approached businesses for tenders (see number “4”): in other words this number existed even before a tender was accepted and a contract signed. Both tenders by the companies and the purchase orders issued by the CA reference the purchase order number, the indent number (issued by the Mandate Government) and the relevant Department in the Government, here "P & T" (Posts and Telegraph).

Comparing Stamp Production and Demand

The question is then: How many orders then are missing from Collins' compilation?

Here I'm aided by the first-hand data assembled by Daniel Rosenne in his book "Communication in Eretz Israel During the British Mandate"<sup>19</sup>: he meticulously searched through the P.T.T. Department's annual reports and assembled a table of statistics showing the annual processing of mail from 1920 to 1947 (although for certain years and mail types the data is incomplete). I display it here for the benefit of the reader who may not have seen these statistics before (see table 1 on the next page).<sup>20</sup>

I compared the postal service's annual data on mail processed to the quantity of stamps and stamped postal stationery ordered (i.e. produced) each year, as shown in the Requisition Books, converting sheets and rolls into their equivalent number of stamps (based on the denominations involved, some being 200 stamps per sheet and others 250, or 500 in a roll etc.):

Although Rosenne tabulated data until 1947, I stopped my tallies at 1937 because I began seeing that the total amount of annual stamp production was consistently not keeping pace with the quantity of mail being processed annually.

What I found is that the amount of mail processed each year outpaced the quantity of stamps being produced that year. A rational assumption would be, allowing for stampless (e.g. official) and metered mail to be considered statistically insignificant, that there should be at a minimum parity between the quantity of mail sent and the number of stamps and stamped postal stationery produced – that there should be enough stamps to frank the mail sent at a basic rule-of-thumb rate of at least 1 stamp for every piece of mail sent. Here we see, other than oddly wild variations in stamp production from year to year, that on an almost annual basis, stamp production was usually 40–50% below the amount of mail sent.

Over 17 years I tallied – even with clearly incomplete mail processing data, like for 1921 – we find that if we rely on the compilation of orders, the Mandate postal service was 110 million stamps short of supplying franking to the mail it was sending. Clearly something here is amiss.

Is this possible? Is this the norm? I tried to compare the Mandate to the UK and even to the US, expecting that detailed statistics would be forthcoming. For the US this information was much easier to find, whereas for the UK I was able to establish a link between mail processing and stamp production for just one single year (1939/40).

For the purpose of drawing conclusions let's look at the tabulation of similar annual US stamp production versus annual mail processing – here for certain years the data is aided by an extrapolated value representing metered mail, and this indeed helps complete the picture for the US (see table 3 on the next page).

Here, with almost complete information we see that it was possible for stamp production to be substantially less than the quantity of mail being processed in a given year – usually 25% less on a consistent basis, up from 15–20% in earlier years – but that shortfall was almost perfectly made up by the quantity of stampless and metered mail sent through the posts.

As per my comments below the table, I extrapolated metered mail's 'percent of revenue' as being like 'percent of stamps produced' implying one-for-one parity between the number of metered mails and their face value – for 1937 and 1939 that worked; 1932 is anomalous as the total calculated production of stamps is 90%, where the metered mail is 14.87% of that total, but this merely means that the nominal value of that metered mail was low so that 14.87% "share of revenue" is not equal to the missing "share of production" of 24.87%. In all likelihood metered mail really was almost 25% of the mail processed but only accounted for almost 15% of the stamp revenue that year.

By contrast, Palestine's stamp production fluctuates wildly, and although we don't have any statistics for the amount of metered mail sent, we do know from Sacher<sup>23</sup> that it was small, only being used from 1930: 25 machines in Jerusalem, 19 in Haifa, 4 in Jaffa and roughly 40 in Tel Aviv. Just from mail that I myself examine I doubt that 5% – one out of 20 pieces of mail – of what I see is metered mail (and even that may be an exaggeration): at best, that still leaves roughly 23% of the franking for mail on aggregate for 1921–1937 unaccounted for – and in some years much more.

From this alone we estimate that almost 25% of the postage used for this period is missing from the Requisition Books compilation.

Now we throw the proverbial 'spanner in the works' by referring to the single British statistic that I found: For 1939/40 we find that 7,360,000,000 items were processed by the British post,<sup>24</sup> and 8,395,000,000 stamps produced that year.<sup>25</sup> That comes to a 114% relation of stamp production to mail processed – far in excess of the equivalent number for the US and not yet accounting for the effect of the more widely used meter mail in the UK.

Conclusion

As we can see stamp production data – orders – are indeed missing from the Requisition Books. If we try to quantify how much is missing I would take from the 1921–1937 data an average of the production to mail processing for the years which do not have an extreme result of 150% production or more, and that would leave us with a relation of 64% stamps produced to mail processed. Allowing for as much as 6% of the volume to be accounted for as stampless (official mail and metered mail), this would bring us to 70% – and then at a minimum, without allowing for any excess production, 30% would still be unaccounted for the mail that was sent: 119.5 million stamps. In other words at least 41% of the orders are missing from the Requisition Books – just for the period 1921–1937 alone.

Parting Shots

All this was in aid of testing the completeness of orders for postage stamps. But what about revenue stamps? For the US in 1939, almost as many revenue stamps as “ordinary postage stamps” were produced – 14,684,696,000 to 15,073,796,000;<sup>30</sup> for Palestine in 1937 – the last year of my data examination – the requisition books record... none – no duty stamps were needed to generate income for the Mandate. For 1936 we see 4.2 million revenue stamps in the documented orders (as 13% of the quantity of ordinary stamps produced that year). Those revenue stamps represented a nominal value of £P.7,127... as against the year's alcohol license fees, alcohol excise fees, business registration fees, patent fees and trademark fees totalling £P.7,497... plus broadcast license fees of £P.10,473 and any applicable fees paid with revenue stamps from the year's excise duties totalling £P.359,498.<sup>31</sup> Again, the compiled stamp orders seem to be coming up short.

I extrapolate its original measure as a “percent of revenue” as being relatively proportional to “postage used” that year. The Postmaster General's Annual Reports tabulation of totals in “Statement showing the number of stamps, postal cards, stamped envelopes, and other stamped paper issued to postmasters” includes a few more categories of postal items yielding a slightly higher total; this may account for the 99% totals rather than 100% totals shown here for 1937 and 1939.

There are many other critiques and observations that I have about the Requisition Books compilation but I think with the information I've shared above I've made my point. This is an incomplete primary source from which we have to be careful in inferring conclusions, and as a general proposition we do have to release ourselves from preconceptions formed from its information and go back-to-the-basics and do our own homework researching issues from scratch, from the bottom up.

More Interesting Proofs and Essays of (Trans)Jordan

by Adel Al-Sarraf

Copyright © 2021

I liked the Avo Kaplanian article on Transjordan proofs and essays in MEPB 18.<sup>1</sup> In fig. 1 he shows four essays of King Abdullah of Jordan all dated “31/12/26”. As you can see from the images, these essays belong to me and come from one lot I bought a few years ago. This lot also included archival dated black & white essays and photographs from other issues, including revenues (figs. 2–15). All are genuine and very rare.

Kaplanian states that those four essays mentioned “were part of a foolscap sheet of 50 essays of different British Commonwealth countries prepared in 1926 by the British Printing House Bradbury Wilkinson & Co. Ltd.” While a sheet of 50 is logical, I have never seen or heard of any of the other 49 examples. I personally think they are unique.

On the issue regarding the aborted Arab Union between Iraq & Jordan from the same article, I can show two colour trial essays with designation “Iraq” (figs. 16–21). Avo displayed his essays of the Jordan versions only.<sup>2</sup>

The Bradbury Wilkinson & Co. Ltd. 1926 Essays Sheet

Adel comments that he has never seen or heard of this special sheet. I made enquiries with Avo Kaplanian and he came up with information originally provided by Folkert Bruining: the sheet is depicted on the website of yet another regular MEPB contributor: Rainer Fuchs.<sup>3</sup> It contains cut-out of essays for Persia, the Dunlop company, South Africa, Albania, Tanganyika, New Zealand, Barbados, Iraq, Gold Coast, Uruguay, Portugal, and Transjordan.

The image (shown overleaf) is attributed “Collection anonymous” and “ex De La Rue Archives”. (editor)

More World Refugee Year Palestine Slogan Markings

by Avo Kaplanian

Copyright © 2021

With great pleasure I read the article by Lawrence Fisher and Dr. Ofir Winter about World Refugee Year slogans in MEPB 18. The authors showed eight covers with such slogan marks and repeatedly stressed the fact that such covers with slogans and propaganda markings are very rare and are not easy to find. Of most of such covers from different Arab countries, less than ten copies are known to exist. Of course we are talking here about those slogans which were used in the early sixties in connection with the World Refugee Year of 1960.

Expanding specifically on the theme of Palestinian refugees and adding more material to what Messrs. Fisher and Winter have shown us in their article, I would like to present here some other interesting covers with similar slogan markings.

In the conclusion of the article, the two authors state that as such slogans are “relatively undocumented [...] as very few have surfaced” and such slogan hand-stamps “offer an opportunity to add spice to a collection”. What I am trying to do through this article and its different illustrations is to complement the authors’ article with some of my own covers in order to add such spice to collections, using the authors’ words.

Fig. 1: Cover from Jebel Amman to Canada with the slogan hand-stamp in black reading “REMEMBER THE MILLION PALESTINE REFUGEES / EXPELLED FROM THEIR HOMES ON 15 MAY 1948”.

Of the different slogan covers I have in my collection all are from May 1960 except for this cover which dates from June 1960. This makes this cover (for the time being) as the latest known one so far (15.06.1960).

Fig. 2: A newspaper wrapper from Jerusalem featuring the slogan hand-stamp in violet reading "REMEMBER THE MILLION PALESTINE REFUGEES / EXPELLED FROM THEIR HOMES ON 15 MAY 1948." The wrapper is dated 18.05.1960.

More Lebanon Gum-Side Surcharges (VII)

by Phil Le Page

Copyright © 2021

This topic has been included in previous issues of MEPB,<sup>1</sup> and the database of those stamps to which a line of small symbols has been added on the gum-side has steadily grown. I do not profess to be an expert in this aspect of Lebanon philately, but these issues have intrigued me and I have therefore devoted some effort in trying to acquire examples in order to increase my knowledge, and that of other interested collectors. This article is therefore mostly about what the markings consist of, with some musing on why they were needed to be added.

I was therefore happy to find that I had won several sheets of stamps with this feature, sold by the auction method, on eBay recently. This is a different set of sheets than that described in MEPB 16.

The four sheets comprise:

Cat.	Value	Year
SG 559	0.50 p	1957
SG 582	0.50 p	1958
SG 583	1.00 p	1958
SG 601	0.50 p	1958

In each case, the sheets are of 100 stamps (10×10), with the under-print running vertically down the stamps from part way through the top selvedge and into the bottom selvedge (see fig. 1).

Fig. 1: Reverse of a sheet of 100.

A close-up of the marking suggests a simplified flower or similar shape on its side, with a bud in between two leaves. Perhaps they are the precursor of the “fleuron” used to ‘validate’ stamps issued in the late 1990s.<sup>2</sup> The markings have a distance from centre to centre, or pitch, of around 2 mm (fig 2, to the right).

Examining individual stamps separated from the sheet, shows the marking to be aligned in one of two ways: the “bud” facing left or right.

On seeing the four sheets, I found that the markings appear to consist of strips of half the height of the sheet, sometimes with the orientation changing at the mid-point.

Fig. 3 shows such an arrangement where two strips of markings change orientation at the sheet mid-height (columns 2 and 5, counting from the left, show this aspect).

Fig. 3: The change of orientation in the centre of the sheet.

Not being a printing production specialist I can only suggest that the lines of type containing the “flower” characters were of length equivalent to half the height of the sheet, and that type-face alignment was not strictly to be controlled for “flower” alignment. A further feature was noted in that whilst the “flower” alignment was generally left or right, the “flowers” at the end of each sheet half-height strip were sometimes tilted to 45 degrees (figs. 4 and 5).

Figs. 4 and 5: The ‘tilted’ flower at a sheet’s mid-height and at the top margin.

As to why the markings needed to be added, I have found no explanation in English-language books and websites. A common theory is that stamp stocks were stolen from post offices during the period following the March 1958 insurrection, followed by the assassination of the editor of the newspaper Al-Tallaghraf (The Telegraph) Nasib Al-Matni, in May 1958, which sparked extensive fighting between opposing factions in and around Beirut.<sup>3</sup>

Security markings have been applied to the stamps of Lebanon on several occasions – usually due to looting during the periods of unrest that, sadly, Lebanon has suffered. These should be the subject of a separate article, but one need only to look at the “grills” added to the Flowers, Domestic Architecture, Traditional Costumes and Handicrafts stamp series when these were re-issued in 1978.

A single “fleuron,” resembling a four-leaved clover,<sup>4</sup> was added to several issues of the late 1990s,<sup>5</sup> some of which are among the rarest of Lebanon stamps. Modern Lebanon stamps now bear a secret security symbol, or two, including the Liban Post emblem and/or a cedar, the national symbol.

The Modern Definitive Revenue Stamps of Jordan 1995–2020

by Avo Kaplanian

Copyright © 2021

In 1993 the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan issued a set of eleven definitive postage stamps to be used for franking mail. The set shows the Hadrian Triumphal Arch in the old Roman city of Jerash, about 30 km north of Amman. This set is listed by Stanley Gibbons as nos. 1666–1674 and by Michel as MiNr. 1492–1500. The whole set is in perforation 12×13 and show the Gregorian year 1992 and the Hijra year 1413; except for the two denominations of 50 and 400 fils which are perforated 12½×13 and are dated 2003/١٤٢٤ (50f) and 1997/١٤١٨ (400f) stamp (fig. 1).

After this first set, many other printings followed in different colours, different dates, and different denominations. All are listed in Stanley Gibbons and other philatelic catalogues.

Figs. 1–1j: The 1993 Definitive set of Jordan, 5 fils to 1 dinar.

Two years later in 1995 the Jordan postal authorities started issuing similarly designed stamps to be used for fiscal and revenue purposes. These revenue stamps had the same size as the postal ones but with a different image: Al-Khazneh (treasury) in the old Nabataean city of Petra. These stamps had at the bottom right the Arabic word “واردات” (waridat = revenue) and the English word “REVENUE” on the bottom left.

The first listing of these stamps was a set of six stamps with the 50 fils one in two different shades of brown and with a small and large “50”. This set is listed as nos. 203–208 in the catalogue “The Revenue Stamps of Jordan and the Occupied Territory (West Bank)” by Joe Ross and Avo Kaplanian. This first set was also diagonally overprinted “SPECIMEN” in red (fig. 2).

Besides a few listings in the Ross/Kaplanian catalogue for issues of such revenues of the years 2000 and 2001, there was no systematic listing of all the issued stamps between 1995 and 2020. And as I have a respectable amount of these revenues in my own collection, I decided to list all the ones known to me so far. But as there is almost no literature nor any publications on this subject, I cannot claim that my list is exhaustive or complete. That's why I appeal to my fellow collectors of this fascinating area of philately to help with any additions, corrections and comments they might have.

As mentioned the first set of these revenues consists of six stamps issued in 1995. The set had no indication of a date and had the values: 50 fils (small and large “٥٠”), 100 fils, 200 fils, 500 fils, and 1 dinar. In fig. 3 we see a pair of the larger size 50 fils revenue stamps of this first issue used as postage stamps on a cover mailed in Irbid to Amman in 1996.

Figs. 2–2d: The specimen set of the 1995 Revenue stamps: 50 fils to 1 dinar.

Fig. 3: Two 50 fils revenue stamps, large “50” variety, used as postage.

In 1999, the 100 fils orange stamp of this first issue was overprinted with the years at the sides: left “١٩٩٩” (1999) and right “١٤١٩” (1419), the Islamic Hijra year (fig. 4). The 50 fils stamp was similarly overprinted with the year date in Arabic numerals, left “٢٠٠٠” (2000) and right the Hijra year “١٤٢٠” (1420) (fig. 5). This stamp was printed by Post Office Foundation Press in Karachi, Pakistan. Once again, the 100 fils stamp was overprinted with “٢٠٠٠” (2000) and on the right the Hijra year “١٤٢١” (1421). The same 50 fils stamp was overprinted again with the Gregorian date year 2000 on the left and the Hijra year 1421 on the right, both in Arabic numerals.

Fig. 5: 50 fils 2000.

In fig. 6 we see two new stamps which were issued in 2001. On the left is the Gregorian year “٢٠٠١” (2001) and on the right the Hijra year “١٤٢٢” (1422). Only these two values of 50 fils and 5 dinars were prepared. Notice that the 5 dinars stamp (خمسة دنانير = khamsat dananir) shows the Gregorian year date at right as “2001” but not in Eastern Arabic numerals, has the border in black (rather than the stamp’s base colour).<sup>1</sup>

Figs. 6–6a: 50 fils and 1 dinar, 2001.

In 2003 a new set of four revenues was issued. The denominations were 50 fils, 100 fils, 200 fils, and 1 dinar. The Gregorian year “٢٠٠٣” (2003) is on the left while the Hijra year “١٤٢٤” (1424) is on the right, both in Arabic numerals (fig. 7). These four stamps were printed by Post Office Foundation Press (Security Division) in Karachi.

A new set of three revenue stamps followed in 2004 having the values of 100 fils, 200 fils, and 500 fils. The Gregorian year “2004” in English is on the left while the Hijra year “١٤٢٥” (1425) in Arabic is on the right (fig. 8).

In 2006 a new set of four stamps with the denominations 100 fils, 250 fils, 500 fils, and 1 dinar was issued. The Gregorian year on the left is “2006” and the Hijra year “١٤٢٧” (1427) on the right (fig. 9). These four stamps were printed again by Pakistan Post Foundation Press (Security Division) in Karachi.

Fig. 9: 1 dinar 2006.

The next set which was issued in 2007 and consists again of four values: 100 fils, 200 fils, 250 fils, and 500 fils. The Gregorian year “2007” is on the left while the Hijra year “١٤٢٨” (1428) is on the right. Another 100 fils stamp was issued with changed design: “واردات” only in Arabic (instead of “REVENUE واردات”) also just “100 FILS” instead of “100 FILS فلس ١٠٠”, i.e. with the value in western digits only (fig. 10).

<sup>1</sup> Another quite striking design change here is the simplified country name in Arabic, as well as changing from “H.K. OF JORDAN” to “H.K. OF JORDAN”. This last detail remains for the following issues. (editor)

In 2008 a new set of four was released. The values were 100 fils, 250 fils, 500 fils, and 1 dinar. The numeral denominations of the first three values are in western digits only while the 1 dinar stamp had the value not in numbers but in the Arabic phrase “دينار واحد” (dinar wahed = one dinar). The Gregorian year date is “2008” while the Hijra year date is “١٤٢٩” (1429) (fig. 11).

Figs. 10–10a: The two 100 fils version of 2007.

Figs. 11–11a: 500 fils and 1 dinar 2008.

Nine years later, in 2017 to be precise, a new stamp was issued with the value of 200 fils with the year “2017”. Other stamps may have been printed too but I am familiar with only this one stamp (fig. 11b). Unfortunately this stamp is damaged and is the only one I have in my collection.

It was followed by three new ones with values of 250 fils, 500 fils, and 1 dinar with the year “2018” on the left and “١٤٣٩” (1439) on right. A similar revenue stamp appeared in 2019 with the value of 100 fils having the year “2019” on the left and “١٤٤٠” (1440) on the right.

Figs. 12–12c: Examples of the Revenue stamps issued from 2018 to 2020.

The latest Revenue stamps are a set of three. These were printed in 2020 and had the denominations of 250 fils, 500 fils, and 1 dinar. These last stamps have the year “2020” on the left and “١٤٤١” (1441) on the right.

What is interesting about the stamps of 2018, 2019, and 2020 is a new feature, i.e. the presence of a security perforation in form of a star halfway in the two vertical sides (fig. 12).

Trapnell compiles together several already published articles of his with substantial new material, so the topics covered are selective and heterogeneous and (as Trapnell says in his foreword) deserve further exploration.

The first chapter looks at E.E.F. troops, the movements and battles depicting large number of covers and photographs: the British contingents, as well as those from India, Australia & New Zealand, Italy and France are well covered.<sup>1</sup> Cachets of the numerous units are given (rightfully) a prominence. This is followed by an article covering (in a similar fashion) the M.E.F. in Mesopotamia, although here the postal material is rather more scarce.

One chapter reports the author's research into Italian P.O.W. camps in Palestine during WW II, followed by a study of the forms of British Red Cross' Postal Message Scheme and an article based on excerpts from ICRC reports of civilian internment camps in Palestine. A one-pager shows a 1940 cover from a soldier stationed at the Allenby Bridge frontier post.

Chapter 7 is a brief chronology of Arab-Israeli wars, followed by a study of Egyptian civilian censorship in Gaza, 1948–1967 (brief historical introduction followed by descriptions of a dozen or so covers) and an article looking at the Egyptian occupation of southern Palestine during 1948; this also features (strangely enough) some covers from Egypt censored in the 1970s.

One chapter looks at a cover directed to a ship trapped on the Great Bitter Lake in 1968, followed by a brief overview of U.N. contingents UNEF 1 and UNEF 2, and a presentation of ICRC message forms used between Arab states and Israel in the 1950s and 1960s.

The texts do serve well as an initial introduction to collectors not familiar with the area, but I felt that better use of existing literature on the topics covered would certainly have tremendously improved some of the pieces. The presentation of images is generally excellent (apart from the covers shown in the chapter on the Egyptian occupation of Southern Palestine). Layout and typography could well have been afforded better judgment, but that's just my personal opinion.

Given the disparate character and (sometimes) lack of depth (which the author does acknowledge), I wonder whether this collection of articles rightfully deserved publication as a book... Nevertheless I recommend the tome to any serious postal history collector of Palestine.

Introduced by two rather exhaustive forewords, the historical background of the Ottoman Empire in the 19th century is briefly outlined. The creation and development of the Ottoman Post, of the Foreign postal services, and their rivalry is detailed; this chapter is based on the thesis by Ayşegül Okan.<sup>1</sup> This is followed by short explanatory chapters on the administrative division of the Empire, currency, weights and measures, numerals, and a brief outline of the telegraph system and its stations.

The postal rates in force between 1840 and 1918 are then exhaustively detailed. The types of registration cachets and labels, and the markings for official mail, as well as postage due markings are briefly set out.

The bulk of the book (220 pages) comprises the detailed presentation of the postal towns with their offices and agencies, starting with a table setting out the mentions of postal facilities in the official Postal Guides, complemented by offices known to exist but not mentioned therein, and ‘phantom’ offices, i.e. those listed but without any actual evidence for their existence.

The actual town listing start with Beirut, which acted as the sole Ottoman post office serving the area of modern Lebanon, Syria, and Palestine between 1840 and the 1860s. Each office is then detailed with a short description of its nature and location, and the postmarks, registration, official and censor marks. Most marks are shown as redrawn and often idealised strikes (with references to the respective listings in Collins and A&P), and often also on covers or postal forms. Travelling post offices are dealt with in a separate chapter, including an introduction to the railway lines in the Holy Land: the Jerusalem–Jaffa Railway (1892), the Hedjaz Railway (1908) with its branch from Dera’a to Haifa (1905), and the (military) Massoudieh–Beersheba Railway (1915).

<sup>1</sup> Okan, Ayşegül: Ottoman postal and telegraph services in the last quarter of the nineteenth century. Thesis. İstanbul: Boğaziçi University / The Atatürk Institute for Modern Turkish History, 2003. 227 p. Online: http://www.levantineheritage.com/pdf/Ottoman-postal-and-telegraph-services-in-the-last-quarter-of-the-nineteenth-century-Aysegul\_Okan.pdf.

Appendices include tables of distances for 1863 and 1868, a dissection of Tatar postal journals, tables of towns and their population numbers (1850–1922), an introduction to the Ottoman calendar, a brief outline of “preferential local rates” (based on an 1871 handwritten copy of a schedule from Jerusalem), the 1914 rates for valeur déclarée packets to foreign destinations, and list of postal terms (Ottoman script/French/English) and a glossary of English postal terms. The tome concludes with a listing of valuations for cancellations, a brief bibliography, and an index.

Evaluation

The book is well designed, profusely illustrated with high-quality items (drawing from the collections of Joseph Hackmey, Zvi Alexander, and Itamar Karpovsky) and does compile material and data from several published sources (e.g. the essay by Ayşegül Okan, the information on routes and rates and the calendar as well as the multi-lingual list of Ottoman postal terms taken straight from Dr. Birken’s works, &c.). In that sense this work is welcome.

But I have to point out a few critical observations: I can’t see that much new research has been added to the information in the books by Steichele and Collins. That opinion is subject to closer inspection of individual towns and cancels yet to be undertaken, but I’ve taken a closer look at Bon Samaritain, Souk el-Tudjar, and Grand New Hotel and concluded that there’s essential research missing. The bibliography has large gaps, even the journals listed are not up-to-date, e.g. the run of BAPIP Bulletins referenced ends with no. 130 (1991). There’s no mention of THE ISRAEL PHILATELIST, DER ISRAEL PHILATELIST, or DOAR IVRI at all.

One other grave and important failure is that (apart from a few non-philatelic illustrations) there are absolutely no references at all. The authors’ sources are summarily listed and acknowledged in the forewords, and there’s a bibliography, and that’s that. We never learn whether facts are drawn from a specific source (like Steichele and Collins, or Birken) or from elsewhere. There’s no discussion of disputed or uncertain facts, everything seems to be set in stone. The only exception is the assessment of official PTT lists with reality on pp. 112–117. In fact, there is not a single footnote on 430 pages!

What left an extremely negative impression of this publication is its steadfast refusal to use any diacritics (such as ü or ğ or ş), so we have muhimme instead of mühimme, taahudlu instead of ta’ahütlü, Qds u Serif instead of Kudüs-ü Şerif, olunmuschdur instead of olunmuşdur (or modern Turkish olunmuştur), but most remarkably we read “Ziya Agaogullari & Bulent Papuccuoglu” instead of “Ziya Ağaoğulları & Bülent Papuçcuoğlu” – and I’d rather not mention the typing errors such as “Stanly Gibons” ...

Conclusion

Aloni’s book (the contribution of Hackmey, apart from providing items from his collections, seems to be largely of a financial nature) is a nice-to-have coffee-table book. It draws together some information hitherto dispersed, but there’s limited new research by the authors, and apparently few new research published in journals since the 1990s has been considered.

NOTOS European Philatelic Exhibition, Athens, 19th–22nd November 2021

Editor: The Hellenic Philatelic Society held the European Philatelic Exhibition NOTOS in Athens. It was held under the patronage of the European Federation of Philatelic Associations (FEPA), the International Association of Philatelic Journalist (AIJP) and the European Academy of Philately (AEP) and was recognised by the International Federation of Philately (FIP).

There were 285 exhibits in 1355 frames across all classes, of which 17 were awarded Large Gold medals and 49 Gold medals. This included (after a recent change of rules) also smaller exhibits with two or three frames.

This journal was awarded a Vermeil medal (83 points), and regular contributor Rainer Fuchs' exhibit "Iraq Railway Post 1928 – ca.1942" achieved 87 points. There was a large number of exhibits with topics of the Middle East in the competition.<sup>1</sup>

Under relevant regulation, besides the class of "One Frame" exhibits, only exhibits of five frames or more had been allowed. Rainer Fuchs advocated for the participation of two and three frame exhibits,<sup>2</sup> and NOTOS 2021 was the first international philatelic exhibition to allow these. At the moment these smaller exhibits are part of the competition and awarded points, but do not receive medal ranks (ie. Gold, Silver, Vermeil).

Personally I expected a few more points for MEPB, having received a Gold medal (85 points) at ITALIA 2018.<sup>3</sup> There were two digital journals in the competition: MEPB and fellow German Wolfgang Maaßen's PHILA HISTORICA.<sup>4</sup> Curiously, both received only 10 out of 15 points in the "Technical Matters" section. Other (printed) literature exhibits received generally 12–14 points here.<sup>5</sup> So there must be something irking the jury about digital works it seems, maybe it's simply the concept of a PDF file itself (as opposed to a printed journal)? Just as a reminder these are the relevant parts of the regulations:<sup>6</sup>

4.4 The criterion "technical matters" requires an evaluation of such aspects as:

- For printed publications: title page and imprint, pagination, credits, bibliography, index, and use of illustrations.*
- For digital publications: user interface, search / navigation speed, usability, frequency of update (where pertinent).*

MEPB 18: International Reply Coupons of Turkey: Greek Occupation of the Island of Lesbos with Mytilene 1912 (Wolfgang Leimenstoll)

Bernd-Dieter Buscke writes:

I find the International Reply Coupon presented by Wolfgang Leimenstoll rather problematic:

1. Given the short period of Greek occupation, why would there have been any need for overprinted IRCs at all?
2. If there had been an overprint, the place in the middle of the IRC would have been chosen, as one can see e.g. with the Jordanian occupation of Palestine.
3. The overprint is on the space reserved for the postmark of the redeeming post office. It would rather have belonged – having chosen not to place it in the centre – on the left side (issuing post office) rather than the right side.
4. In my opinion, it is impossible to judge the authenticity of the overprint without a postmark of the issuing office. I have never seen a used copy of any of the other postal stationery (postcards, envelopes) listed with this overprint in Greek catalogues.

Figs. 1 and 1a:

Turkish IRC overprinted in Mytilene in November 1912.

Wolfgang Leimenstoll replied:

I readily admit that my reply is not entirely free of polemics, but Mr Buscke's arguments seem rather flimsy to me.

1. Why should there have been any need for overprinted stamps and postal stationery at all during the short period of Greek occupation?
2. If... ?? The overprint exists. Only I hardly think the printer had a clue about IRCs, it was simply overprinted where space allowed it and he made a good choice. Unlike Jordan's London designs, overprinting on the 'Flying Goddess' in the centre would have been not only quite disrespectful but also extremely unaesthetic – and how was the printer to know where Jordanian IRCs would be overprinted decades later?
3. This is completely wrong, if anything the imprint of the new country name would have belonged right over the previous country name "TURQUIE." But there was no space for a three-line overprint there. So whether it is in the left or right circle is completely irrelevant.
4. All of this is so problematic – and still these overprints are listed in the catalogues? I have known Argyris Karamitsos for many years, but I have no idea whether he lists IRCs in his other catalogues. If not, are all Greek IRCs problematic?

Request for Information: Arabian Gulf States Postal History Quarterly

Editor: While looking for information on UAE postage rates, I checked Terry Jones' and Thomas Johansen's excellent ARABIAN GULF STATES POSTAL HISTORY QUARTERLY. However, apart from an article in issue 6 detailing some covers, there's not much rates information to speak of. But on that occasion it became clear that I do not have the complete run of AGSPHQ...

I am missing volumes 20 and 21.

Does any reader have these as PDFs? Any help is appreciated!

Request for Information: Iraqi Postage Rates – Registration Fee 1921

Thomas Johansen writes:

Would you know someone who can tell me what the Iraq Registration Fee was between 1st August 1921 and September 1922. I have confirmation that it was 3 Annas by September 1922 but don't know when that rate was introduced. I did find a cover from June 1922 which was paid with 3 Annas registration fee, so at least the September 1922 Postal Guide was not a new rate.

Editor: I asked (amongst others) Rainer Fuchs FRPSL. The information in Patrick Pearson and Edward Proud's 1996 book "Postal History of Iraq" does not answer Thomas's question: the rate quoted is 2 Annas from 1st September 1918 (p. 61), with no further information until the 1930s. Armitage and Johnson<sup>8</sup> close this gap somewhat: From September 1922 (no specific date is stated on p. 66) the registration fee (inland and foreign) was 3 Annas. But that information was already available to Johansen. So there's still uncertainty when the change from 2 to 3 Annas was actually effected.

Request for Information: UAE Postage Rates (Folkert Bruining)

Folkert Bruining writes:

Further to my request on Postage rates in MEPB 18,<sup>9</sup> Ras al-Khaima had a post office from (the end of) 1964, a postal service and postage stamps. In the Arabian Gulf Digital Archive (AGDA) I read (fig. 1) that RAK was a member of the U.P.U.<sup>10</sup> But postal rates? I can't find them.

Editor: I read the document this way: Great Britain represents Ras al-Khaima (and likely the other "Trucial States") to the U.P.U. in a similar way as it does with its own colonies (like Falkland or Bermuda). So Ras al-Khaima is in itself not a member state of the U.P.U. Any reader has more information regarding this situation? Maybe that letter of 21st May 1964 will eventually surface...

<sup>9</sup> See MEPB 18, p. 125.

Khalid Omaira writes:

Dear Tobias, thank you so much for the MEPB 18 Bulletin!

As regards "Request for Information: UAE Postage Rates", I understand that Mr. Folkert Bruining is looking currently for postal rates at Ras al-Khaima post office. I never found any leaflet or documents from Ras al-Khaima post office giving details of the postal rates. The only resource available for us are the covers themselves.

I assume there are three periods of Ras al Khaima postal rates as follows:

1. 1964–1966: This era is still not clear for me, as most of my covers are philatelic.
2. 1966–1971: Registration Fee: 60dh, Airmail to Europe: 65dh
3. 1971–1973: Registration Fee: 1rl, Airmail to certain Arab countries: 40dh, Airmail to Europe: 75dh, Airmail to America: 1.25rl

All the above data is collected from my genuine usages of Ras al-Khaima postally used covers to different destinations, once the list above is updated, I will let you know.

Editor: Folkert has recently sent me a first draft of an article expanding on this topic. Further work is necessary. The article is due to be publish in MEPB 20. Any help and further information is welcome!

Request for Information: Private Mail in US Diplomatic Pouch (Martin Rhein)

Martin Rhein writes:

The Middle East Philatelic Bulletin is always interesting, even if relatively far from my collecting areas Hungary and NDP... but perhaps there is also a connection for me to Middle East postal history. I have been collecting "Private Mail in US Diplomatic Pouch" for a few months and am now trying to understand the postage rates. Enclosed are some covers for which I would like to know whether the frankings were postage due. Perhaps someone also knows the corresponding fee periods. Is there a list of these charges somewhere that one could consult?

Editor: I showed the Egypt covers (figs. 1 and 2) to members of the Egypt Studies Circle on Facebook. According to Khalid Omaira, the rate for cover 1 (17m) is correct, but for cover 2 the correct surface rate should have been 22m. Adel Hanna says "17 mills was the discounted surface rate to England. 14 mills was second weight (surface mail) charge for advertising material to all countries, 8 mills for first 50 grams then 6 mills for every extra 50 grams or part of it."

Bernardo Longo tells me about the Lebanon cover (fig. 3): "Yes, UPU surface rate of 20 Piastres up to 20 gr from 1 January 1943 to 30 June 1944." The 25 Piastres on the Syrian cover (fig. 4) was the correct surface letter rate to the US in 1953 according to Bassam Alkudsi.

On the Saudi cover (fig. 5), Martin Lovegrove, editor of APAL's RANDOM NOTES, writes: "The correct surface rate at that time was 3 qirsh. The 9 qirsh franking is not one I have seen; the usual rate from Jeddah to USA was 10.5 qirsh. The name was familiar, see attached." He sent the cover in fig. 6, addressed to the person who sent the other letter. Jim Kearney confirms the surface rate as being 3 qirsh: "Most of my 'diplomatic' mail from Jiddah has 3 qirsh on it, the surface rate, but not marked airmail."

Arabian Philatelic Association International: New Website

Tobias Zywiets writes:

The Arabian Philatelic Association International has recently launched its website:

<http://www.the-weatherings.co.uk/APAI/index.html>

The Arabian Philatelic Association (APA) was established in 1968 in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, by a group of Aramco employees and had 300 members at its peak. The journal APA RANDOM NOTES, the “Reference Manual of Saudi Arabian Forgeries,” auctions and a new issue service contributed to the popularity of Saudi Arabian philately in the 1970s and 1980s. However, after interest declined in the 1990s, an initial attempt to start up a conventional Saudi stamp society in the USA failed.

Since then, it was realised that an Internet-based society has a better prospect of success, leading to the newly-founded Arabian Philatelic Association International (APAI). The journal RANDOM NOTES is published thrice a year under the editorship of Martin Lovegrove. The society’s Membership Secretary is Marwan Nusair.

The new website features a number of resources:

- Member Displays (PDF presentations)
- Member Exhibits (PDF presentations)
- RANDOM NOTES Archive (complete set of PDFs from no. 1 and index)
- News & Resources (auction results, checklists, meeting news & contacts form)

MEPB 18: Pogon Ambulant Post Office: A Rural Postal Service in Ottoman Times? (Folkert Bruining, pp. 118–119)

Ercan Oktay Richter writes:

I read Folkert's article: very interesting and with a valid question about the "ambulant postal service" (seyyar posta memurlari damgalari). I have a relatively large collection and at the moment I am looking for literature on the subject. As far as I know it was introduced in the Ottoman Empire in 1888. All the officials had their own negative stamps and they were allowed to travel by rail.

Editor: Thank you Ercan. I hope there will be further responses to this hitherto rather obscure topic. The only article on any similar theme describes small circular numbered hand-stamps used by postmen in Constantinople after 1913. So no relation to this rural service in the mountains of Epirus....

(Fareed Tawara)

Fareed Tawara posted on Facebook:<sup>18</sup>

It is generally accepted that all Jordanian Revenue stamps issued since 1999 until now bear a clear date of printing.<sup>19</sup> However I can show one stamp that deviates: the year is only shown as a fluorescent overprints and remains invisible in daylight: "٢٠٠٢ إيرادات / Eridat 2002"

I believe this is the only stamp known with this feature.

MEPB 18: Selling the Impossible – Palestine ‘Blues’ 1918: 5 Mils Overprint in Grey Colour? (Tobias Zywietz, pp. 63–65)

Adel Al-Sarraf writes:

From your article regarding the 5m on 1p grey colour surcharge (SG 4) on page 63, here are my two plate blocks-of-four (control blocks). Notice the grey colour surcharge on the C18 Transfer B plate block including the colour of the Transfer letter “B” itself (fig. 1), while it’s clearly black on the D18 Transfer C plate block (fig. 2).

This is just adding further to the discussion. I believe that possibly shades of the colour black were used for the surcharging such as the greyish black I’m showing you here, or this could be an effect of the light over the years causing a slight colour changeling. More discussion is needed.

Editor: In my opinion these examples strengthen the hypotheses that exposure to light has caused the effect, the black colour of the surcharge being more susceptible to light than the blue colour of the stamps themselves. I also noticed a difference in the appearance of the paper: in Adel’s “B” block it looks thinner than in the “C” block, maybe that change-in-colour is also caused by the sustained exposure to light?

THE FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF CIRCULAR DESPATCH OF THE 7TH OF JANUARY, 1933, FROM HIS MAJESTY'S PRINCIPAL SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES TO THE HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR PALESTINE, ON THE SUBJECT OF THE BRITISH BROADCASTING CORPORATION'S SCHEME FOR EMPIRE BROADCASTING.

Sir,

I have the honour to address you on the subject of the British Broadcasting Corporation's scheme for Empire Broadcasting which was initiated on the 19th of December, last.

2. The British Broadcasting Corporation have always pursued the ideal of a system of Empire broadcasting and as long ago as 1927 they initiated a series of constant and exhaustive experiments with a view to achieving what they felt to be essential before they could undertake a constant regular service, namely, a system of transmission on which a reasonable degree of reliance might be placed. The most important aspect of this experimentation was the establishment in November, 1927, of the experimental short-wave transmitter at Chelmsford GSW; this enterprise was strictly tentative but by 1929 it had resulted in a very great deal of information consisting of reports from listeners, not only those interested as experts in short-wave transmission, but also from ordinary users of receivers, and it was seen that there was a general desire for a regular service. This desire was greatest in Colonies without a regular broadcasting service or with a rudimentary one only.

3. On the basis of these reports various schemes for providing a transmitting station and programmes and a news service were considered, but owing to technical difficulties and, above all, to financial conditions, they could not be pursued. It was obvious that Imperial funds would not be available for any such service.

4. This situation received the immediate attention of the British Broadcasting Corporation. The existing station at Chelmsford had intrinsic limitations which would never permit it to provide an adequate Empire service, and the cost of maintaining it was considerable. Two main alternatives were open to the Corporation, viz., either (1) to abandon the scheme entirely, or (2) to assume the sole responsibility for an Empire service. Their appreciation of the position—and I feel bound to record my appreciation of their public-spirited attitude—was that, whatever the financial difficulties might be, all the evidence went to show a widespread desire in all parts of the Empire for the service. If the project were given up, this country would be without the power to express itself by wireless throughout the world, while other countries, by reason of their short-wave equipment, were able to do so. The British Broadcasting Corporation therefore decided to pursue the project and in November, 1929, announced their intention to proceed at once with plans for erecting a short-wave Empire broadcasting station. I must emphasize that this project is a costly one upon which the Corporation have no prospect of financial compensation in the near future, and one which does not fall within the functions contemplated in their charter.

5. The old experimental station GSW has been replaced by the most modern station and equipment available, with two transmitters, eight wave-lengths, and seventeen aerials. The plans laid down for the station are advisedly indefinite at the present time: the details of future policy will be decided in the light of experience. At first the main appeal will be to the direct listener with a short-wave receiving-set, and the improvements in short-wave transmission and reception are such that reasonably good reception should be possible to such listeners. In addition, broadcasting stations in the Empire should be able to receive and relay the programmes provided. The service will not be without difficulties owing to the size of the Empire, spreading as it does over 300 degrees of longitude involving a time difference of twenty hours at Greenwich. A general Empire broadcast, while not impossible, is neither convenient nor satisfactory, but arrangements have been made to transmit programmes at suitable times to various separate zones.

6. This enterprise, which is substantially due to the disinterested enthusiasm of the British Broadcasting Corporation, has my fullest support. I realize that in most Colonies, where an advanced local broadcasting system does not yet exist, the furtherance of the service will depend upon short-wave enthusiasts. I trust that you will do all in your power to present to them the facts which I have outlined in this despatch and to encourage them in co-operating to promote the success of the scheme. This they may do by sending reports of reception to the British Broadcasting Corporation, by making suggestions to them, and especially, when their reception is good, by letting their neighbours hear transmissions from England. The service has in some measure emerged from the experimental stage, but it cannot reasonably be expected to be perfect in its early days. The Corporation have no illusion upon this point, and while they ask for patience from listeners they also solicit their co-operation in giving them the fullest possible information upon the technical aspects of local reception. For this reason they have produced a questionnaire of which I enclose a few copies with the request that you will do what is possible to give it a wide currency in the territory under your administration—either through the Press or otherwise as you may deem most appropriate—with an intimation that a good Empire service will be substantially promoted by the co-operation of listeners. The British Broadcasting Corporation will welcome constructive criticism of every kind, but it will be realized that criticism which is confined to mere details of programmes or of times selected for broadcasting, and which is either based purely upon personal preferences or is lacking in any concrete proposals for improvement, will be of little value.

7. Preliminary steps have been taken by the British Broadcasting Corporation in sending Mr. Malcolm Frost, a member of the Corporation's Empire Service Department, on an Empire tour. Mr. Frost's duties are threefold, corresponding to the three main principles of the Empire broadcasting scheme, namely, (1) to explain the primary object of the service which is for the benefit of the direct listener, that is, the individual living in a country where no organized local broadcasting exists, (2) to arrange a close and effective liaison with local broadcasting organizations in countries where these already exist and where it is hoped the relaying of the Empire programmes will become a regular feature, and (3) to interest local broadcasting enterprises in the Empire recorded programmes, which have been produced at considerable expense by the Corporation, and which it is hoped will prove an acceptable resource to local programme builders who, through a scarcity of material and artists, should welcome additional means of providing broadcast entertainment. These recorded programmes, whatever the immediate possibilities of transmission from London, should ensure that British programmes will be available in places where broadcasting organization exist. The Corporation intends furnishing a regular supply of such programmes if, as a result of Mr. Frost's tour, the demand justifies a continuance of the supply, and their dissemination as envisaged by the British Broadcasting Corporation has my entire support. Should Mr. Frost during his itinerary visit the territory under your administration I am sure that you will give him all possible assistance in advancing the general success of the scheme in its three main objectives.

8. I have written at some length on this matter as I am especially concerned to see that this enterprise which is of great and obvious Imperial value should be successful. The British Broadcasting Corporation have spared no pains to provide, without any financial subvention, a service of broadcasting for the whole Empire, and I rely upon you to do what lies in your power to co-operate with them. You may feel that this co-operation would be best initiated by the publication of this despatch in the local Press.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,
Your most obedient, humble servant

(P 10/33)

At first the main appeal will be to the direct listener with a short-wave receiving-set, and the improvements in short-wave transmission and reception are such that reasonably good reception should be possible to such listeners. In addition, broadcasting stations in the Empire should be able to receive and relay the programmes provided. The service will not be without difficulties owing to the size of the Empire, spreading as it does over 300 degrees of longitude involving a time difference of twenty hours at Greenwich. A general Empire broadcast, while not impossible, is neither convenient nor satisfactory, but arrangements have been made, to transmit programmes at suitable times to various separate zones.

6. This enterprise, which is substantially due to the disinterested enthusiasm of the British Broadcasting Corporation, has my fullest support. I realize that in most Colonies, where an advanced local broadcasting system does not yet exist, the furtherance of the service will depend upon short-wave enthusiasts. I trust that you will do all, in your power to present to them the facts which I have outlined in this despatch and to encourage them in co-operating to promote the success of the scheme. This they may do by sending reports of reception to the British Broadcasting Corporation, by making suggestions to them, and especially, when their reception is good, by letting their neighbours hear transmissions from England. The service has in some measure emerged from the experimental stage, but it cannot reasonably be expected to be perfect in its early days. The Corporation have no illusion upon this point, and while they ask for patience from listeners they also solicit their co-operation in giving them the fullest possible information upon the technical aspects of local reception. For this reason they have produced a questionnaire of which I enclose a few copies with the request that you will do what is possible to give it a wide currency in the territory under your administration—either through the Press or otherwise as you may deem most appropriate—with an intimation that a good Empire service will be substantially promoted by the co-operation of listeners. The British Broadcasting Corporation will welcome constructive criticism of every kind; but it will be realized that criticism which is confined to mere details of programmes or of times selected for broadcasting, and which is either based purely upon personal preferences or is lacking in any concrete proposals for improvement, will be of little value.

7. Preliminary steps have been taken by the British Broadcasting Corporation in sending Mr. Malcolm Frost, a member of the Corporation's Empire Service Department, on an Empire tour. Mr. Frost's duties are threefold, corresponding to the three main principles of the Empire broadcasting scheme, namely, (1) to explain the primary object of the service which is for the benefit of the direct listener, that is, the individual living- in a country where no organized local broadcasting exists, (2) to arrange a close and effective liaison with local broadcasting organizations in countries where these already exist and where it is hoped the relaying of the Empire programmes will become a regular feature, and (3) to interest local broadcasting enterprises in the Empire recorded programmes, which have been produced at considerable expense by the Corporation, and which it is hoped will prove an acceptable resource to local pro-gramme builders who, through a scarcity of material and artists, should welcome additional means of providing broadcast entertainment. These recorded programmes, whatever the immediate possibilities of transmission from London, should ensure that British programmes will be available in places where broadcasting organization exist. The Corporation intends furnishing a regular supply of such programmes if, as a result of Mr. Frost's tour, the demand justifies a continuance of the supply, and their dissemination as envisaged by the British Broadcasting Corporation has my entire support. Should Mr. Frost during his itinerary visit the territory under your administration I am sure that you will give him all possible assistance in advancing the general success of the scheme in its three main objectives.

8. I have written at some length on this matter as I am especially concerned to see that this enterprise which is of great and obvious Imperial value should be successful. The British Broadcasting Corporation have spared no pains to provide, without any financial subvention, a service of broadcasting for the whole Empire, and I rely upon you to do what lies in your power to co-operate with them. You may feel that this co-operation would be best initiated by the publication of this despatch in the local press.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble servant

P. CUNLIFFE-LISTER

BE IT ENACTED by the High Commissioner for Palestine with the advice of the Advisory Council thereof:—

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Post Office (Amendment) Ordinance, 1933, and the Post Office Ordinance, 1930 (hereinafter called the principal Ordinance) and this Ordinance may together be cited as the Post Office Ordinances, 1930-1933.

Short title.

No. 20 of 1930.

2. Sub-section (1) of section 15 of the principal Ordinance shall be deleted and the following shall be substituted therefor:—

Amendment of section 15 of the principal Ordinance.

"The Postmaster-General may detain any postal packet believed to contain any goods subject to Customs import duty or any smuggled goods and may open and examine the packet; and if he finds any dutiable or smuggled goods may detain the packet, or deliver it on payment of any duty or fine or of any duty and fine under the Ordinance for the time being in force relating to Customs and such additional charges as may be authorized by regulations under this Ordinance:

Provided that in the case of a letter packet such opening and examination shall (unless the cover bears an authorization by the sender for the packet to be opened in the post) take place either in the presence of the person to whom the packet is addressed or in that of such person's authorized agent but if, after notice in writing to such person requiring his attendance or that of his authorized agent left at or forwarded by post to the address on the packet such person fails to attend himself or by his authorized agent the Postmaster-General may open and examine the packet notwithstanding the absence of such person."

Substitution of a new section for section 44 of the principal Ordinance.

"44. In case the body having the control of any road resolves at any time to alter the alignment, width or level of such road or of any portion thereof under, in, over, along or across which any telegraph work is constructed, or to execute any other work on such road or portion thereof which may involve the removal or alteration of any telegraph work or expose such telegraph work to undue risk such body shall give to the Postmaster-General one month's notice in writing of the work which it proposes to execute, together with a plan indicating clearly the existing and the proposed works and the Postmaster-General shall at the expense of such body remove the telegraph work and replace it, if necessary, in such position and manner as may be determined by the District Commissioner."

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This Ordinance amends the Post Office Ordinance, 1930, by:—

- (a) substituting a new sub-section in the place of the first sub-section of section 15 of the Post Office Ordinance, 1930, giving the Postmaster-General power to open any postal packets believed to contain dutiable or smuggled goods in the absence of the owners of such packets, and
- (b) substituting a new section in the place of section 44 of the Post Office Ordinance, 1930 (the wording of which is equivocal) with the object of making it clear that a public body having control of a road should advise the Postmaster-General one month before it undertakes any work on such road which is likely to expose any telegraph work to risk or damage, and
- (c) adding a proviso based on a provision of the English Law (section 56 (2) Post Office Act, 1903, (Imperial)) to section 86 of the Post Office Ordinance, 1930, with the object of exempting, in certain specified cases, officers of the Post Office who would otherwise be liable to the penalties prescribed in that section.

LETTER AIR MAILS

1. Any kind of letter packet may be sent by Air Mail, but small packets, printed papers and commercial papers and samples must be prepaid at the rates for letters except in the case of the service by Aeropostale from France to South America where special rates for such items are quoted. The limits of size and maximum weight are the same as for similar correspondence sent by ordinary post. Air Mail letter packets can be accepted for registration but not for insurance. The ordinary arrangements for express delivery and the use of the green label system (for articles liable to Customs duty) apply.

2. A special blue Air Mail label must be affixed to the top left-hand corner of every Air Mail packet. These labels may be obtained free of charge at any Post Office or Postal Agency. Letters bearing a manuscript indication "By Air Mail" will be accepted but no responsibility can be admitted for any delay they may incur.

3. Stamps to the full amount of Postage and Air Fee must be affixed at the top right-hand corner of the address side of the envelope. If the proper amount is not prepaid, the Postmaster-General reserves the right to forward it by ordinary mail. Special attention is drawn to the fact that the rates of postage are for letters of a weight of 10 grammes.

A letter containing more than the ordinary sheet of notepaper is likely to be over 10 grammes in weight.

4. Particulars of the rates of postage and air fee and the frequency of the letter Air Mail services available are given on pages 1061 and 1062 of this Gazette.

5. The Department reserves the right to divert to another Air Mail route or to the ordinary mails any item not sufficiently prepaid for conveyance by the Air Mail route for which it is intended by the sender.

(3) After the investigation the Head of Department concerned will submit without delay a full report together with his recommendations to the Treasurer, who may ask for any further information that he may require and will then forward it with his recommendations and the Auditor's comments, if any, to the Chief Secretary."

- (4) The High Commissioner may require any person to supply any animals, vehicles, ships, boats, aircraft or other personal property, belonging to or under the control of such person to the Government, if such property be required in aid of or in connection with the defence of Palestine and in default of the person supplying the same, may seize and take possession of and retain any such animals, vehicles, ships, boats, aircraft or other personal property, for such purposes.
- (5) The High Commissioner may take and retain for such period as he may think necessary possession for public purposes of any land or building or other property, including gas-works, and works for the supply of electric light, water works, wells, and springs of water, tanks, and other receptacles for water, and in particular, but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, may take possession of any land or building for the accommodation of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air. The moneys to be received for such sales shall be paid into the Palestine Treasury.
- (8) The High Commissioner may, by Proclamation, prescribe the maximum price for which any article of food may be sold by retail, and any person who, after such Proclamation, and until it shall have ceased to be in operation, shall sell any article of food at a higher price than the price so prescribed shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Article, and shall, on conviction thereof, be liable to a fine not exceeding LP.5, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

- (12) Every person who refuses or neglects to obey or comply with any order or requisition made under this Article, or does anything whereby the execution of any such order or requisition is prevented or hindered, or with intent to prevent or hinder the execution of any such order or requisition, shall be guilty of an offence against this Article, and shall, on summary conviction thereof, be liable to a fine not less than LP. 2, and not more than LP. 10, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month.

- (14) The High Commissioner may by Proclamation postpone for such period as he may think necessary or just and expedient, the time at which any rent or other moneys shall become due and payable, and particularly may so extend the period of maturity of bills or other negotiable instruments payable in Palestine, and may suspend for such time as he may think right the execution of the judgment of any Court of Civil Judicature, and the enforcement of any process of eviction or other process for the recovery of the possession of property in default of payment of rent, if he shall consider that, owing to circumstances arising out of the State of War or the immediate apprehension of War, the immediate execution of such judgments or enforcement of such process would be inequitable or inexpedient.

NEXT MEETING:

The following meeting will be held in York in May 2022 (exact date: still to be decided) when the Postal Stationery will be displayed and discussed.

Worksheet 42
Martin Kuriger has suggested that he would be willing to update the contents of Worksheet 42. Censors, I mention would be able to find their censor markings, probably with some, in form at CPSN (CPSN.com) and on the Editor at irphiback@icloud.com who would forward them to him. It would then be his duty to replace the existing Worksheet 42 in the website, which would be of benefit to members.

The following article by Martin Morscheck on the use of IPSC (IPSC) used on mail in letters, which then had slow delivery, and IPSC 1914 with a later date than that recorded in the Worksheet. The second article by Martin gives an update on WW1 Anglo-Soviet-Persian Censorship.

Research into Ladino Correspondence

For an archival database, I'm looking for correspondence (letters and post cards) from/to the Ottoman Empire and the Balkans 1850–1913 (Serbia, Roumania, Bosnia, Bulgaria, Greece, Austria) written in a script that looks like Arabic or Hebrew but is actually the Jewish script "Soletreo". It encodes an old Spanish called Ladino (Judeo-Spanish) spoken by Sephardic Jews. Don't worry about a correct identification: I'll do that.

Wanted: Israel's Triangular Military Unit Handstamps

There are 3 styles of triangular Handstamps used on Military Mail in Israel. The first style lowest numbers were used from 1948 to about 1960. I am trying to collect all of these and am still missing a few numbers. The mid period ran from approximately 1960 to 1980.

I have almost a complete run of these numbers but am still looking for a few of them including 1014, 1021, 1032, 1035, 1043, 1048, 1049, 1060, 1091, 1094 and 1098 and a few others. The most recent zero series style started about 1980 and is still in use. Zero series numbers I am looking for include 01433, 01455, 01526, 01636, 01833 to 01860, 02129 and 03350.

I am trying to collect all the numbers and I estimate that there are over 5000 issued across the 3 styles. I am also looking for your lists of numbers to check against my database. All correspondence and offers to trade material welcome.

The Institute of Postal Historical Studies "Aldo Cecchi" Prato, Tuscany, Italy

When you study postal history, you investigate on organized communication, particularly focusing on material aspects. This is a new, productive approach connecting different subjects, such as social history and history of culture, epistolography, history of management and of entrepreneurship, paleography, diplomatics, economic history, historical geography, history of journalism and of commerce, collecting.

Since 1982, in Prato, Istituto di Studi Storici Postali "Aldo Cecchi" has been an international reference centre for those concerned. The Institute is aimed at building, improving and sharing knowledge of the postal-historical subjects through publications, courses, workshops, exhibitions, and other cultural events.

One of the highlights of the Institute is his role as a specialized library, collecting guidebooks and old postal maps as well as modern philatelic editions. The library includes more than 13,000 items (volumes and booklets). Over time, the library has become a proper documentation centre on organized postal communication. The library is divided into special sections: the periodicals section contains almost 2,000 titles. The special collection of commercial philatelic publications (auction catalogues, fixed-price offers, promotional material, traders' price lists) numbers 15,000 items.

Last but not least, the Institute also holds an archival fond which is extraordinarily important for the history of Italian postal communications: the archive of the "Direzione Superiore della Posta Militare" (High office for Military Mail), containing some 400,000 original documents about its activity during the 20th century.

As you may understand, books and publications on postal-historical topics are welcome and ready to be inserted in the always-growing catalogue which can be consulted online. You are therefore invited to send us your publications: they will be available to the international community of philatelists!

The GBOS promotes the collection and study of overprints on British stamps and postal stationery and their usage, from the first overprints for use outside the United Kingdom issued in Cyprus in 1880 right through the "British Levant" issues to the final use of overprints when the British postal agency at Muscat closed in 1966.

The GBOS range of interests also includes revenues and postal orders overprinted for use abroad as well as the British departmental overprints.

Collectors at all levels are always welcome, whether experienced researchers or beginners.

The Oriental Philatelic Association of London

ORIENTAL PHILATELIC ASSOCIATION OF LONDON

The Oriental Philatelic Association of London was founded in 1949. Its remit is very broad both geographically and historically as it covers all philatelic aspects of post within the former Ottoman Empire and all its myriad successor states. Nevertheless many members specialise in one small area. Over one third of our membership of over 150 lives abroad, with a particular large number in the USA.

OPAL publishes a couple of journals per year along with a couple of newsletters. Both publications are also used to answer members' queries. If our extensive library can't help with queries, then our membership invariably contains someone who can help, however specialised or esoteric. There are informal meetings held in various UK locations as well as our annual get together for our AGM.

Membership costs presently £5 per annum. Further details can be found on and contacts can be made via OPAL's website: www.mclstamps.co.uk/opal/opalhome.html.

Dr. Andreas Birken †

Handbook of Turkish Philately – Part I: Ottoman Empire

Vol. 4: The Ottoman Postmarks

“Die Poststempel / The Postmarks” by the late Dr. Andreas Birken is a bilingual (German and English) catalogue of Ottoman postmarks, including both postal and censor markings.

In 1999 Turkey philatelists held their 4th World Meeting at London. The member societies OPAL, AROS, and TOPS (now ONEPS) launched the Ottoman Postmark Project to continue the work of pioneer philatelists like Orhan Brandt, Saik Ceylân, John H. Coles, Howard E. Walker, and Hilmi Bayındır, with the aim of producing a data-base collecting and comparing all available and new information.

In 2002 Dr. Andreas Birken took on the task of bringing the project to a form usable to all interested collectors. The result is a periodically updated eBook, consisting of PDF-files, one for each vilayet, over 2000 pages in total, presenting all the known postmarks.

After the death of Dr. Birken AROS is now able to offer the postmark catalogue of the Ottoman Empire in the latest available version of March 2019:

Version	DVD-ROM or USB-Stick	Download
Complete Catalogue	52.00 €	50.00 €
P&P (Germany)	3.00 €	–
P&P (worldwide)	5.00 €	–

Owners of an earlier edition of the catalogue will be granted a discount: the price is then 10.00 € (plus p&p, if applicable). Please send me a photo of the DVD as proof.

Payment by SEPA transfer, PayPal, or Skrill.

In this Issue

MEPB 19 starts with a reminder that there are limits to an expertiser's capabilities, especially when venturing beyond his very own area of expertise. In "Mission Bopp: Persia via Baghdad" members of German Arge Feldpost 1914/18 make a combined effort to explain covers from that area. Hans Paul Soetens continues his catalogue of Ottoman Censorship Markings with a first part on the positive varieties. Osman Levend Seral and Hakan Yılmaz helped to decipher a 1916 quarry bill featuring Hedjaz Railway Stamps.

Hubert Gerzabek shows the 1917 "Ox Head" overprints on Cover, Oscar van der Vliet has assembled examples of Ottoman Revenue Stamps used in former territories of the Ottoman Empire, whereas Schalk W. de Klerk looks at the development of Imperial Airways routes in the Middle East. Our exploration of Reply Coupons continues with Mandated Syria, i.e. Syria, Latakia, and Lebanon from 1926 to 1944, with research again lead by Wolfgang Leimenstoll.

The next article is quite assertive: Alex Ben Arie dissects the comprehensiveness of the data in Norman J. Collins' book "The Crown Agents Requisition Books". Not all his conclusions are shared by the editor, but his arguments need to be heard and discussed. Adel Al-Sarraf follows Avo Kaplanian's piece in MEPB 18 with more proofs and essays of (Trans)Jordan, likewise Avo responds to the Fisher & Winter article on Palestine Slogan Markings. Another story covered on previous editions is furthered by the research of Phil Le Page: Lebanon Gum-Side Surcharges.

Avo Kaplanian researched a more modern topic: Revenue Stamps of Jordan 1995–2020. This is supplemented by a new discovery described by Fareed Tawara: a fluorescent overprint on the 2002 issue.

Two recently published books are reviewed: David Trapnel's "Aspects of Palestinian Postal History" and Zvi Aloni & Joseph Hackmey's "The Postal History of the Ottoman Post in the Holy Land," the latter with some necessarily quite critical observations.

In the Reactions, Comments, Queries section a wide range of subjects is covered: NOTOS, Mytilene IRC, UAE postage rates, frankings of US Diplomatic Pouch mail, the new APAI Website, WWI Censor Seals, Pogon Ambulant post office, İzmir Quarantine Administration 1889, Palestine 'Blues' with grey surcharge, and an interesting CTO sheet of Jordan.

In the Archive section I resume my series on the Official Gazettes for Palestine with its twelfth part: 1933.

Contributions

I will consider any article of quality for potential inclusion: be it a large article with original research, a small piece looking at a particular aspect, a concise description of an interesting cover, or a long-forgotten piece of research rediscovered. It can be original writing, or material already published. I will help, advise, and guide. Translation into English can be arranged, and all steps and processes are closely coordinated with the author.

If you think you can contribute to the journal, please do not hesitate to contact me!

Articles should be submitted as plain text (TXT), rich text (RTF), LibreOffice/OpenOffice (ODT), MS Word (DOC, DOCX) or Adobe Acrobat (PDF). Images can be JPEG/JPG- or PNG-files in 300dpi (or higher) resolution. Rights to texts and images not belonging to the author should be cleared, or at least be flagged-up, so that I can deal with any such issues. If in doubt: just ask! I will strive to resolve any such occurring problems.

Acknowledgements

I'd like to thank all contributors and all those aiding and encouraging me in the creation of this journal. The list would be too long to print here, so I mention just one non-philatelist, who, as native speaker, helped me with proofreading and gave advice on style of writing, namely Colin Booth. Several organisations and persons gave me general permission to reprint articles from their journals and archives. One person I have especially to thank is Barry D. Hoffman, copyright owner of F. W. Pollack's THE HOLY LAND PHILATELIST. Many thanks to all!

V. Rechte der betroffenen Person

Werden personenbezogene Daten von Ihnen verarbeitet, sind Sie Betroffener i.S.d. DSGVO und es stehen Ihnen folgende Rechte gegenüber dem Verantwortlichen zu:

1. Auskunftsrecht

Sie können von dem Verantwortlichen eine Bestätigung darüber verlangen, ob personenbezogene Daten, die Sie betreffen, von mir verarbeitet werden. Liegt eine solche Verarbeitung vor, können Sie von dem Verantwortlichen über folgende Informationen Auskunft verlangen:

- (1) die Zwecke, zu denen die personenbezogenen Daten verarbeitet werden;
- (2) die Kategorien von personenbezogenen Daten, welche verarbeitet werden;
- (3) die Empfänger bzw. die Kategorien von Empfängern, gegenüber denen die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten offengelegt wurden oder noch offengelegt werden;
- (4) die geplante Dauer der Speicherung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten oder, falls konkrete Angaben hierzu nicht möglich sind, Kriterien für die Festlegung der Speicherdauer;
- (5) das Bestehen eines Rechts auf Berichtigung oder Löschung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten, eines Rechts auf Einschränkung der Verarbeitung durch den Verantwortlichen oder eines Widerspruchsrechts gegen diese Verarbeitung;
- (6) das Bestehen eines Beschwerderechts bei einer

Aufsichtsbehörde;

(7) alle verfügbaren Informationen über die Herkunft der Daten, wenn die personenbezogenen Daten nicht bei der betroffenen Person erhoben werden;

(8) das Bestehen einer automatisierten Entscheidungsfindung einschließlich Profiling gemäß Art. 22 Abs. 1 und 4 DSGVO und – zumindest in diesen Fällen – aussagekräftige Informationen über die involvierte Logik sowie die Tragweite und die angestrebten Auswirkungen einer derartigen Verarbeitung für die betroffene Person.

Ihnen steht das Recht zu, Auskunft darüber zu verlangen, ob die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten in ein Drittland oder an eine internationale Organisation übermittelt werden. In diesem Zusammenhang können Sie verlangen, über die geeigneten Garantien gem. Art. 46 DSGVO im Zusammenhang mit der Übermittlung unterrichtet zu werden.

Dieses Auskunftsrecht kann insoweit beschränkt werden, als es voraussichtlich die Verwirklichung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke unmöglich macht oder ernsthaft beeinträchtigt und die Beschränkung für die Erfüllung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke notwendig ist.

2. Recht auf Berichtigung

Sie haben ein Recht auf Berichtigung und/oder Vervollständigung gegenüber dem Verantwortlichen, sofern die verarbeiteten personenbezogenen Daten, die Sie betreffen, unrichtig oder unvollständig sind. Der Verantwortliche hat die Berichtigung unverzüglich vorzunehmen.

Ihr Recht auf Berichtigung kann insoweit beschränkt werden, als es voraussichtlich die Verwirklichung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke unmöglich macht oder ernsthaft beeinträchtigt und die Beschränkung für die Erfüllung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke notwendig ist.

3. Recht auf Einschränkung der Verarbeitung

Unter den folgenden Voraussetzungen können Sie die Einschränkung der Verarbeitung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten verlangen:

- (1) wenn Sie die Richtigkeit der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen für eine Dauer bestreiten, die es dem Verantwortlichen ermöglicht, die Richtigkeit der personenbezogenen Daten zu überprüfen;
- (2) die Verarbeitung unrechtmäßig ist und Sie die Löschung der personenbezogenen Daten ablehnen und stattdessen die Einschränkung der Nutzung der personenbezogenen Daten verlangen;
- (3) der Verantwortliche die personenbezogenen Daten für die Zwecke der Verarbeitung nicht länger benötigt, Sie diese jedoch zur Geltendmachung, Ausübung oder Verteidigung von Rechtsansprüchen benötigen, oder
- (4) wenn Sie Widerspruch gegen die Verarbeitung gemäß Art. 21 Abs. 1 DSGVO eingelegt haben und noch nicht feststeht, ob die berechtigten Gründe des Verantwortlichen gegenüber Ihren Gründen überwiegen. Wurde die Verarbeitung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten eingeschränkt, dürfen diese Daten – von ihrer Speicherung abgesehen – nur mit Ihrer Einwilligung oder zur Geltendmachung, Ausübung oder Verteidigung von Rechtsansprüchen oder zum Schutz der Rechte einer anderen natürlichen oder juristischen Person oder aus Gründen eines wichtigen öffentlichen Interesses der Union oder eines Mitgliedstaats verarbeitet werden.

Wurde die Einschränkung der Verarbeitung nach den o.g. Voraussetzungen eingeschränkt, werden Sie von dem Verantwortlichen unterrichtet bevor die Einschränkung aufgehoben wird.

Ihr Recht auf Einschränkung der Verarbeitung kann insoweit beschränkt werden, als es voraussichtlich die Verwirklichung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke unmöglich macht oder ernsthaft beeinträchtigt und die Beschränkung für die Erfüllung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke notwendig ist.

4. Recht auf Löschung

a) Löschungspflicht

Sie können von dem Verantwortlichen verlangen, dass die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten unverzüglich gelöscht werden, und der Verantwortliche ist verpflichtet, diese Daten unverzüglich zu löschen, sofern einer der folgenden Gründe zutrifft:

- (1) Die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten sind für die Zwecke, für die sie erhoben oder auf sonstige Weise verarbeitet wurden, nicht mehr notwendig.
- (2) Sie widerrufen Ihre Einwilligung, auf die sich die Verarbeitung gem. Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. a oder Art. 9 Abs. 2 lit. a DSGVO stützte, und es fehlt an einer anderweitigen Rechtsgrundlage für die Verarbeitung.
- (3) Sie legen gem. Art. 21 Abs. 1 DSGVO Widerspruch gegen die Verarbeitung ein und es liegen keine vorrangigen berechtigten Gründe für die Verarbeitung vor, oder Sie legen gem. Art. 21 Abs. 2 DSGVO Widerspruch gegen die Verarbeitung ein.
- (4) Die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten wurden unrechtmäßig verarbeitet.
- (5) Die Löschung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten ist zur Erfüllung einer rechtlichen Verpflichtung nach dem Unionsrecht oder dem Recht der Mitgliedstaaten erforderlich, dem der Verantwortliche unterliegt.
- (6) Die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten wurden in Bezug auf angebotene Dienste der Informationsgesellschaft gemäß Art. 8 Abs. 1 DSGVO erhoben.

b) Information an Dritte

Hat der Verantwortliche die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten öffentlich gemacht und ist er gem. Art. 17 Abs. 1 DSGVO zu deren Löschung verpflichtet, so trifft er unter Berücksichtigung der verfügbaren Technologie und der Implementierungskosten angemessene Maßnahmen, auch technischer Art, um für die Datenverarbeitung Verantwortliche, die die personenbezogenen Daten verarbeiten, darüber zu informieren, dass Sie als betroffene Person von ihnen die Löschung aller Links zu diesen personenbezogenen Daten oder von Kopien oder Replikationen dieser personenbezogenen Daten verlangt haben.

c) Ausnahmen

Das Recht auf Löschung besteht nicht, soweit die Verarbeitung erforderlich ist

- (1) zur Ausübung des Rechts auf freie Meinungsäußerung und Information;
- (2) zur Erfüllung einer rechtlichen Verpflichtung, die die Verarbeitung nach dem Recht der Union oder der Mitgliedstaaten, dem der Verantwortliche unterliegt, erfordert, oder zur Wahrnehmung einer Aufgabe, die im öffentlichen Interesse liegt oder in Ausübung öffentlicher Gewalt erfolgt, die dem Verantwortlichen übertragen wurde;
- (3) aus Gründen des öffentlichen Interesses im Bereich der öffentlichen Gesundheit gemäß Art. 9 Abs. 2 lit. h und i sowie Art. 9 Abs. 3 DSGVO
- (4) für im öffentlichen Interesse liegende Archivzwecke, wissenschaftliche oder historische Forschungszwecke oder für statistische Zwecke gem. Art. 89 Abs. 1 DSGVO, soweit das unter Abschnitt a) genannte Recht voraussichtlich die Verwirklichung der Ziele dieser Verarbeitung unmöglich macht oder ernsthaft beeinträchtigt, oder
- (5) zur Geltendmachung, Ausübung oder Verteidigung von Rechtsansprüchen.

5. Recht auf Unterrichtung

Haben Sie das Recht auf Berichtigung, Löschung oder Einschränkung der Verarbeitung gegenüber dem Verantwortlichen geltend gemacht, ist dieser verpflichtet, allen Empfängern, denen die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten offengelegt wurden, diese Berichtigung oder Löschung der Daten oder Einschränkung der Verarbeitung mitzuteilen, es sei denn, dies erweist sich als unmöglich oder ist mit einem unverhältnismäßigen Aufwand verbunden. Ihnen steht gegenüber dem Verantwortlichen das Recht zu, über diese Empfänger unterrichtet zu werden.

6. Recht auf Datenübertragbarkeit

Sie haben das Recht, die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten, die Sie dem Verantwortlichen bereitgestellt haben, in einem strukturierten, gängigen und maschinenlesbaren Format zu erhalten. Außerdem haben Sie das Recht diese Daten einem anderen Verantwortlichen ohne Behinderung durch den Verantwortlichen, dem die personenbezogenen Daten bereitgestellt wurden, zu übermitteln, sofern

- (1) die Verarbeitung auf einer Einwilligung gem. Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. a DSGVO oder Art. 9 Abs. 2 lit. a DSGVO oder auf einem Vertrag gem. Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. b DSGVO beruht und
- (2) die Verarbeitung mithilfe automatisierter Verfahren erfolgt.

In Ausübung dieses Rechts haben Sie ferner das Recht, zu erwirken, dass die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten direkt von einem Verantwortlichen einem anderen Verantwortlichen übermittelt werden, soweit dies technisch machbar ist. Freiheiten und Rechte anderer Personen dürfen hierdurch nicht beeinträchtigt werden.

Das Recht auf Datenübertragbarkeit gilt nicht für eine Verarbeitung personenbezogener Daten, die für die Wahrnehmung einer Aufgabe erforderlich ist, die im öffentlichen Interesse liegt oder in Ausübung öffentlicher Gewalt erfolgt, die dem Verantwortlichen übertragen wurde.

7. Widerspruchsrecht

Sie haben das Recht, aus Gründen, die sich aus ihrer besonderen Situation ergeben, jederzeit gegen die Verarbeitung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten, die aufgrund von Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. e oder f DSGVO erfolgt, Widerspruch einzulegen; dies gilt auch für ein auf diese Bestimmungen gestütztes Profiling.

Der Verantwortliche verarbeitet die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten nicht mehr, es sei denn, er kann zwingende schutzwürdige Gründe für die Verarbeitung nachweisen, die Ihre Interessen, Rechte und Freiheiten überwiegen, oder die Verarbeitung dient der Geltendmachung, Ausübung oder Verteidigung von Rechtsansprüchen.

Werden die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten verarbeitet, um Direktwerbung zu betreiben, haben Sie das Recht, jederzeit Widerspruch gegen die Verarbeitung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten zum Zwecke derartiger Werbung einzulegen; dies gilt auch für das Profiling, soweit es mit solcher Direktwerbung in Verbindung steht.

Widersprechen Sie der Verarbeitung für Zwecke der Direktwerbung, so werden die Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten nicht mehr für diese Zwecke verarbeitet.

Sie haben die Möglichkeit, im Zusammenhang mit der Nutzung von Diensten der Informationsgesellschaft – ungeachtet der Richtlinie 2002/58/EG – Ihr Widerspruchsrecht mittels automatisierter Verfahren auszuüben, bei denen technische Spezifikationen verwendet werden.

Bei Datenverarbeitung zu wissenschaftlichen, historischen oder statistischen Forschungszwecken:

Sie haben auch das Recht, aus Gründen, die sich aus Ihrer besonderen Situation ergeben, bei der Verarbeitung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten, die zu wissenschaftlichen oder historischen Forschungszwecken oder zu statistischen Zwecken gem. Art. 89 Abs. 1 DSGVO erfolgt, dieser zu widersprechen.

Ihr Widerspruchsrecht kann insoweit beschränkt werden, als es voraussichtlich die Verwirklichung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke unmöglich macht oder ernsthaft beeinträchtigt und die Beschränkung für die Erfüllung der Forschungs- oder Statistikzwecke notwendig ist.

8. Recht auf Widerruf der datenschutzrechtlichen

Einwilligungserklärung

Sie haben das Recht, Ihre datenschutzrechtliche Einwilligungserklärung jederzeit zu widerrufen. Durch den Widerruf der Einwilligung wird die Rechtmäßigkeit der aufgrund der Einwilligung bis zum Widerruf erfolgten Verarbeitung nicht berührt.

Unbeschadet eines anderweitigen verwaltungsrechtlichen oder gerichtlichen Rechtsbehelfs steht Ihnen das Recht auf Beschwerde bei einer Aufsichtsbehörde, insbesondere in dem Mitgliedstaat ihres Aufenthaltsorts, ihres Arbeitsplatzes oder des Orts des mutmaßlichen Verstoßes, zu, wenn Sie der Ansicht sind, dass die Verarbeitung der Sie betreffenden personenbezogenen Daten gegen die DSGVO verstößt.

Die Aufsichtsbehörde, bei der die Beschwerde eingereicht wurde, unterrichtet den Beschwerdeführer über den Stand und die Ergebnisse der Beschwerde einschließlich der Möglichkeit eines gerichtlichen Rechtsbehelfs nach Art. 78 DSGVO.

Data protection is of particular importance to me. Use of my electronic journal pages is possible without any indication of personal data.

The processing of personal data, such as the name and e-mail address of a person, is always carried out in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and in accordance with the country-specific data protection regulations applicable to me. By means of this data protection declaration I would like to inform the public about the type, scope and purpose of the personal data collected, used and processed by me. Furthermore, data subjects will be informed of their rights by means of this data protection declaration.

As data controller, I have implemented numerous technical and organisational measures to ensure the utmost protection of the personal data processed via this website. Nevertheless, Internet-based data transmissions, like e-mail, may in principle contain security risks, so that absolute protection cannot be guaranteed. For this reason, every person concerned is free to transmit personal data to me also in alternative ways.

I. Name and address of the person responsible

The person responsible in the sense of the General Data Protection Regulation and other national data protection laws of EU member states as well as other data protection regulations is:

II. General information about data processing

1. Scope of processing of personal data

In general, I only process personal data of users if this is necessary to provide information by way of a mailing-list. The further processing of personal data only takes place with the user's consent.

2. Legal basis for the processing of personal data

Insofar as I obtain the consent of the data subject for the processing of personal data, Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a EU General Data Protection Regulation serves as the legal basis for the processing of personal data.

In the processing of personal data required for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is a party, Art. 6 para. 1 lit. b DSGVO serves as the legal basis. This also applies to processing operations that are necessary to carry out pre-contractual measures.

As far as the processing of personal data is necessary for the fulfilment of a legal obligation, which is subject to me, Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. c DSGVO serves as legal basis.

In the event that the vital interests of the data subject or another natural person require the processing of personal data, Article 6(1)(d) DSGVO serves as the legal basis.

If processing is necessary to safeguard a legitimate interest of mine or of a third party and if the interests, fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject do not outweigh the former interest, Art. 6 para. 1 lit. f DSGVO serves as the legal basis for processing.

3. Deletion time of data and storage

The personal data of the person concerned will be deleted or blocked as soon as the purpose of storage ceases to apply. Furthermore, data may be stored if this has been provided for by the European or national legislators' regulations, laws or other provisions to which the person responsible is subject. The data will also be blocked or deleted if a storage period prescribed by the aforementioned standards expires, unless there is a need for further storage of the data for the conclusion or fulfilment of a contract.

III. Mailing-List

Every user is free to subscribe for free to my mailing list via e-mail. This does not create any obligations for the user.

1. Description and scope of data processing

The following data is collected:

1. surname and first name of the user
2. e-mail address of the user

2. Legal basis for data processing

The legal basis for the temporary storage of data is Art. 6 para. 1 DSGVO.

3. Purpose of data processing

The purpose of the mailing list is to provide the user with information about the contents and appearance of the journal.

4. Storage duration

The user can leave the mailing list at any time. The data will be deleted immediately.

5. Possibility of objection and elimination

The collection of data for the provision of the mailing list is absolutely necessary for the operation of the mailing list. Consequently, there is no possibility of objection on the part of the user. The user can, however, object to the storage at any time and thus leave the mailing list.

IV. E-Mail contact

1. Description and scope of data processing

You can contact me via the e-mail address provided on my website. In this case, the user's personal data transmitted by e-mail will be stored. In this context, the data will not be passed on to third parties. The data is used exclusively for processing the conversation.

V. Rights of the person concerned

If your personal data is processed, you are affected within the meaning of the DSGVO and you have the following rights vis-à-vis the person responsible:

1. The right to information

You can ask the person in charge to confirm whether personal data concerning you will be processed by me. If such processing is available, you can request the following information from the person responsible:

- (1) the purposes for which the personal data are processed;
- (2) the categories of personal data processed;
- (3) the recipients or categories of recipients to whom the personal data concerning you have been or are still being disclosed;
- (4) the planned duration of the storage of the personal data concerning you or, if specific information on this is not possible, criteria for determining the storage period;
- (5) the existence of a right to rectification or deletion of personal data concerning you, a right to limitation of processing by the controller or a right to object to such processing;
- (6) the existence of a right of appeal to a supervisory authority;
- (7) any available information on the origin of the data if the personal data are not collected from the data subject;
- (8) the existence of automated decision-making including profiling in accordance with Art. 22 para. 1 and 4 DSGVO and – at least in these cases – meaningful information on the logic involved and the scope and intended effects of such processing for the data subject.

You have the right to request information as to whether the personal data concerning you is transferred to a third country or to an international organisation. In this context, you may request to be informed of the appropriate guarantees pursuant to Art. 46 DSGVO in connection with the transmission. This right to information may be limited to the extent that it is likely to make it impossible or seriously impair the realisation of research or statistical purposes and the limitation is necessary for the fulfilment of research or statistical purposes.

2. The right of correction

You have a right of rectification and/or completion vis-à-vis the data controller if the personal data processed concerning you are incorrect or incomplete. The person responsible shall make the correction without delay.

Your right to correction may be limited to the extent that it is likely to render impossible or seriously prejudicial the achievement of the research or statistical purposes and the limitation is necessary for the fulfilment of the research or statistical purposes.

3. Right to limitation of processing

Under the following conditions, you may request that the processing of personal data concerning you be restricted:

- (1) if you dispute the accuracy of the personal data concerning you for a period that enables the data controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- (2) the processing is unlawful and you refuse to delete the personal data and instead request the restriction of the use of the personal data;
- (3) the data controller no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but you do need them to assert, exercise or defend legal claims, or (4) if you have filed an objection to the processing pursuant to Art. 21 para. 1 DSGVO and it has not yet been determined whether the legitimate reasons of the person responsible outweigh your reasons. If the processing of personal data concerning you has been restricted, such data may only be processed - apart from being stored - with your consent or for the purpose of asserting, exercising or defending rights or protecting the rights of another natural or legal person or on grounds of an important public interest of the Union or a Member State.

If the processing restriction has been limited according to the above conditions, you will be informed by the person responsible before the restriction is lifted.

Your right to limitation of processing may be limited to the extent that it is likely to render impossible or seriously prejudicial the achievement of research or statistical purposes and the restriction is necessary for the fulfilment of research or statistical purposes.

4. The right of deletion

a) Duty of deletion

You may request the data controller to delete the personal data relating to you immediately, and the data controller is obliged to delete this data immediately, if one of the following reasons applies:

- (1) The personal data concerning you are no longer necessary for the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed.
- (2) You revoke your consent, on which the processing was based pursuant to Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a or Art. 9 para. 2 lit. a DSGVO, and there is no other legal basis for the processing.
- (3) You file an objection against the processing pursuant to Art. 21 para. 1 DSGVO and there are no overriding legitimate reasons for the processing, or you file an objection against the processing pursuant to Art. 21 para. 2 DSGVO.
- (4) The personal data concerning you have been processed unlawfully.
- (5) The deletion of personal data relating to you is necessary to fulfil a legal obligation under Union law or the law of the Member States to which the data controller is subject.
- (6) The personal data concerning you were collected in relation to information society services offered pursuant to Art. 8 para. 1 DSGVO.

b) Information to third parties

If the data controller has made the personal data concerning you public and is obliged to delete it pursuant to Art. 17 para. 1 DSGVO, he shall take appropriate measures, including technical measures, taking into account the available technology and the implementation costs, to inform data processors who process the personal data that you as the data subject have requested the deletion of all links to this personal data or of copies or replications of this personal data.

c) Exceptions

The right to cancellation does not exist if the processing is necessary

- (1) to exercise freedom of expression and information;
- (2) to fulfil a legal obligation required for processing under the law of the Union or of the Member States to which the controller is subject, or to perform a task in the public interest, scientific or in the exercise of official authority conferred on the controller
- (3) for reasons of public interest in the field of public health pursuant to Art. 9 para. 2 lit. h and i and Art. 9 para. 3 DSGVO;
- (4) for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or for statistical purposes pursuant to Art. 89 para. 1 DSGVO, insofar as the law referred to under a) is likely to make it impossible or seriously impair the attainment of the objectives of such processing, or
- (5) to assert, exercise or defend legal claims.

5. Right to information

If you have exercised your right to have the data controller correct, delete or limit the processing, he/she is obliged to inform all recipients to whom the personal data concerning you have been disclosed of this correction or deletion of the data or restriction on processing, unless this proves impossible or involves a disproportionate effort. Recipients have the right vis-à-vis the person responsible to be informed about these recipients.

6. Right to data transferability

You have the right to receive the personal data concerning you that you have provided to the person responsible in a structured, common and machine-readable format. In addition, you have the right to transmit this data to another person in charge without obstruction by the person in charge to whom the personal data was provided, provided

(1) processing is based on consent pursuant to Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a DSGVO or Art. 9 para. 2 lit. a DSGVO or on a contract pursuant to Art. 6 para. 1 lit. b DSGVO and

(2) processing is carried out by means of automated methods

In exercising this right, you also have the right to request that the personal data concerning you be transferred directly from one data controller to another data controller, insofar as this is technically feasible. The freedoms and rights of other persons must not be affected by this.

The right to transferability shall not apply to the processing of personal data necessary for the performance of a task in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority conferred on the controller.

7. Right of objection

You have the right to object at any time, for reasons arising from your particular situation, to the processing of personal data concerning you under Article 6(1)(e) or (f) of the DSGVO; this also applies to profiling based on these provisions.

The data controller no longer processes the personal data concerning you, unless he can prove compelling reasons worthy of protection for the processing, which outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing serves to assert, exercise or defend legal claims.

If the personal data concerning you are processed for direct marketing purposes, you have the right to object at any time to the processing of the personal data concerning you for the purpose of such advertising; this also applies to profiling, insofar as it is associated with such direct marketing.

If you object to the processing for direct marketing purposes, the personal data concerning you will no longer be processed for these purposes.

You have the possibility to exercise your right of objection in connection with the use of Information Society services by means of automated procedures using technical specifications, notwithstanding Directive 2002/58/EC.

For data processing for scientific, historical or statistical research purposes:

You also have the right to object to the processing of personal data concerning you for scientific or historical research purposes or for statistical purposes pursuant to Art. 89 para. 1 DSGVO for reasons arising from your particular situation.

Your right of objection may be limited to the extent that it is likely to make it impossible or seriously impair the realisation of the research or statistical purposes and the limitation is necessary for the fulfilment of the research or statistical purposes.

8. Right to revoke the declaration of consent

You have the right to revoke your data protection declaration of consent at any time. The revocation of consent shall not affect the legality of the processing carried out on the basis of the consent until revocation.

9. Right of appeal to a supervisory authority

Without prejudice to any other administrative or judicial remedy, you have the right of appeal to a supervisory authority, in particular in the EU member state where you reside, work or suspect the infringement, if you believe that the processing of personal data concerning you is contrary to the DSGVO.

The supervisory authority to which the complaint has been submitted shall inform the complainant of the status and results of the complaint, including the possibility of a judicial remedy under Article 78 DSGVO.
